

MEETING SET FOR TUESDAY; Tentative Plan of Action Is Worked Out.

With preliminary organization completed, Mayor Reginald H. Sullivan's special city market investigating committee will begin its study at a meeting at 2 Tuesday.

The committee met Wednesday afternoon in the safety board office and worked out a tentative plan of action.

Plea of a delegation representing the market standholders' association for representation on the committee by membership, or by an attorney, was denied.

A resolution was adopted welcoming any written suggestions. Those submitting suggestions will be given a hearing at a later date, it was said.

Speakers Named

The meeting Tuesday will be devoted to study of external conditions at the market, including curb stands, proposed angle parking and other points.

In addition to a standholders' committee, Marketmaster Harry E. Springsteen, Traffic Captain Louis Johnson, and a representative of the Market Gardeners' Association will be invited to appear.

Problems suggested for study by the committee were submitted by Charles R. Myers, safety board president.

These included traffic conditions in the market vicinity, owning of four or more stands by one person, sanitary conditions, operation of seven restaurants in the market six days a week, improved ventilation, angle parking, improved sewage system, need of a new hot water plant for butchers and roof repairs.

Only for Overflow

Myers pointed out that the city code provides curb stands may be established only to care for overflow from inside the market. At this time there are thirty vacant inside stands, he said.

Several suggestions also were contained in a letter from Dr. H. G. Morgan, health board secretary. He proposed keeping the market open six days a week, permitting angle parking on Market street, survey for a new sewer system, doing away with live poultry stands on Market street and eliminating of curb stands.

Women Have Plan

John F. White, committee chairman, asked committee members to enter into the market study with a thoroughly disinterested attitude, with the understanding that no large amount of money can be spent in making changes.

Suggestion that the committee follow the example of housewives and make improvements at the market singly, instead of attempting wholesale changes, was made by Mrs. E. E. Eschbach, on the committee representing the Seventh District Federation of Women's Clubs.

Other committeemen who attended were: Council President Ernest C. Ropkey, Councilmen Leo F. Welch, Clarence Wheatley and James A. Houck, Mrs. C. A. James and Mrs. May Kynett, women's club representatives, and William F. Hurd, city building commissioner.

'Sure-Enough Postoffice'

"Grapevine news" from the younger generation have it that contract bridge, "strip" poker, and auto necking, have fallen by the wayside for ye olde parlor sports of "postoffice," "blind man's bluff" and charades.

But at Indiana Central college they play a sure-enough game of "postoffice" that hasn't a thing to do with dark rooms and postmasters behind portiers.

TWO HURT IN AUTO CRASHES

Man Steps From Behind Car Into Path of Trolley.

Two men were hurt in traffic mishaps on city streets late Wednesday.

John Barrett, 60, of 4255 College avenue, former coal company owner, is recovering today at St. Vincent's hospital from injuries incurred when struck by a street car at Illinois and Washington streets.

George Wells, 2434 East Sixteenth street, motorman, told police Barrett stepped from behind an auto into the path of the street car.

When the car in which he rode struck a parked auto, Harry Johnson, 32, of 509 East Eleventh street, was cut and bruised. He was riding with Charles Borkman, 52, of the Eleventh street address. The accident occurred in the 300 block, North Arsenal avenue.

Police today are searching for two youthful auto thieves who crashed a stolen car into a laundry truck at Tacoma avenue and East Washington street and fled late Tuesday.

The lemon was introduced into the United States by Spanish adventurers.

MINE LEADERS REPULSE MOVE TO CUT INCOME

Bitter Debate Marks Loss of Pennsylvania Men's Fight on Dues.

International administration of the United Mine Workers of America won another battle today, which, if lost, would have meant a reduction of $200,000 annually in its income.

It occurred when anthracite miners of Pennsylvania were defeated in their only proposal before the convention. This was to reduce from 50 cents to 40 cents the monthly per capita tax paid the international.

Illinois insurgents stood solidly behind the anthracite miners from District 1 of Pennsylvania in their demands, and the debate raged in bitterness the attempts of the former to obtain home rule earlier in the convention.

With this question out of the way, and only wage agreements to be disposed of, there is a possibility that the convention may adjourn at noon Friday.

Following the vote, a group of the Pennsylvania men left the hall under the leadership of Thomas Maloney of Wilkesbarre, who led the fight on the floor. They indicated however that they would return this afternoon.

Heavy artillery of the international officers led by President John Lewis, Vice-President Philip Murray, Secretary Thomas Kennedy and Martin Brennan, president of District 9, joined in pleading for adoption of the resolution committee report which would leave the matter with the international executive committee.

Lewis declared that if the reduction of the international assessment were put through organization and membership work would be impaired seriously and its efficiency imperiled.

"Because a handful of locals have been unable to solve their problems, are we to change the entire financial setup of the organization?" he asked.

Brennan declared that to do this would play into the hands of the coal operators, who desire organizational activity to cease.

"A commission can't change the constitution," declared Maloney. "Whatever is adopted here will stand for the next two years and all the commissions in the world won't alter it."

Importance of the resolution to the rank and file was pointed out by Henry Mische of Nanticoke, Pa., who assailed the international officials for not returning a more satisfactory report. He pointed out that the resolution "was adopted unanimously seven months ago by the District 1 convention, and international officials have had plenty of time to study the proposition."

It was declared that local unions are bankrupt and with hundreds unemployed, an assessment would be too great an imposition.

CRAPS SHOOTER ROBBED

John Van Stan, 43, of 942 South Missouri street, bears severe knife wounds on his chin today as result of winning the "pot" in a craps game Wednesday night, according to police.

He said he left the game with his winnings and was attacked by one of the craps shooters, who "rolled" him for the "pot," then slashed him with a knife. Van Stan was treated at city hospital.

WILD WEST DRY AGENT RUMORED PUT OFF FORCE

Currie Reported Ousted by District Chief for Shooting Fray.

Patrick J. Currie, two-gun dry agent, who broke into the headlines several months ago for the alleged "shooting up" of a barbecue on the Rockville road, near the county line, has been ousted, it was reported to The Times today from several sources.

The barbecue shooting was reported Oct. 15.

John W. Morrill, formerly of the Rhode Island district, who took office Monday as deputy administrator for southern Indiana, succeeding Charles S. Britt, was accompanied here by Colonel J. F. J. Herbert, district administrator, who is reported to have discharged Currie.

Verification of the report could not be obtained from the prohibition offices this morning.

The Currie shooting cases after numerous continuances, were tried in municipal court recently before Special Judge Wilbur Royce.

Currie was discharged on counts of drunkenness and drawing deadly weapons in separate trials, within two weeks of each other. No witnesses of the purported shooting appeared.

Former Minister Accused
COLUMBUS, Ind., Feb. 4.—Earl W. Stitt, 43, said to be a former minister, and his son, John L. Stitt, 22, are held here on charges of stealing chickens in Bartholomew and Johnson counties.
