Tipton Judge Denies Petition of Elmer Hoover for Coram Nobis Writ.

By Times Special
TIPTON, Ind., Nov. 14.—Elmer Hoover, life term convict in the Indiana state prison, has lost his fight to obtain a new trial by means of a writ of coram nobis. He was sentenced for criminal attack.

Judge Glen Gifford of Tipton circuit court has denied Hoover's petition for the writ, declaring there was a total lack of evidence to support the plea.

The convict's petition asserted he was led to enter a plea of guilty through a fear of mob violence instilled in him by officers following his arrest.

Hoover also contended statements had been made which prevented him from obtaining a hearing before the prison board of pardons and paroles. However, Judge Gifford declared he had too much confidence in members of the board to believe they have been prejudiced against the prisoner.

Counsel for the convict announced an appeal will be taken to the Indiana supreme court.

Judge Gifford expressed opinion that the sentence imposed on Hoover was too severe, but that the court was powerless to remedy the situation.

Hoover has served six years of his term. He was arrested March 3, 1925, and entered a plea of guilty at 8 a. m. the next day.

Fresh Go Eugenie

By Times Special
GREENCASTLE, Ind., Nov. 14.—An Empress Eugenie style complex has extended to the freshman class at De Pauw university. Tradition demands that each freshman wear caps, whose style changes little from year to year, but with the Empress Eugenie fad sweeping the female contingent off its feet, the men were not to be outdone. It started as a playful gesture, sophomores grabbing caps from the heads of the freshmen, and ending with the short bluffs. The freshmen, left with the skull shaped hat that was once a cap, proceeded to add feathers and to copy the style espoused by the empress. The interfraternity council has ruled that the freshmen can escape punishment as long as there is a bit of green showing in the new creation.

DATA REPORTED SENSATIONAL IN COUNTY INQUIRY

Fountain Affair Subject of Investigation at Covington.

By Times Special
COVINGTON, Ind., Nov. 14.—Evidence reported to be of a startling nature is being heard at a court of inquiry being conducted here by Justice of the Peace James A. Neal.

Testimony thus far gathered is said to include the following:
Although more than 2,000 tons of coal were sold at a mine operated by the county, only $45 found its way into the county treasury. William Suttles was in charge of the mine, receiving a salary of $6 a day.
Another witness said that he received $2.50 a day pay from the county throughout a summer, presumably for road work, but in fact he spent practically all his time working on a farm owned by a county official.

County records show, a third witness said, that he received a certain wage per day for his services, but that in reality was paid $2 a day less.

Adams Clings to First Narrative of Dual Slaying

By Times Special

FT. WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 14.—The state continued to batter today at George Adams' story of the killing of John Wilson and Walter Gilbert, prohibition agents.

Two and one-half hours of cross-examination failed to shake the testimony Adams gave, the first time he had related the details of the fatal shooting on the Huntington road July 22. Adams clung tenaciously to his contention that he did not reach for his revolver until two shots had been fired at him, one of them striking him in the neck. He held firmly to his statement that, after being shot, everything "went black," and that he did not recall firing at the agents.

The state managed to draw from Adams an admission that he was aware that neither Wilson nor Oliver Gettle, also a drug agent, were armed. He denied, however, that he saw a badge on either of the men. Mrs. Adams, who fainted in the courtroom Friday while her husband was on the witness stand, is expected to testify today after cross-examination of Adams is completed this morning. The defense is expected to rest its case this afternoon, after which court will be adjourned until Monday.

Three hours will be allotted each side for final arguments. The case probably will go to the jury late Monday.

Turner, it is alleged, in recent months has transferred his title to real estate in order to defeat any judgment that may be returned against him.

Anderson's New Bank Will Open Doors Next Week

By Times Special

ANDERSON, Ind., Nov. 14.—The Citizens Banking Company will open next week, probably Tuesday, as successor to the Citizens bank which was closed Oct. 31 by voluntary action of its directors. It has since been in the hands of the state banking department.

Practically all stockholders of the closed bank have subscribed for stock in the new bank. The total was boosted $92,100 by investors in the new bank by persons who were previously not owners of stock. This additional capital was obtained in a campaign conducted by eighty voluntary workers.

"It was a splendid showing of community spirit," Neel M. McCullough, president of the Citizens bank said. He will be president of the new bank which will become liquidating agent for the closed institution. Of the $80,000 subscribed, $40,000 will be in capital stock and there will be a reserve fund of $200,000.

Affairs of the Citizens bank were placed in the hands of the state department following continued withdrawals by depositors, blamed on deceptive rumors.

Efforts Planned to Obtain Deeds Before Congress Opens.
