

Bowling Is Taught to City Women

Mrs. Floretta D. McCutcheon, world's leading woman bowler, started a seven-day free course of instruction today for Indianapolis women who wish to learn the fascinating art of topling ten pins.

The week's school, conducted under auspices of The Times, will be held on three of the principal alleys of the city—the Fountain Square, Parkway, Thirty-fourth and Illinois streets, and the Uptown. Forty-second street and College avenue.

Lessons will be given morning, afternoon, and night, with no cost to those receiving instruction.

Every One Is Welcome

Every one is invited to attend this school—housewives, school teachers, business girls, unemployed girls, any one who wants to learn how to become a good bowler.

Beginners especially are invited. If you've never had a bowling ball in your hand, Mrs. McCutcheon can get you away on the right foot. And if you've had some experience, Mrs. McCutcheon will help you to improve your game.

Several women's clubs already have arranged to take en masse, and scores of others have phoned The Times for particulars.

Just Send in Coupon

All you have to do is to send in the coupon, appearing with this story, and appear at the alleys of your choice.

The schedule follows:

SPORT OUTFIT IS FEMININE

Amos Parrish, who directs The Times' New York Fashion bureau, reports this new spectator sports costume seen at smart winter playgrounds. Made of brown kidskin, cuffs, buttons and flared collar of white kidskin. Note how it avoids the conventional masculine lines of winter sports costumes, by the use of leg o' mutton sleeves and jaunty peplum.

Negligees to Be Featured at St. Joan Club's Style Show

Boudoir fashions featuring negligees will be shown from 3 to 4 Saturday at the annual card party of St. Joan of Arc Women's Club in the social room at the school. The show has been arranged by Mrs. Robert A. Adams, chairman of the Junior League shop committee, with Mrs. Ewing Sinclair, Mrs. Frank Fishback, Mrs. Wynn Owen and Mrs. Conrad Ruckelshaus as models.

Mrs. Thomas Mahaffey and Mrs. M. E. Foley are in charge of the bazaar sale to be held in connection with the card party. Home made pastries and breads will be offered. The Junior League Shop also will have a booth, featuring baby accessories, lingerie and gifts, in charge

Chairmen to Give Talks at Meeting

At the mid-winter advisory board meeting of the Indiana Federation of Clubs Wednesday at the Claypool, department chairmen will give a program arranged by Mrs. Robert A. Hicke, Cambridge City, first vice-president.

Speakers, who will be the department heads, and their subjects are: Miss Alice Yeaker, Knox, American citizenship, "Study the Ballot"; Mrs. Paul Miller, Mt. Summit, American home, "Wise Spending"; Mrs. Hammet D. Hinkle, Vincennes, fine arts, "Let Fine Arts Enrich Life"; Dean Mary L. Matthews, Purdue university, education, "Education and Depression"; Mrs. Julia L. Davis, Kokomo, international relations, "Latest Instructions From Headquarters"; Mrs. J. W. Moore, legislation, "How Our Legislative Program Is Made"; Mrs. Earl Shagley, Terre Haute, press and publicity, "Pointers on Publicity"; and Mrs. O. M. Pittenger, public welfare, "The Under Privileged Child."

Half an hour will be allotted for discussion of questions pertinent to department work. District presidents also will be given an hour for presentation of their program during the session. Mrs. Edwin I. Poston, Martinsville, second vice-president, will be in charge. "Is the Federation a Reality in Your District?" is the subject Mrs. Poston has chosen for discussion. District conventions, federation contacts and problems also will be discussed informally.

Mrs. Edwin N. Canine, Terre Haute, president of the state federation, will preside at all sessions.

Fraternity to Hold Sessions at Hotel Here

State convention of Beta Phi Sigma, national fraternity with thirty Indiana chapters, will be at the Antlers Sunday. A dance there Saturday night will be a pre-convention feature.

Swimming party Sunday morning at the hotel pool and a dinner will precede the afternoon business meeting at which Carl Mingler of Marion, district trustee, will preside.

Final arrangements were made by members of the entertainment committee meeting with local chapter members at the Antlers Wednesday night. Committee includes Francis McKenzie, Frank Fohle, Royce Yowler and Forest Bowman.
