

TREASURY CHIEF ASKS PASSAGE OF SALES TAX

Revenue Bill to Fall Far Short of Budget Need, Senate Told.

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press)
WASHINGTON, May 31.—Treasury Secretary Ogden L. Mills today presented to the senate finance committee a revised estimate indicating that the new bill would fail by $285,000,000 to raise sufficient revenue to balance the budget. He recommended adoption of the Walsh sales tax amendment to make up the deficiency.

Mills' statement, given to the committee in executive committee before the senate adopted the Constitutional amendment for increased taxes follows:

"Events during the last two months, and more particularly the last few weeks, necessitate taking into account a changed situation as affecting the estimates of old and new revenue made by the treasury department in February.

Contraction Marked

"The estimates were predicated on a prompt enactment of a revenue bill furnishing a basis for, first, a stabilization of economic conditions, and then a gradual rise."

"Indeed there has been a marked contraction of economic activity, and a further fall in commodity and security prices, so that not only has the date of recovery been postponed, but recovery starts from a lower level. This is bound to have an adverse effect on prospective revenues."

"The treasury recommended in February $1,125,000,000 in new taxes. That is the amount needed today."

"The bill now before the senate, even with the finance committee items still to be voted on, will bring in but $840,000,000, as compared with the $965,000,000 estimated under the old figures."

Eager for Action

"Thus, there is a shortage of revenue between the amount originally estimated by the treasury as necessary, and the yield of the bill, as it now stands, of $285,000,000."

"The difference is due to a reduction by the congress in new taxes amounting to $160,000,000—of which about $100,000,000 was agreed to by the treasury in its agreeableness for prompt action—and $125,000,000 is accounted for by changed conditions."

"In other words, assuming that the expenditure figures are reduced below those submitted in the budget message by not less than $350,000,000, $285,000,000 of additional revenue is needed today to balance the budget."

"In order to bridge this gap, I unqualifiedly recommend turning to the manufacturers' excise tax along the line of Senator Walsh's pending amendment."

"While the treasury department hitherto has refrained from commanding this tax, I had occasion to give it close study during its consideration, and means committee, and I毫不犹豫地 insist it today as the most effective means of balancing the budget and giving assurance of yielding the needed revenue."

"I further recommend the adoption of the so-called Connally income tax amendment, which means a return to the 1922 income tax

JOB ARE AT STAKE

School Board to Pass On Appointments.

School board members at their meeting tonight will pass on appointments of 2,013 principals and teachers in city grade and high schools, acting on a list prepared by Paul C. Stetson, city school superintendent.

The list is shorter by about ten than the one submitted at this time last year.

The board is expected to take final action tonight on the proposal to establish, for the first time, a junior high school system. No new buildings will be required under the system, which will be placed in effect in all buildings where eighth grade pupils attend.

The "schoolmarm" of the future, attending the Indiana Central college's normal course, spend the time between studies keeping the weight down and trimming the campus flower beds.

The course ends in June.

rates, but which I have opposed hitherto, but the necessity of balancing the budget is so great that objections which up to the present time justified opposition to a particular tax can in this emergency no longer be considered valid.

"If the senate is unwilling to follow what I deem to be the wise course, I suggest as a possible alternative a program of:

"1. The Connally amendment, yielding approximately $70,000,000.

"2. A gasoline tax of 1 cent, yielding $150,000,000.

"3. Restoration of the exemption on admissions to 10 cents, which will yield $5,000,000 more than now is provided for.

"This program will yield a total of $275,000,000."

LONDON BISHOP PRAISES RECTOR 'FOR HIS NERVE'

Says Davidson's Plea for Aid Made Him a Nuisance.

By United Press
LONDON, May 31.—The bishop of London, the Right Honorable and Right Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington-Ingram, admitted today he was forced to "admire the nerve of the Rev. Harold Davidson, rector of Stiffkey, on trial on charges of immorality.

The bishop was an unexpected witness at the rector's trial. Wearing a purple cassock, he testified that he had known the rector for thirty years, since the undergraduate days, when they spoke from the same platform at Oxford, but that he had not seen the rector frequently in recent years.

Frequent Appeals for Aid

The bishop said the rector formerly made frequent appeals for financial aid. "Doubtless you found him a nuisance," said the rector's counsel, R. F. Levy.

"Yes, a great nuisance," the bishop replied.

Asked for his opinion of the rector's moral reputation, the bishop replied, "I never heard a word against him until this case. I consider the rector audacious, but must admit I am forced to admire his nerve."

"Mrs. D.," mother of a girl of 16, who was photographed nude with the rector, exhibited in court today the bathing suit her daughter was supposed to have worn when the picture was taken, but didn't. It was of salmon pink and black with a white girdle.

The picture, she said, was taken for advertising purposes and was going to be sent by airmail to America.

Rector's Daughter Testifies

She said she entirely trusted the rector, and the photographers had promised not to picture her daughter nude, but "it was a disgusting trap well worked out, right from the beginning."

The rector's daughter, Patricia, 21, testified that her mother has been deaf and mute from a nervous complaint since 1930, and suffered heart attacks because of the notoriety of the present case.

Farkhurst recently tendered his resignation as police captain and indicated he would not appeal.

Maximum penalty faced by those to be sentenced Wednesday is two years in prison and $5,000 fine.
