

HUEY LONG NOW GIVING LESSONS ON SANDWICHES

Pot Likker Expert Teaches Oscar of Waldorf How to Prepare Dish.

By United Press
NEW YORK, March 4.—Senator Huey P. Long, corn pone and pot likker expert from Louisiana, has given Oscar of the Waldorf a lesson on how to make a Waldorf sandwich.

Long ordered lunch in his room at the Waldorf-Astoria, and one item ordered was a sandwich. Long looked at it.

"Take that thing away," he told the waiter. "Bring me a real Waldorf sandwich."

The waiter got the headwaiter. The headwaiter said the offending sandwich was a Waldorf sandwich. Long knew better. So the headwaiter summoned Oscar himself.

"This probably is the only place in America that doesn't know how to make a Waldorf sandwich," Long told Oscar. "I can remember them from the old days at the Waldorf."

So Oscar and Senator Long collaborated on remodeling the so-called "Waldorf sandwich," and this is what you'll get if you order one today.

Toast, sliced chicken, a leaf of lettuce, mayonnaise between the toast, Swiss cheese covered with batter and fried in butter, and you can specify whether you want bacon or a little ham. The senator wasn't quite sure which it was supposed to be.

M'NUTT FAVORS TIGHTER STATE UTILITIES RULE

Urges Amendments Be Made to Public Service Board Law.

By Times Special
PERU, Ind., March 4.—Stringent regulation of public utilities through amendments in the public service commission law and liberalization of enabling acts to permit municipalities to acquire needed property, were advocated by Paul V. McNutt, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor at a Fifth district rally here Thursday night.

More than 700 heard McNutt reiterate his previous statement that he would dismiss the personnel of the service commission and "keep changing the members until we obtain commissioners who are zealous in defense of the rights of the consumer."

"The people are not getting a square deal in combating the utility monopolies with the public service commission controlled by politics," he said.

The former national commander of the American Legion intimated he was studying utility laws of other states with a view of obtaining in-

Backs Other Changes

By Times Special
LOGANSPORT, Ind., March 4.—Removal of the state highway commission from politics and remodeling of the state banking laws were proposed here Thursday night by Paul V. McNutt, Democratic Governor contender at a banquet at which 500 persons were present. McNutt said that, if elected, he would reorganize the highway commission so as to guarantee a dollar's value for each dollar spent on roads.

"There is too much politics in banking," he declared in announcing consideration of a plan modeled after the federal reserve system which he hoped would be adapted to Indiana usage, severing banking from politics.

LOOT MARKET; KIDNAP CLERK

Two Gunmen Grab Up $50 in North Side Holdup.

Two gunmen who kidnaped David L. Goff, 51, clerk at the Indiana market, 3522 College avenue, Thursday night, robbing him of $50, were sought today by police.

Goff was jerked into the bandit's sedan after carrying a sack of potatoes to the car parked at the curb, police said.

Goff told police the gunmen entered the store while he was alone, brandishing revolvers and looting three cash registers. He was ordered to carry the potatoes to the automobile as a ruse to cover the abduction, he said.

After being driven through streets and alleys in the vicinity, Goff was released at Twenty-second and Meridian streets.

Three years ago William Watts, merchant policeman, was shot and killed in a gun battle with bandits in the market. These bandits never were captured.
