SMITH FACTION SUPPORT GOAL OF ROOSEVELT

Overtures to Be Made to Democrat Left Wing:
Al is Obdurate.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 4.—Democrats are setting out on their campaign to capture the White House for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt with their immediate objective the pacification of the Alfred E. Smith wing of the party, which is dominant in the east.

This overshadows all other considerations at the moment, for Smith could be a dangerous foe.

"The Happy Warrior" of 1928 left here—before his former friend and successful rival arrived to accept the Democratic standard—in anything but a happy frame of mind.

There were well-authenticated reports from close friends of the 1928 candidate that he would leave soon for a trip to Europe—it would be his first—and wear out his grievances among the sights of the old world.

What McDowell Did

That's what William Gibbs McAdoo did in 1924, after the Madison Square Garden convention deadlocked between him and Smith had cheated McAdoo at the prize.

Reports also still are current that Smith might enter a third party movement, but these seem to be far-fetched.

The most obvious theory is that Smith merely will drop out of the campaign, and refuse to take any part in it.

The bitterness he seems to hold for Roosevelt appears to preclude any chance of open support.

The Roosevelt strategy will be to win, if possible, the support of those associated with Smith in the endeavor to leave him standing aside as a disgruntled figure.

Overtures Made

The New York Governor made preliminary overtures in his speech before the national committee by lavishing praise upon John J. Raskob, retiring chairman of the national committee, and Joseph Shoupe, retiring chairman of the executive committee, both of whom were involved in the anti-Roosevelt movement which stirred up so much under-surface bitterness. Roosevelt referred to both as "old friends."

Some gestures of peace came from the other side in the closing hours of the convention.

John F. Curry, the inscrutable chieftain of Tammany Hall, shunted New York onto the vice-presidential bandwagon of Speaker John N. Garner, and offered a resolution of praise for Senator Thomas J. Walsh's handling of the convention.

Walsh defeated Shoupe, the Smith candidate, for the post.

This appeared to be a beginning.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY FOR ARTHUR SCRIBNER

Veteran Publisher Dies at Home in Mt. Kisco, N. Y.

By United Press
MT. KISCO, N. Y., July 4.—Funeral services will be held Wednesday for Arthur Hawley Scribner, veteran publisher associated with the firm of Charles Scribner's Sons since 1881.

Mr. Scribner, 73, died at his country home here Sunday. He joined the firm founded by his father immediately after his graduation from Princeton University. He had been with it continuously since. He served as vice-president and had been president since 1928.

Arthur worked hand in hand with his brother Charles, and the two were to a large extent responsible for the American audience created for George Meredith, Robert Louis Stevenson, Sir James M. Barrie and John Galsworthy.

SNAKES FREED ON ISLE NEAR N. Y. STREETS

Boat and Tilted Wall Will Keep Reptiles Imprisoned.

By United Press
NEW YORK, July 4.—Forty-two snakes of the Bronx zoo have been set free to earn their own keep on a man-made island, with only an eighteen-inch moat and a tilted wall to keep them from New York sidewalks.

Keepers at the zoo are proud of their ingenuity in safeguarding the public, they explain, can not swim and climb at the same time, hence the moat against the wall assures adequate protection.

The principle would operate for the boa or cobra, or any other deadly serpent, keepers said, but they were quick to remonstrate, "but we won't chance it."

Only the harmless variety of snakes in the zoo were placed on the island.

SALMON LURE ACTOR

Edward Everett Horton and Director to Fish in Pacific Northwest.

By United Press
HOLLYWOOD, July 4.—Using four-ounce tackle and 40-pound lines, Edward Everett Horton, actor, and Melville Brown, director, will match their skill against the strength and wiles of salmon in the Pacific northwest.

To catch 50-pound salmon with this tackle will be their object—an achievement which will place them high in the estimation of sportsmen.

Horton is en route north by steamer to join Brown and his wife at Vancouver, B. C., where they will embark on a rented yacht for the scene of the salmon run.

Accidentally Killed at Camp

PALMERS, Ind., July 4.—While sitting in a tree-top shooting at birds, William Francis Kelley, 14-year-old Washington youth, Sunday night accidentally discharged a .22-caliber rifle into his chest. He was killed instantly. The boy's mother and younger brother witnessed the tragedy.
