

Hot Cross Bun Returns for Easter

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

DURING Lent, hot cross buns claim much of our interest. Many bakers have featured this bread every Friday during the period, while others save them especially for Good Friday and Easter morning.

The custom of eating hot cross buns originated in old England. In ancient times buns, if properly made, were supposed to keep for years.

They probably took the place of a pagan sweetmeat served in honor of Easte, a Saxon goddess of the east whose feast was celebrated in the spring. The sign of the cross on the buns proclaimed it a Christian cake.

Balked Evil Spirit

Often the housewife put the sign of the cross on her bread to prevent the evil spirit from interfering with her baking.

As Good Friday was considered the most unlucky day of the year, she naturally took every precaution to guard against evil influences and make her baking a success.

Since proper hot cross buns are made with yeast, there are, of course, two good methods—the long process and the short process.

LONG PROCESS

One and one-half cups of milk, 1-3 cup of granulated sugar, 4-5 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 yeast cake, 4 tablespoons of lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 egg, 1/2 cup of currants, flour.

Scald milk and add butter, salt and sugar. When lukewarm, add yeast cake, crumbled and dissolved in lukewarm water. Add 2 1/2 cups flour mixed and sifted with cinnamon.

Beat well and add egg well-beaten. Mix thoroughly and add currants and flour to knead, from 1/2 to 1 cup more. Knead until elastic and put into a large mixing bowl. Cover with a cloth and let rise in a moderately warm place overnight. In the morning, shape in small balls, and with a sharp knife cut a deep gash on the top of each.

Place in a buttered pan about an inch apart and let rise in a warm place for thirty minutes. Bake twenty-five minutes in a hot oven.

Brush over with a syrup made by boiling 1/4 cup sugar with 2 tablespoons water for one minute.

SHORT PROCESS

One cup milk, 1 yeast cake, 1/4 cup lukewarm water, 1-3 cup granulated sugar, 3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 cup butter, 1 egg, 1/2 cup currants.

Scald milk and cool to lukewarm temperature. Add yeast cake dissolved in water. Add sugar, salt, cinnamon and egg well-beaten.

Add flour, currants and softened butter and work until thoroughly blended. Knead to a smooth dough and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk.

The temperature for this rising should be between 70 and 80 degrees F. It should take about an hour.

Punch off small pieces and shape as in preceding recipe. Let rise until double in bulk and bake in a hot oven. Brush over with syrup when taken from the oven.

It has side pleats to give fullness and a sash belt that ties on one side. Over it a stitched periwinkle linen hat flippity-flops in chic informal manner.

What's in Fashion?

Sub-Debs Shine in New Fashions

Directed By AMOS PARRISH

NEW YORK, March 21.—The sub-debs are in their glory! They like things military. They like gay colors. And their trim-waisted, shoulders-back, teen-age figures could have been fashion's pattern for the spring silhouette.

Silver buttons . . . rows of em. Epaulets. Capes. Red-white-and-blue. They wear all of these fashions, and look their best.

But they're not always in uniform garb. Next Sunday you'll see plenty of them wearing a new-old fashion that will make their mothers think back to their sub-deb days. For guimpes are here again.

Among those you see are plaid and checked silk guimpes. And lace lingerie guimpes in white or pale shades, contrasting with the darker color of the dress. Some of them ready to go to parties. Some for school . . . a practical fashion because the guimpe may be changed from time to time.

The sub-debs wear prints, too. Maybe a bright polka dot with a plain colored jacket. Or a print with lingerie collar and cuffs.

But whatever the style, you can count on it to be a "print with—". For plenty of plain colored contrast comes into the recipe for turning out a well-done printed fashion for sub-debs or anybody else.

Jacket frocks, by the way, are their long suit . . . though the jackets are always very short. Far above the waist, in fact, because that's a jauntier, more youthful length. And when you see them on the way to school . . . notice that lots of them are buttoned up in coats.

Vick Plan cuts Costs of Colds!

THE family's "Colds-Tax" can be reduced. It is being reduced this winter—in every community in the country—with the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds." Developed by the makers of Vicks VapoRub, the Plan is made possible with Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. Based on a new idea for preventing colds, this new Vick formula is companion to VapoRub, the modern method of treating colds. Each aids and supplements the other in the Vick Plan, which follows:

1. BEFORE A COLD STARTS—
At that first sneeze, scratchy irritation of the nose or upper throat—Nature's warning that you are "catching cold"—use Vicks Drops promptly as directed. If you catch cold easily, use a few Vicks Drops up each nostril after exposure to any particular condition that you know is apt to give you a cold—for instance, a night on a Pullman—a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes, wet or cold—after over-smoking—dry, overheated rooms—indoor crowds—etc., etc.—and you feel the slightest stuffiness of the nasal passages.

2. AFTER A COLD STARTS—
At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising can be inhaled all night long. During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Drops as needed for ease and comfort. (If there is a cough, you will like the new Vicks Cough Drops—actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.) This gives you full 24-hour treatment and without the risks of too much internal "dosing."

TRIAL OFFER BY LOCAL DRUGGISTS

You have Vicks VapoRub—now get Vicks Nose Drops and use together as directed in the "Control-of-Colds"—to reduce their number and severity. Unless you are delighted with results, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.
