

Mrs. Voyles Named Head of Council

Mrs. Charles F. Voyles was elected commissioner of the Indianapolis Girl Scout council Tuesday at the council's monthly meeting.

She formerly served as first deputy, and for the last two months has filled the unexpired term of Mrs. Charles E. Cole, resigned commissioner.

Mrs. Harold Bland Thorpe was elected first deputy; Mrs. Thomas A. Wynne, second deputy; Mrs. Cole, third deputy, and Mrs. Paul T. Hart, fourth deputy. Mrs. Theodore Vonnegut was re-elected secretary.

Mrs. Voyles and Mrs. Cole gave reports of the recent conference of the Great Lakes region, held at Camp Dellwood. They discussed the program of the training school for Girl Scout leaders, which opened at Dellwood on Monday, and will continue until June 25. An invitation was extended to council members to visit the school.

Mrs. Voyles was delegated to represent the Girl Scouts on the Indianapolis Council of Social Agencies. Her standing committee will be announced at the September meeting of the Girl Scout council.

The regular camping season for Indianapolis Girl Scouts will open at Dellwood, July 5.

MAINTAINERS AND MORALS BY JANE JORDAN

If you've been hiding an experience that you would like to tell, here is your chance to do so without revealing your identity. Jane Jordan's comments will be published in this column.

Dear Jane Jordan—I was intimate with a man for nearly a year. Then I got in trouble. We were to be married immediately, and I suddenly found myself in a predicament. There were a million reasons why we should not be married, but I was so in love with him that I didn't care. When the month went by, there were more excuses than ever for not breaking dates and I received no excuse. I saw him with another girl one night and that turned me completely against him.

Then one day he came to me, told me how sorry he was, and said he wanted to marry me. Because I wanted my child to have a name, I consented. We were married two months ago, and now I am a bride. I am not happy, but I am not a bride. I am a bride, but I am not happy. I am a bride, but I am not happy. I am a bride, but I am not happy.

Dear Disgusted—Yes. When the tie of a mutually helpful affection is absent, there is little reason for continuing a marriage. The atmosphere in which you now live will not benefit your child in the slightest. On the contrary, a great deal of harm may be done by exposing the little one to continuous domestic infelicity.

Unwittingly, you became a duty to your lover instead of a pleasure. When this occurred, you lost him. Had his love been worth keeping, his reaction would have been the reverse. Your plight would have aroused the deepest feelings of love and loyalty.

You gambled and lost. As soon as you can stand on your own feet economically, you'll be justified in making the break and making a new start for the baby. As I have said many times, marriage was made for the protection of women. Otherwise, a man like your husband could leave a baby on your doorstep and clear out for new adventures without fear of redress from society.

It is barely possible that your departure with the baby may bring a second fit of contrition, but I doubt if you can rely on it, since his good resolutions are broken so easily.

Dear Jane Jordan—Whenever I read something like what I've just read in your column about a young woman who finds out that her lover is not her lover after all, but just a poor excuse for a manhood, my blood boils with the unfairness of it. Why do our mothers and grandmothers teach their boys to code, I wonder? Why do they keep girls in a house of mystery and make them believe that a girl should be a real woman before she is married? There surely could be a better way to teach boys and girls the way to true love.

A VIRGIN BRIDE.

Dear Virgin Bride—We learn by our mistakes. Those women who suffered from the ignorance in which they were brought up are going to see to it that their daughters are enlightened. They're not going to be horrified by early sex instruction, but are going to aid and abet educators in their efforts to teach the young something about human relationships before they are old enough to rush blindly into marriage.

The old system of wrapping girls in cotton wool has about blown its last breath. There is a new freedom which they have not learned to put to the best use, as the letter to which you refer indicates.

Some fathers take as much interest as do mothers in their young, but in general they aren't much interested in little babies. Their paternal instinct is not aroused until the baby is 4 or 5 years old, running around and talking and showing lively signs of a developing intelligence.

It is true that a few men are cruel to their children. They get even for the suffering which they endured in their youth by inflicting the same conditions on their own children. But in the main I hope these incidents are confined to pathological cases.

It is a more common reaction for both parents to carry the other extreme to the point of pathology and shield their children too closely from unhappy experience.

Haven't you seen fathers sacrifice themselves completely to secure for their children certain advantages that were denied them in their own youth?

Miss Mildred Dunn Becomes Bride of F. J. Steinkamp

St. Catherine's church was the scene of the wedding this morning of Miss Mildred Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Dunn, and F. J. Steinkamp. The Rev. J. M. Downey said the mass and performed the ceremony.

The altar was arranged with palms, ferns and summer flowers. The bride wore a bridal satin gown, fashioned with a short jacket with sleeves puffed to the elbow and light to the wrist. The net veil with lace cap was caught at the back with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and wore a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Louise Brunner, maid of honor, wore a blue point d'esprit dress fashioned with flared skirt and bolero jacket of taffeta. She wore a blue picture hat trimmed with a blue satin ribbon, and white slippers. She carried Buttercup roses and wore a strand of pearls, gift of the bride.

The bridesmaids, Miss Ruth Dunn and Miss Janette Mikesell, wore gowns fashioned as the matron of honor's. Miss Dunn wore pink and carried Briarcliff roses and Miss Mikesell, green, and carried Johanna Hill roses. The flower girl, Jean Sitterding of Batesville, wore light blue organdy and carried a basket of mixed summer flowers.

The best man was Paul Bennett. Following the ceremony, a breakfast was held for the bride party at the bride's parents' home, 1442 East Terrace avenue. The centerpiece of the table was a wedding cake in pink, white and green. Other decorations were in the bridal colors of pink, green and blue.

The couple will be at home at 2844 Allen avenue.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Shannon of Chicago, John Conway and Edward Koresel of Chicago, Mrs. Margaret Koresel of Evansville and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sitterding of Batesville.

A reception will be held tonight at the home of the bride's parents.

BRIDGE TEA FOR BRIDES-TO-BE Given by Mrs. H. N. Cottingham

Mrs. H. Norris Cottingham, Noblesville, entertained Wednesday afternoon at her home with a bridge tea in honor of Miss Lorinda Cottingham, Indianapolis, and Miss Phoebe Heath, Noblesville, brides-elect.

Miss Cottingham is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Cottingham.

Tables for bridge were arranged in the garden. The tea table was decorated in the pastel rainbow shades, with lighted tapers, and a miniature bride party surrounded by flowers in the center. The table was laid with a lace cloth. Mrs. A. Conkle and Mrs. Richter assisted at the tea table, while Miss Mary Heath, Mrs. John Hillman and the hostess's mother, Mrs. Fred Tucker.

Guests from Indianapolis included Mrs. Harold Haught, Mrs. William H. Skinner, Mrs. Charles E. Cottingham, and Miss Helen Noble. Others were Mrs. Richter, Mrs. Lewis Hirt of Hamilton, O., and Miss Marian McFadden, Urbana, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Haught, 6007 Primrose avenue, will entertain tonight at their home with a buffet supper, crystal shower and bridge party in honor of Miss Cottingham and Mr. Howell.

The women guests will receive corsages of yellow roses and other summer flowers. The rainbow pastel shades will be carried in the appointments. Guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Branch and Dr. Gale Oldham, Martinsville; Mrs. Castle; Mr. and Mrs. J. Kurt Mahrt, Misses Flora Lieber and Helen Noble, and Charles Chandler of Indianapolis, and Miss Marian McFadden, Havana, Ill.

Dinner—Slice of ham baked in milk, lattice potatoes, carrots and peas in turnip cups, head lettuce with French dressing, orange soufflé, chocolate drop cookies, milk, coffee.

NEW YORK, June 15.—This is a fine time to talk about coats. Yes—right now when it's warm and going to be warmer. Because it's warm weather coats we mean. Those light-as-a-feather ones that do nothing toward raising the temperature, but do so much toward making you look well-dressed.

It's the kind of coat—so many fashionable women feel is absolutely essential on summer trains and city streets.

The kind you throw on for short motor trips or for going out informally in the evening. For these coats are protection from dust and draft. And they make you feel right. Yet they're as cool as though you wore none.

Silks and Wools

Rough silk crepes are one of the fiber-light fabrics in fashion. Wool georgette (almost as sheer as silk georgette) used double is new. Unlined sheer wool crepes fill the bill, too, and for dressier wear you can have these with satin tops.

Such coats are soft and dress-like... wrapping round as light or as loose as your figure and the thermometer dictate.

Usually they're collarless... which is cooler. Sometimes they have a scarf collar that is worn open on warmer days and closed on cooler ones.

The smart, high closing coat so popular all spring has been copied in these cool summer coats, too, and can be worn unbuttoned, with the sides dropped back in jabot form.

Loose Sleeves Worn

Sleeves are loose fitting... and let the air in. Cape sleeves are comfortable. Or a coat may have a cape and no sleeves at all.

That puff sleeve you've admired on so many dresses is just as admirable on a cool coat. Such coats are smarter without a belt. But a twisted belt of the material is sometimes used... if you look better with a belt.

Black, navy and beige are the practical color story. But if you feel like being a bit extravagant, try them in pastels.

And we say "them," because you'll need several if you choose pastels... one to go with each of your dresses. (1932. Amos Parrish)

Next—new ideas for the bride attend.

Linen Shower Arranged for Mrs. Stanley

Mrs. Oran B. Stanley, formerly Miss Constance Glover, will be honor guest at a linen shower and bridge party to be given tonight by Miss Mary M. Brown and Miss Rosemary Bretman at Miss Bretman's home, 3052 Sutherland avenue.

Bridesmaid 'in the Pink'

(From the Lucinda Shon, New York)

If pink really is the color that wins proposals, eight bridesmaids should have a successful time when a prominent New York girl is married. The bride herself is wearing a soft pink gown. She is dressing her bridesmaids in replicas of this frock, which is pink with a suggestion of silver.

There are ruffs at the shoulder and hem, which make the silhouette more slender. Pearl buttons fasten the high neck and the clinging sleeves.

The whole effect is feminine and intriguing. The frock doesn't have to be packed away after the ceremony, either. Any bridesmaid who wears it on the dance floor will discover that she is taking her steps in the right direction.

There is a dash of mystery to it, which from the fact that the arms and shoulders and back are covered with such fragile, lovely material that they take on added charm.

Then, too, the fact that the dress does have long sleeves and a high neckline makes it acceptable for afternoon, without detracting from its evening mystery.

TELL ME HOW YOU REMOVED YELLOW AND WHITENED YOUR TEETH 3 SHADES IN 3 DAYS

Now—you can have gleaming white teeth in just a few days. Science has discovered the way to remove ugly yellow and stain—whiten teeth 3 shades in 3 days! It is called the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique. Try it—use a half-inch of this scientific dental cream on a dry brush twice a day. You'll see a marked change overnight.

When Kolynos enters the mouth it instantly becomes a refreshing FOAM that removes yellow and stain and destroys the millions of mouth germs—139 million in 15 seconds—that cause most tooth and gum troubles. It stimulates the gums and purifies the mouth. Then it CLEANS TEETH RIGHT DOWN TO THE BEAUTIFUL, NATURAL WHITE ENAMEL WITHOUT INJURY. No ordinary brushing can make teeth so white. No mouthwash can give the mouth a cleaner taste.

Why have dull, yellow teeth? Clean them sparkling white and keep them sound and firm for decay this way. Buy a large tube of Kolynos.
