

BLAME ILLEGAL OPERATIONS FOR FIFTY DEATHS

Oklahoma Authorities Push Probe of Tragic 'Epidemic' After Co-Eds Succumb.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 29.—Continuing his investigation in recent deaths, believed caused by illegal operations, Lewis Morris, county attorney, today said he believed "more than fifty young women and girls have died here in the past year" from such causes.

Since Thursday, when it became known that two University of Oklahoma students had died within a week as a result of such operations, the scope of the investigation has widened with every passing hour.

Today an osteopath was held in jail, denied bond, for preliminary hearing May 6, on a charge of murder. He was John W. Elsninger, 50, named in the death bed statement of Virginia Wyckoff, pretty 22-year-old co-ed, as the man who had performed an operation upon her.

Physician Is Hunted

Another man, a physician, was hunted throughout the southwest on a similar charge.

He was Dr. R. E. Thacker, against whom one murder charge has been filed, and two other complaints made.

County Attorney Lewis Morris also wished to question him about a fourth case.

Morris named nine deaths of asserted victims of criminal operations, and announced each case would be investigated closely.

Mrs. Wyckoff and Mrs. Frank Lee, 17-year-old bride of a university football star, both died at the Oklahoma City general hospital, where they were taken after physicians found them in a serious condition.

Sorrow at University

Mrs. Lee's death caused deep sorrow at the university, where her courtship by Lee had been a romantic college idyll, and her death the tragic outcome of the couple's desire to keep their marriage secret. Weeping openly, Lee told of his meeting with Miss Nancy Joe Seay of Wichita Falls, Tex., their brief courtship, and their marriage during the interval between semesters.

"We didn't want the marriage annulled," he said. "That's what our folks would have done had they known of it."

Morris named seven others he said he believed had died of similar operations. They were: Mrs. F. S. Roach, died April 23; Ruth Hall, 22-

Samuel Mueller is chairman of the men's division and Mrs. J. A. Goodman is directing the women workers in the drive.
