

CROWDS FLOCK TO PARIS FOR DOUMER RITES

Million Will See Funeral Thursday: Royalty to Attend.

PARIS, May 11.—Thousands of pilgrims reached Paris today in a drizzling rain to witness the pomp and display of the state funeral to be given the murdered President Paul Doumer Thursday.

Despite the unfavorable weather outlook, 1,000,000 mourners were expected to line the route of the funeral procession.

Madame Doumer and Premier Andre Tardieu completed arrangements for the funeral. Tardieu, whose ministry resigned Tuesday when Albert Lebrun was elected president, succeeding Doumer, agreed to carry on his duties pending formation of a new government.

Doumer's body will be taken from the Elysee palace at 8 a. m., escorted by Spanish horsemen riding Arab ponies draped with black tassels. Muted military bands will follow the horsemen.

Royalty to Attend

Relatives of the president will be next in line, followed by President Lebrun, members of the late cabinet, the president of the chamber of deputies and the vice-president of the senate.

Members of foreign royalty will come next, including the prince of Wales, the king of the Belgians, and the duke of Austria. They will be followed by the diplomatic corps.

Cardinal Verdier, archbishop of Paris, will officiate at a Notre Dame cathedral ceremony. The body will then be taken to the Pantheon, France's political shrine, where Tardieu will deliver the funeral oration.

Doumer's body will be removed from the Pantheon and buried beside his sons, Andre and Rene, who died in the World war.

Eduard Herriot's chance of becoming the first premier in the new parliament convening next month was shaken today when the Socialist parliamentary group announced the conditions under which it would collaborate with Herriot's party, the Radical-Socialists, in the support of a Liberal cabinet.

Conditions Are Announced

The conditions included the following: Reduction of the national defense budget by 6,000,000,000 francs ($234,000,000); creation of a national unemployment insurance fund; a guarantee that railway passenger fares will not be increased.

Socialists failed to stipulate reduction of Germany's reparations payments, as expected, because Herriot is known to be the firmest advocate for complete fulfillment of the Young plan.

The Socialist ultimatum must be accepted in full or rejected by the Radical-Socialists, but it would be difficult for Herriot to accept, particularly the national unemployment insurance, which threatens a heavy burden on the already top-heavy budget.

Observers believed, therefore, that a compromise premier would be chosen, such as Paul Painleve, who would be responsive to Herriot's guidance.

Aerialist Here Friday

Miss Agnes Doss

The champion aerial gymnast will soon be in our midst. Miss Agnes Doss of Denver, Colo., is the charming miss who is universally recognized as being the premier girl aerialist of the circus world. Her act is one of the many features of the Sells Floto Circus which comes on Friday, May 13. The tent will be erected on the old ball park on West Washington street.

Miss Doss at a very early age acquired the circus idea. Her parents resided but a few blocks from the old Sells-Floto winter quarters in Denver and she passed that spot twice daily on her way to and from school.

Frequently she stopped and became an interested spectator during the rehearsals of the acrobats and aerialists. During her high school years she was known as the best girl athlete and became very proficient in the gymnasium.

A few years ago Miss Doss joined the Flying Wards, a noted aerial combination. Within a season or two she surpassed the other feminine members at daring deeds in the air. Now she has her own individual act and you will find her working high in the mammoth dome of the big tent.

PUSH HUNT FOR KILLER OF GAS STAND WORKER

A police net was spread in northern Indiana today in a search for the killer of Joseph P. O'Callahan, filling station attendant, who was shot to death early Tuesday in a robbery at Emerson avenue and Pendleton pike.

Only meager clues were left by the killer after he fired two bullets into O'Callahan's body, grabbed a $10 bill from the victim's hand and escaped.

Saw Black Sedan

One of these was the report of P. D. Lamar, 3811 College avenue, who told police he passed the filling station about the moment O'Callahan was shot, and narrowly escaped crashing into a large black sedan as it swerved into the road from the station.

Lamar said the car bore an orange colored license plate, and police believe it contained the killer. Reports that the auto may have been that of three youths and three girls who discovered the tragedy were discounted because their car bore green and white Indiana license plates.

Belief that the killer fled to Ft. Wayne was bolstered by statements of O'Callahan's daughter, Ethel, that her father had talked to a stranger in the station several hours before the shooting.

Funeral Rites Thursday

The man, who appeared from a railroad yard near the station, said he was en route for the northern Indiana city, the girl said her father was told.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 Thursday morning in the John J. Blackwell & Sons funeral parlors at Tenth street and Capitol avenue, at 10 in Holy Cross church. Burial will be in Holy Cross cemetery.

O'Callahan is survived by the daughter and the widow, who resides in Orleans, Ind.

HUNT FOR MISSING MAN

Relatives Fear Foul Play in Smith Disappearance.

Belief that Charles Smith, 28, of 338 Hanson avenue, is a victim of foul play, was expressed today by relatives who sought aid of police in a search for the man, missing since late Saturday.

Smith had $15 when he left his home to pay a bill and no word has been received since of his whereabouts. He was employed at the Indianapolis Bleaching Company and came here five years ago from Evansville.

His wife, Mrs. Luella Smith, said she received word that her husband last was seen in the 800 block, West New York street.

NET OUT FOR GUNMEN

SCHOOL PLANS CAN'T BE USED

No Funds Available for Irvington High.

The city school board today possessed a set of plans for a new Irvington high school, but members wondered what to do with them.

The plans, ordered by the previous school board in 1929, are all right, board members agreed, but they are hardly worth the $24,672 they cost, since the city has no money with which to erect the high school building.

The previous school board also purchased a site for the school, near Riley and East Washington streets. Construction bids for the new Irvington high school were received by the previous school board, but they were rejected when the state tax board refused to approve a bond issue of approximately $600,000.

A resolution authorizing final payment of $3,855 to the J. M. Rotz Engineering Company for heating and ventilating plans was adopted by the board Tuesday night. The company previously had been paid $3,500. In addition to this sum, $17,317 already has been paid the McGuire & Shook architectural firm for the general plans.

The board awarded contracts for plumbing equipment at five elementary schools. Successful bidders were: School 18, Freyn Brothers, $1,817; School 20, Strong Brothers, $1,625; School 17, Roland M. Cotton, $1,372; School 51, Fred G. Janitz, $1,371; and School 70, Hayes Brothers, $1,130.

BLASTS, BLAZE PERIL WORKERS

Rubber Firm Units on Reverse Site Wrecked.

CANTON, Mass., May 11.—On the site of the old copper-smithing plant of Paul Revere, three chemical explosions and fire imperiled the lives of workers and demolished two units of the Plymouth Rubber Company, Inc., and an adjoining structure today. Company officials estimated the loss at $100,000.

Though approximately 750 persons are employed by the company, only four were in the one-story building housing the reclaiming department, scene of the blasts, and they escaped unharm.

Fire resulting from the explosions enveloped that structure and spread to a one-story warehouse nearby. Sparks blown forty feet across the Neponset river fired a two-story wooden building known as the Revere mail shop.

This structure, erected in 1885, formerly was owned by E. H. R. Revere, a direct descendant of history's mid-night rider.

Patience Wins

By United Press
ROCKFORD, Ill., May 11.—Every time Mrs. Karen Newberg, Chicago, visited in some city, she asked the local newspaper to publish a worn photograph taken forty years ago.

The picture was that of her sister, Maren, whom she had not seen in all that time.

Today the sisters were reunited. Maren, now Mrs. N. P. Matsen, saw the picture in a newspaper here and recognized it as hers.

Then she read of Mrs. Newberg's long hunt, and realized she had found her sister whom she had not seen since 1890. The reunion followed.

POWERFUL OIL LOBBY ACTIVE

Independents Down Strong Interests on Tariff.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—One of the most powerful lobbies in congress this session is that of the independent oil producer, who have defeated the giant Rockefeller and Mellon oil interests in the battle for an oil tariff.

The independents long have wanted a tariff to protect them from cheap foreign petroleum brought in by the big companies. The tax bill passed by the house provided such an import duty, and so does the measure as laid before the senate by its finance committee.

The tariff fight has been waged largely by Wirt Franklin of Oklahoma, president of the independents, and a man who knows his way around congress might well.

Two years ago, Franklin brought a trainload of supporters here, set up elaborate headquarters, interviewed every senator, exerted pressure on the doubtful ones through political forces back home, and negotiated with other tariff-seeking groups.

He was not able to put over the oil tariff that year, but he laid such a good foundation that the task was comparatively easy this year.

Well, the Idea Was O. K.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Mrs. Doris Mendelsohn let the young man into her apartment when he said he wanted her signature on a petition requesting more police for Chicago. Once inside, the man knocked her down, took $20 from her purse and fled.

TWO FLEE WOMAN'S PRISON; ONE CAUGHT

Escaped Inmate Gets Only Ten Minutes of Freedom.

One of two women who escaped Tuesday night from the Indiana woman's prison was at liberty less than ten minutes, but the other still is at large.

Search of a vacant house at 324 North Randolph street by police led to finding Mrs. Alma Coble, sentenced from Randolph county, hiding in a furnace. Covered with soot and ashes, she was forced to take a bath on being returned to the institution. The other prisoner is Charline Powers, sentenced from Lebanon.

Instead of returning to the prison kitchen with utensils from the pantry, as they had been instructed, the women went to the boiler room and forced open a door through which they fled. A matron saw them scaling the prison fence and called police.
