

ADELE ASTAIRE PRESENTED AT BRITISH COURT

Titled Mother-in-Law Did Not 'Sidestep' Event,
Friends Assert.

By United Press
LONDON, June 24.—Failure of the duchess of Devonshire to present her dancer daughter-in-law, Lady Charles Cavendish, the former Adele Astaire, at Thursday night's court at Buckingham palace was explained today, when it became known that the duchess was confined to bed by acute rheumatism.

Friends of Lady Cavendish, famous as a dancer in America and Europe before her marriage to Lord Cavendish last month, indignantly denied insinuations that the duchess purposely had abstained from presenting her daughter-in-law to the king and queen.

The duchess personally coached Lady Cavendish in court courtesies and deportment, and helped select her costume for the presentation.

Lady Cavendish was presented by Mabel, countess of Airlie, and was accompanied by Lady Balfour, niece of the duchess of Devonshire.

Lady Cavendish wore a gown of "dusty" pink satin, devoid of trimming, with a fan shaped train of the same material lined with chiffon. She wore diamonds and carried a white feather fan.

Other American women presented Thursday night were:

Miss Anne Bissel, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Miss Joan Diehl, Pittsburgh; Miss Marjory Sawyer Goodman, Chicago; Miss Kathleen Knox, Washington; Mrs. Thurston McCauley, Atlanta; Miss Patricia Tobin, San Francisco, and Mrs. Nion Tucker, Bulkingame, Cal.

Americans to be presented at the fourth court of the season tonight are:

Miss Louise Dewey, Chicago; Mrs. John James Fitzpatrick, Somerset, Ky.; Mrs. K. Paul Ramsey, Las Vegas, N. M.; Mrs. Wale Spencer, Topeka, Kan.; Mrs. James O. Wentz, Washington, and Miss Jeanne Wingfield, Reno, Nev.

Score of Years on Curb, Order Market Stand Out

In addition to being the dean of city market standholders, Mrs. Mathew Specker is a philosopher. While her neighbors on the market are bemoaning the order of the safety board abolishing sidewalk stands after July 5, Mrs. Specker, as she is known in respect for her nearly two score years of market attendance, refused to be perturbed.

"When they say move, I move," was all Mother would say in the broken accent of her native Germany.

Seventy-two years old, active and keen-eyed, she already has made arrangements for a stand inside the market house in compliance with the new rule.

ON Monday, Wednesday and Friday, "off" days at the market, Mrs. Specker helps her 76-year-old husband and her daughter, Adele, till the eleven-acre farm at Box 656, R. R. 4.

There the three do all the work of plowing, planting, weeding and harvesting of the cabbage, beets, green beans, carrots and kale that Mother brings to market three days a week.

Adele, the lone homemaker of a family of seven daughters and four sons, is the youngest and the mother's pride.

"Adele? Say, she works like a man. Big and strong, she does everything," Mother praised.

PLACES and dates mean little to Mrs. Specker. Seventy-two years—hard, toilsome years—are a long time. She remembers she was married in Germany and came to America with her husband. How long ago, she doesn't remember.

Neither does she recall her first market day, except that she has been there "long time before any of these people"—indicating with a wide wave of her hand, the other Market street stands.

She always has had an outside stand, former locations were on the Alabama courthouse side, the Delaware courthouse stands and at the corner of Alabama and Market on the market house side.

She has been at her present stand, in the middle of the block at the curb side of Market street for more than ten years.

Depressions do not worry Mother. She has been through them before—so why worry?

DRY LEAGUE IS MARKING TIME IN REPEAL BATTLE

Action by Democrats at Chicago Awaited Before
Campaign Is Charted.

With both Democratic and Republican state conventions adopting repeal planks, the Indiana Anti-Saloon League today awaited action at Democratic national convention in Chicago before deciding on its future course of action.

L. E. York, league superintendent, today said that although the Democrats are expected to adopt a prohibition repeal plank at least as strong as that adopted by the Republican national convention, no statement of policy could be issued now.

The future course of action will be decided by a board of strategy representing thirty-five dry organizations, includes churches, he said.

In commenting on the state platform, York said he did not believe any state could afford outright repeal of the state prohibition law without similar repeal of the national law, as this would be nullification by indirection.

York said he and others interested in the dry movement felt the wets had taken an unfair advantage in forcing the two major political parties to insert wet planks in their platforms, inasmuch as the drys never had sought to force inclusion of dry planks in former years.

"The Indiana Democratic plank calls for repeal of the Wright law and substitution of a regulatory act," he said.

"The Republican plank calls for enactment of a state law similar to the national law. I think that is better, although don't get the impression from that that I am upholding either."

York pointed out that the term "resubmission" of the eighteenth amendment is a misnomer, inasmuch as the only possible procedure is for congress to propose to the state legislatures a new twentieth amendment, modifying or repealing the eighteenth amendment.

"Our stand on such questions has been that if a new amendment is submitted and adopted, we will abide by it," he said, "but, of course, we will oppose any change."

BISHOP'S SON BONE DRY
By United Press
LOS ANGELES, June 24.—A son of the Crusading Bishop James Cannon Jr. has launched a fight in support of prohibition.

Richard M. Cannon, son of the Methodist-Episcopal church leader, has announced his candidacy for congress from the Twelfth California district, on a bone-dry platform.

Cannon said he would run on the Prohibition ticket, but would also have Republican and Democratic support at the primaries.

DERBY VICTORY SHOWN IN REEL

Thrilling Horse Race Main Feature of Film.

Gusto, a rank outsider, romping home to a sterling victory in the $50,000 American Derby at Homewood, Ill., is one of the outstanding units of the current issue of The Indianapolis Times-Universal newsreel now being exhibited at leading city theaters. The horse all but runs several of the nation's best 3-year-olds into the ground in a home-stretch battle.

Graham McNamee, radio announcer of the National Broadcasting Company staff, comments on this and other items in the reel.

The new 25-cent piece that will make its appearance next month is shown in the reel in a unit from the United States mint at Philadelphia. The pictures show the actual making of the money and the stamping on the coin the head of George Washington. The coins are to commemorate the bicentennial of Washington's birth.

Eamonn De Valera visiting London for the conference with dominion secretary on the "oath question," which ended in a deadlock, is shown in another unit of the reel.

Victory for the Hoover-Curtis ticket in the November election is predicted by Everett Sanders, new Republican national committee chairman, in another item.

A test of a new type giant bomber adapted by the United States army at Dayton, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Hoover entertaining more than 900 disabled war veterans on the White House lawn are other items of interest in the reel.

BANKS STUDY TAX LAW

Preliminary Information Is Issued by State Association.

Preliminary information to guide bankers in handling details of the new tax on negotiable instruments until definite instructions are received from the department of internal revenue, has been issued in the form of a bulletin from the Indiana Bankers' Association.

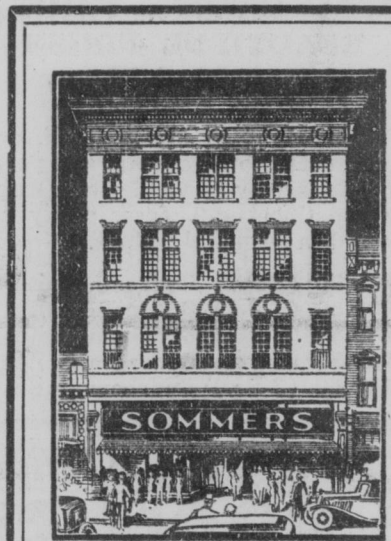

A number of questions regarding application of the tax have arisen, it was pointed out at the association meeting Thursday, and these will be interpreted finally by the revenue department.

Until such time the bankers were advised to charge customers' accounts with the 2-cent tax on each check, draft and other negotiable instruments drawn.

"Every month I was in bed two or three days. I was a nervous wreck and could hardly do my work. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done wonders for me. I have two little boys, three and five years old. They used to get on my nerves but now their noise doesn't bother me at all. I never felt better in my life."

MRS. JENNIE M. MASSEY
137 Summer St., Lynn, Mass.

"I could write volumes on what your Vegetable Compound has done for me after being in poor health for nine years. After my daughter was born I was a physical wreck. Three bottles of the Vegetable Compound restored me to health. I took it again before my second child was born and had a very easy confinement. I am now over fifty and do all the work for a small rooming house."

MRS. ALLAN MARTIN
