

HINT SHOOTING MELEE SOLVED

Man Held by Cops May Be Holdup Gunman.

Shooting of Mortimer Schussler, packing company head, during a purported holdup almost a month ago, was hinted as solved today with the arrest of Victor Wray, 23, of 1826 West Vermont street, on a charge of vagrancy.

Wray was held in solitary confinement in default of a $5,000 bond. Schussler, president of the packing company, is recovering at city hospital of a gun shot wound which he said was inflicted during a hold-up at the plant. He was shot in the leg.

He told police that he and O. S. Hamilton, bookkeeper, were alone in the offices when a lone gunman entered, ordering Schussler to "give me your bucks." Schussler said he reached for his own weapon and that the bandit fired at him with a shotgun.

It was learned later, however, the shot had been from a pistol. Police also learned several of Schussler's friends had been present when the shooting occurred, but had left before arrival of authorities.
