

EVIDENCE CHAIN TIGHTENS ABOUT HEIRESS-KILLER

Witness Says Defendant
Carried Pistol Used in Lover's Slaying.

By United Press
FLINT, Mich., Jan. 8.—Helen Joy Morgan, the cultured daughter of a wealthy mother, who gave her love to a thrice divorced garage mechanic, Leslie Casteel, and then killed him because, it is alleged, his ardor cooled, today heard the state pile up additional evidence against her.

Miss Morgan, who claims she shot in self-defense after wresting a revolver from her 230-pound sweetheart, drew a gun on Casteel several months before the fatal shooting in Glenwood cemetery, Mason Seines testified today. It was Casteel's gun, Seines said, and the same one with which he later was killed.

Seines, who lived with Casteel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Casteel, and worked at a garage with him, said he was at work one day when Miss Morgan walked in.

State's Case Near End
"She drew a gun and ordered Les to sit down," Seines said. "Then she commanded me to get out and I got out."

Seines was brought here from Morgantown, W. Va., by the elder Casteel. He admitted under cross-examination that he had been arrested in Terre Haute, Ind., as a suspicious person. He said he was released after a short investigation. The state, reaching the conclusion of its case against the dark-haired, 27-year-old heiress, counted heavily on Seines' testimony to bolster the contention that Miss Morgan had possession of Casteel's revolver the April afternoon she made the fatal trust with him. She has claimed Casteel had the gun.

Phone Call Related
Edward Beuhler, real estate dealer and confidential adviser to Mrs. Carrie P. Morgan, the defendant's mother, was summoned by the state to tell of the telephone call he received from Miss Morgan after she had shot Casteel.

"She begged me to come to her home at once," Beuhler said. "I was busy and asked her to tell me why she wanted me. She said she couldn't answer over the telephone and suggested I prompt her with questions. I did so and learned she had shot Casteel."

"Miss Morgan said she didn't think she had killed him," Beuhler concluded.

Strange Pals

By United Press

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 8.—A strange friendship between a small boa constrictor and a white mouse, put in its cage as food for the snake, ended with the death of the mouse, apparently of a broken heart. The boa was discovered in a bunch of bananas from South America by John Harelick. He placed it on exhibition in his store window, and put the mouse in the cage just in case the snake got hungry.

The boa lay coiled while its small playmate scampered over its back and about the cage. The S. P. C. A., however, ordered Harelick to remove the mouse. Several days ago Harelick did so.

The mouse appeared to grieve in his adjoining cage, and the boa thrashed about restlessly. Yesterday the mouse died.

LUMBER GROUP TO MEET HERE

Economics and Banking to Be Discussed.

Economics, banking, lumber and contracting will be discussed Jan. 13 and 14 at the convention of the Indiana Retail Lumber Dealers in the Claypool hotel.

William E. Price, Muncie, appointed by Governor Harry G. Leslie as chairman of the committee for unemployment relief will explain his program.

Other speakers will be W. A. Coolings, Crawfordsville, president of the Indiana Bankers' Association; Professor F. C. Tilden of DePauw university; C. C. Sheppard, Clark, La., president of the Southern Pine Association; Roy L. Smith, Wheaton, Ill., of the Chicago Tribune staff, who will appear on the banquet program, and A. W. Holt of the National Retail Lumber Association.

Past presidents' dinner is scheduled for Jan. 12. The University of Cincinnati Glee Club will sing at the banquet Jan. 14.

SEEK 'MISS RADIO'

Queen to Be Crowned at Chicago's Radio Show.

By United Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—The tenth annual Chicago radio-electrical show, to be held in the historic Coliseum, Jan. 18-24, will present a wonderland of radio, television and electrical devices to visitors. In addition to the largest television screen ever used, there will be crowned "Miss Radio" and "Miss Television."

Radio artists, who have not appeared on networks more than five times in 1931, will be eligible to compete in auditions for the title of "Miss Radio."

They may be auditioned over any station that may be satisfactorily heard by judges in Chicago. The best combination of talent and "radio personality" is being sought. "Miss Television" will be sought locally solely on the best televisable beauty.
