

Club Plans for Season Announced

"Women and Their Achievements" will be the keynote of study for the Indianapolis Current Events Club during the season to come.

In carrying out the theme the activities of women in all walks of life will be reviewed through books and magazine articles.

Among the subjects to be studied will be women in religion, politics, industry, music, literature, and two special topics, the legal status of women and public charges.

Besides the papers presenting information on these subjects there will be reviews of current books.

Mrs. T. H. Hazeltine is chairman of the program committee, assisted by Mesdames Walter W. Wise, L. L. Luckey and W. R. E. Payne.

Special meetings to be held during the year include the president's day luncheon, which opens the season, Oct. 13, the Christmas party Dec. 16, the club institute Jan. 27, and the annual guest day, June 8.

The club has eighteen active members. The officers are Mrs. Cora M. Raber, president; Mrs. M. C. Norris, vice-president; Mrs. Walter W. Wise, recording secretary, and Mrs. J. D. Setzer, treasurer.

It is affiliated with the state and Seventh District Federation of Clubs, and the Indianapolis Council of women, having been organized and federated in 1923.

Oak-Paneled Walls Give Cozy Look to Living Room

Oak-paneled walls form a warm and cozy background for the richly toned drapes and upholstery in this living room. The old English chairs are covered with homespun, just the sort of thing to set them off effectively. The open dresser, with its gleaming pewter and pottery, gives it a homely touch, and the English sporting prints pick up the dominant color notes of crimson.

MANNERS AND MORALS By JANE JORDAN

YOUNG moderns are invited to bring their problems to Jane Jordan, who understands both the old and the new viewpoint. Write your letter now.

Dear Jane Jordan—I have been intimate with the young man I love for some time. He is very much in love with me also, but it is impossible for us to marry soon. We never go out with any one else and get along splendidly. We have decided that we will marry as soon as circumstances permit. We do not feel that we are being untrue to ourselves. Do you think I will lose his respect because of my conduct?

DODO.

Dear Dodo—My dear girl, I do not know the answer to your question. I do know that the majority of men are conventional at heart. A very sophisticated man whom I know has maintained a liaison with a woman for some years. He could not marry her for financial reasons.

Recently he was overcome with horror because he discovered that his sister had found a similar solution to a similar problem. He was almost ready to throttle the man. Explain that, if you can!

I have seen so many young couples start out in good faith with high hopes, as you are doing, only to be beaten by the existing moral order. The majority grave run to live under. They can not forgive you if you do not.

The beatitude Agree With Current Morality

Disagreement with the current morality is as dangerous as stepping in front of a locomotive, because you disagree with its right to travel on a straight and narrow track.

Women will condemn you, not because they are more moral than you are, but because you have made a bad bargain. You have broken the system which requires a man to pay for exclusive sex rights in a woman. The average woman does not permit a man to claim her until a contract has been signed entitling her to support for life and a share in his property for herself and her potential children. You are a price cutter who has made it more difficult for other women to demand security in return for their surrender.

You Have Made Bad Bargain

Your capital is not secured by anything but a promise which no one witnessed. Quite aside from the question of morals, you are a bad business woman.

Your success depends solely on the character of the man you have chosen. If he is a high type who is bound more firmly by his own sense of honor than by a statute; if he trusts his own judgment in preference to the opinion of the majority, so much the better for you.

"Sin," writes D. H. Lawrence, "is the breaking of one's own integrity." You may take this statement for what it is worth in comfort for you. But the sooner you marry the better.

Dear Jane Jordan—I've told my 8-year-old boy that he could live with us. That was when my husband had a job. Now he is out of a job. He doesn't know I planned all this. He never has seemed to like the boy, although he likes children as a rule. We have a darling baby of our own and I love them all three. As my folks are poor and have to depend on charity, they can not give him the care he needs.

I believe I could be a lot of help to the boy. He is slow in his school work. He is not a bad kid. Should I disappoint the boy or go ahead, regardless of whether my husband approves?

SUNNY.

Dear Bunny—I assume that your son is the child of a former marriage. No doubt your husband feels some aversion to him for this reason. I would not bring the child back without having an understanding with the stepfather first, as the child will feel it keenly if he is not welcome.

Children have a way of picking such things out of the air. If your husband is a man of good principles, he will not let his personal feelings stand in the way of the welfare of a little child whom he automatically accepted when he married you.

How would he feel if some other man treated his child in this fashion? Undoubtedly, the boy's place is with his mother.

DODO.

Dear Dodo—My dear girl, I do not know the answer to your question. I do know that the majority of men are conventional at heart. A very sophisticated man whom I know has maintained a liaison with a woman for some years. He could not marry her for financial reasons.

Recently he was overcome with horror because he discovered that his sister had found a similar solution to a similar problem. He was almost ready to throttle the man. Explain that, if you can!

I have seen so many young couples start out in good faith with high hopes, as you are doing, only to be beaten by the existing moral order. The majority grave run to live under. They can not forgive you if you do not.

The beatitude Agree With Current Morality

Disagreement with the current morality is as dangerous as stepping in front of a locomotive, because you disagree with its right to travel on a straight and narrow track.

Women will condemn you, not because they are more moral than you are, but because you have made a bad bargain. You have broken the system which requires a man to pay for exclusive sex rights in a woman. The average woman does not permit a man to claim her until a contract has been signed entitling her to support for life and a share in his property for herself and her potential children. You are a price cutter who has made it more difficult for other women to demand security in return for their surrender.

You Have Made Bad Bargain

Your capital is not secured by anything but a promise which no one witnessed. Quite aside from the question of morals, you are a bad business woman.

Your success depends solely on the character of the man you have chosen. If he is a high type who is bound more firmly by his own sense of honor than by a statute; if he trusts his own judgment in preference to the opinion of the majority, so much the better for you.

"Sin," writes D. H. Lawrence, "is the breaking of one's own integrity." You may take this statement for what it is worth in comfort for you. But the sooner you marry the better.

Phoebe Ann Heath Becomes Bride of Herman Stoker

Marriage of Miss Phoebe Ann Heath, daughter of Mrs. C. R. Heath, Noblesville, to Herman Stoker, Ithaca, N. Y., and Johannesburg Union, South Africa, was solemnized Saturday night at the First Presbyterian church in Noblesville. The Rev. G. M. Jones presided.

Mrs. John Hillman, Indianapolis, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Alice Rice, Charleston, S. C.; Mildred Palmer, Washington, and Alma Richards, Ardmore, Pa.

E. H. Wicking, Washington, was the best man, and William Jackson, Indianapolis; M. H. Cohee, Lafayette, and Heath Bowman, Glencoe, Ill., were ushers.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

A reception at Heathholm, the country estate of the bride's mother, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stoker left Sunday for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home until July 15 with the bride's mother, when they will leave for South Africa to live. En route to their home they will tour the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Stoker, who is well known in Indianapolis, is a graduate of Vassar college. Mr. Stoker is doing research work for Cornell university in Johannesburg Union.

Cheer Guild Aids Children in Celebration

Children at the Riley hospital are celebrating the Fourth of July today with assistance of the Riley Hospital Cheer Guild. The Guild's annual display of fireworks will be held tonight on the hospital grounds.

Children who are able will be taken to the lawn, where they may witness the display, to best advantage, and others will be moved to the windows, so that all may see. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate is in charge of the committee arranging the day's program. This morning extra celebration was provided by the flags and patriotically decorated napkins, which were placed on the breakfast trays of each of the small patients.

Mrs. Charles Hogate