

AIMEE'S HUBBY TURNS GUNS ON FORMER LOVER

Attorneys Insinuate Pretty Nurse Had Many Affairs of the Heart.

By United Press
LOS ANGELES, June 23.—Attorneys for David L. Hutton, choir-leader husband of Aimee Semple McPherson, sought today to show that Myrtle Hazel Joan St. Pierre had experienced many loves before she met the corpulent baritone.

Mrs. St. Pierre, who was successively Myrtle St. Peters, "Jean Deville," Mrs. H. H. Harrington Jr., and Mrs. George Street before she agreed to become Mrs. David L. Hutton Jr., is suing Hutton for $200,000 damages on the charge he refused to marry her after allegedly betraying her under promises they would become man and wife.

Mrs. St. Pierre shrieked and became hysterical during cross-examination as she denied insinuations she had been friendly with other men.

She was perturbed at efforts of attorney Mark Jones to prove she had been engaged to one Edgar Ebens in 1928, and that he had lived in her Hollywood home thereafter.

Attorneys for Hutton filed an amended answer to her complaint in which he alleged she was not a chaste woman at the time she claimed he made torrid love to her.

A crop of mystery witnesses appeared.

One was a man wearing a red necktie. Another was a veiled woman, plainly dressed. Hutton knowingly at the press row and said:

"They've got some good stuff. I can't say more at present."

He looked a trifle bewildered, however, when four other men wearing red neckties came into the courtroom and the first mystery witness, angered at competition, turned up his coat collar and departed.

MAKE JULY 5 LAST DAY
FOR MARKET STANDS

Police to Arrest All Violators After That Date, Says Board.

Action of the safety board has established July 5 as the final date for sidewalk stands at the city market house.

Effective July 7, the next market day, police will be instructed to arrest all violators, in order to permit angle parking in the space occupied by the stands.

Holders of market stands must seek new sites inside the market building. If overcrowding results, the board ruled the present inside stand holders who are behind in rent will be evicted to make way for the newcomers.

BRIEF PLATFORM URGED

for Postcard Is Byrnes' Idea.

By Scripps-Hornbeck Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Senator James Byrnes (Dem., S. C.) believes the Democratic platform this year should be written by men who worked, in their youth, on handset county newspapers, and as a result, know how to brief.

The platform, he said today, should be short enough to go on a postcard, so that every voter in the country will read it and understand it.

49 YEARS WITH FORCE, VETERAN FIREMAN 'QUIT'S'

Captain Kile Steps Out to
"Avoid Embarrassing
the Chief."

BY JAMES A. CARVIN

Nearly half a century of duty with the fire department has given Captain Philip Kile a full understanding of the meaning of "for the good of the service."

Wednesday he tendered his resignation from the department in a brief one-sentence statement, but back of the act lies a story of long friendship and a belief in one's friends which rises above self-interest.

June 13, Kile's seventieth birthday, according to fire department records, was the time for his retirement on pension from active service.

Kile of Aerial Ladder Company 13, however, was not ready to leave his post at Capitol avenue and Maryland street, after forty-nine years of service. He contended that his age only was 67, the discrepancy occurring when he falsified his age to be eligible for enlistment years ago.

Fire Chief Harry Voshell and members of the board of safety were unable to find municipal or county records to support either side. The case appeared at a standstill and was postponed for two meetings until today.

The problem before the board was whether to disregard Kile's personal word, backed by his record of service and pension him, or permit department records to be challenged.

Kile solved the problem by resigning, effective July 1. When the resignation was introduced to the board, Albert Schmollinger, Kile's attorney, informed the board the resignation had been withdrawn.

There appeared nothing to do but proceed with the hearing. Kile left the room, taking several turns

When he returned, he walked directly to the board and announced that his resignation again was effective.

In a quiet voice he explained that he "didn't wish to embarrass the chief."

And so, "for the good of the service," Kile has resigned, effective July 1, after which he will retire on his pension of $75 a month, instead of his active captain's pay.

There appeared nothing to do but proceed with the hearing. Kile left the room, taking several turns
