

PROPOSAL TO WED SPURNED, KILLS HIMSELF

Chemist Takes Poison When Childhood Sweetheart Turns Him Down.

When his sweetheart, since childhood days, spurned his proposal of marriage, Mason Page Mitchell, Indianapolis chemist, killed himself by poisoning in Chicago Wednesday.

His sister, Miss Leta Mitchell, a nurse, was called on duty in his case when he was taken to the hospital.

Entering the apartment of his sweetheart, Miss Rose Fergus, 23, Mitchell said:

"Rose, we've been sweethearts since we were school kids in Indiana. Now it is going to be me or the other fellow."

"I told him it would be the other fellow," Miss Fergus stated.

Mitchell went to the bathroom and swallowed a poison which he had compounded himself. He brought the poison with him when he went to Chicago by plane Wednesday.

Carried Letter From Girl

The poison was in a bottle which Mitchell carried in a pocket with a letter from Miss Fergus, which read in part:

"You mean nothing to me any longer. I'm going to marry some one else. If you behave as you have recently, I can never see you again."

Miss Fergus, employed as a night cashier, said she forgot to lock her apartment, and Mitchell entered shortly after she returned from work.

She called a physician after Mitchell swallowed the poison. He was taken to Lake View hospital.

Employed in City

A doctor bent over him in examination. Glancing up he saw the nurse was in grief.

"Not a chance," the doctor said. "This man has taken a deadly poison. He has—Why, nurse, what's the matter? Know him?"

"My brother," Miss Mitchell replied. "I did not even know he was in Chicago."

Mitchell was employed by the Lilly Varnish Company, 666 South California street. He has been a roomer for several months at 2947 North Meridian street but left about two weeks ago. None of his associates know where he had been living recently.

LESLIE OFFERS PLAN FOR TAX REDUCTION

Urges Elimination of Township Units, County Consolidations.

Policy of changing governmental machinery to eliminate township units and consolidate smaller counties was offered by Governor Harry G. Leslie Tuesday afternoon as the salvation for overburdened taxpayers.

He addressed the Apartment Owners Association at the Washington.

Declaring there are too many small units of government, the Governor said consolidation could be accomplished if the legislature would pass an enabling act to permit joining of townships and counties.

Although his proposals were mostly legislative remedies for the tax situation, he reiterated his stand against a special session of the legislature at this time.

DEATH CLAIMS EX-POLICEMAN

Patrick Bain Is Victim of Pneumonia.

Patrick Bain, called "an Irish policeman of the old school," by friends in the days when he wore a uniform, died today in St. Vincent's hospital, a victim of pneumonia.

He is believed to have contracted the disease while working at the primary election polls May 3. He had long been active in Democratic politics, Holy Cross Catholic church and the Ancient Order of Hibernians. He was born in Ireland in 1876.

His connection with the police force, which began in 1909, ended in 1917. At various times since he had been on special police duty at the Brookside park community house.

His home was at 1425 Marlowe avenue. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mary Bain.

Blunt in speech and a born fighter, despite being physically smaller than many officers, patrolman Bain is remembered as a "copper" without fear in the days when saloons flourished.

During the 1913 flood, he was assigned to duty in a building where refugees found shelter and forced twelve tramps to take baths. The tramps had taken advantage of the situation to obtain food and shelter, but patrolman Bain was unerring in picking out the worthy and unworthy, and the enforced bath was his idea of punishing the latter.

ANTI-RED CHIEF DEFENDS MEANS

Denies Charge of Defrauding Second Society Woman.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Ralph M. Easley, secretary of the anti-Communist National Civic Federation, came to the defense of Gaston B. Means today with a denial that Means had received any money from Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, wealthy New York society woman.

Easley's statement followed indirect charges by District Attorney Leo Rover that Means had obtained larger sums from Mrs. Shepard to protect her from Communists.

Means is under indictment on charges of embezzling $104,000 which Mrs. Edward B. McLean of Washington gave him to finance an effort to find the kidnapped Lindbergh baby. He was released on $50,000 bond Wednesday and will be arraigned Friday.

Regarding the reported payments by Mrs. Shepard, Easley said:

"I am aware of the New York situation and know that Gaston Means did not take any money from Mrs. Shepard. He was employed by me."

Easley explained that his organization had been making an extensive investigation of Communist activities in this country and that Means was among the agents employed for this work.

WANTS WRIGHT LAW REPEALED

Orr Assails 'Bone Dry' Act in Kiwanis Talk.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 12.—"Property is being confiscated to make a bootlegger's holiday," Lawrence F. Orr, chief examiner of the state board of accounts and candidates for Governor, declared here today.

Orr was principal speaker at a luncheon of the Kiwanis Club. He made a plea for repeal of the Wright "bone-dry" law and immediate modification of the Volstead act to permit sale of light wine and beer.

Women, he said, are more willing than men to bring about these changes, since they are not yet used to "political pussyfooting."

"If our male citizens in congress and political party will get some backbone and face the issues without political sparring and pussyfooting we can set our government in order without delay," Orr declared.

"The people must have relief and will not continue to endure suffering brought about by spineless politicians."

"I am not opposed to a referendum of the eighteenth amendment. I am opposed to its being offered as the real remedy for the present situation. Such an amendment or repeal can not be accomplished without delay."

Miracle Brain

Bandit, Wounded in Holdup, Recovers With Shot Still in Head.

CHICAGO, May 12.—A month ago Tony Canino, 32, was taken to a hospital, a bullet in his head, after being shot in an attempted holdup and physicians despaired of his life.

Today Canino, the 45 caliber lead pellet still embedded in his brain, was discharged from the hospital, virtually recovered.

The bullet lodged two inches behind the left eye and physicians finding it would be fatal to attempt to remove it, concentrated on healing the wound.

Having survived, Canino is on $10,000 bond and will face charges of attempted robbery.

KILLER LOSES MERCY APPEAL

Pardon Only Recourse Left to Baltimore Youth.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 12.—Herman W. Duker, confessed slayer of a milkman, was one step nearer the gallows today, following a denial of his plea for mercy by the Maryland court of appeals.

A pardon or commutation of sentence by Governor Albert C. Ritchie, now is the last hope of saving the scion of a prominent Baltimore family.

Duker and Dale H. Lambert killed John W. Anderson, dairy employee, during an attempted hold up here on April 20, 1931. Lambert confessed and was given a life sentence in the Maryland penitentiary.
