

HIGHER INCOME TAX URGED BY FARM LEADER

Federation President Also Asks Congress to Lower Exemptions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—A tax program designed to bring in about $1,500,000,000 of additional federal revenue was advocated today on behalf of farmers by Chester H. Gray of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Gray's proposals, made before the house ways and means committee, included higher income taxes than those proposed in the administration's $920,000,000 tax increase plan and a special levy on income from American investments abroad. Gray estimated these investments totaled $16,000,000,000.

Gray would increase the tax on corporate incomes to 15 per cent. The administration proposed a 12 per cent tax. The rate now is 12 per cent.

Farmer Little Affected

The farm leader also proposed a 10 per cent tax on estates and gifts, which he estimated would yield $1,000,000,000 yearly. He said 80 per cent of the tax should be given the states, leaving the federal government $200,000,000.

"Under present conditions of agriculture, increases or decreases in federal income taxes will have little direct effect on individual farmers," Gray said. "The average of all individuals reporting in 1930 to the treasury showed an income of $5,100."

"The average for agriculture for the same year was $398, according to the agriculture department. It would be better for the nation if agriculture could earn enough to come within the income tax bracket."

Asks Lower Exemptions

Gray agreed with the administration in advocating increased individual taxes, especially in the higher brackets, and a lowering of present exemptions to $1,000 for a single person and $2,500 for a married person.

In defense of lowered exemptions, which would increase the number of taxpayers, Gray said, "This group of our population should be reached if for no other reason than to develop in it a tax consciousness."

The farm bureau representative opposed special sales taxes suggested by Mellon, especially the proposed automobile manufacturers' tax. He said sales taxes "lie on the shoulders of the average consumer."
