G. O. P. LEADERS HIT ROOSEVELT

Campaign Talk Denounced
by Hoover Aids.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Three Republican leaders joined in week-end statements denouncing the campaign utterances of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

Treasury Secretary Ogden L. Mills, chairman Reed Smoot (Utah) of the senate finance committee, and Senator L. J. Dickinson (Ia.) Republican keynoter at Chicago, charged the Democratic presidential nominee was attempting to deceive the American public in his speech at Albany Saturday night.

"The Governor knows not whereof he speaks," Mills concluded after denying Roosevelt's assertion that the Hoover administration had resorted to currency inflation.

Smoot attacked Roosevelt's tariff proposals, declaring the Governor was attempting to "deceive the American people by the use of cunningly devised phrases and weasel words."

Dickinson accused Roosevelt of "an amazing deception upon the American people" by interpreting the Democratic platform as an endorsement of the St. Lawrence waterway project.

MOBILIZE ALL TROOPS, ORDER FOR PARAGUAY

General War Preparations
Made After Gran Chaco
Fort Is Abandoned.

By United Press

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Aug. 1.—The government decided today to order general mobilization after Paraguayan troops abandoned Ft. Boqueron, in the Gran Chaco, in the face of a Bolivian bombardment.

Newspapers and the public continued to demand war against Bolivia.

There were repeated military clashes in the Gran Chaco, the jungle territory, which has caused threat of hostilities between Paraguay and Bolivia for many years.

The cabinet decided to continue a state of siege.

It was announced that Bolivian troops began to attack on Ft. Boqueron with an artillery bombardment, beginning Sunday at 9 a. m.

The Paraguayans abandoned the port, without loss, on orders of the high command.

Paraguay claims her troops have not been guilty of aggression, and that the withdrawal was in accordance with this policy.

'How'll You Spend It?' Curb on Hunger Loans

To Get Funds, States May Be Required to Tell First
Where It'll Go.

By Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation will require states applying for emergency hunger relief loans to tell how the money is to be spent, and will make this one of its tests for granting or approving loans, its first grant of money indicates.

Before Illinois received the $3,000,000 loaned it last week, Governor Emmerson supplied the corporation with information concerning the administrative methods of the state relief commission and the allocation of funds by that commission.

Announcement to this effect by the board has surprised congressmen who framed the relief bill and state officials.

One of the disputes which held up relief legislation for many months in congress concerned expenditure of relief funds.

A considerable number of senators believed the federal government ought to have the right to scrutinize the way in which its funds were being spent, and make sure that adequate relief standards were maintained, and that funds were being used only for the purpose intended.

Others resisted this as an invasion of state rights, and their protests were so vigorous that their views finally prevailed in the legislation passed.

The relief act provides that "all amounts paid to the Governor of a state or territory under this section shall be administered by the Governor, or under his direction, and upon his responsibility."

As a safeguard from the standpoint of the federal government, the act then provided that each Governor shall file a statement of expenditures, after they have been made.

The reconstruction corporation has not disclosed what standards it has set in regard to relief expenditures, nor what sort of state plans will cause it to refuse loans.

rites set for SLAIN BONSEER

Chicago Man, Riot Victim, to Rest in Arlington.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—William J. Hushka of Chicago, who came to Washington in quest of a bonus and got a bullet in the heart instead, will be laid to rest in Arlington national cemetery with military honors.

Some of the same troopers who drove his fellow bonus marchers from their billets will file a salute over his grave Tuesday.

The war department granted permission for Hushka's burial in Arlington after checking his fingerprints and establishing beyond question his identity as a veteran of the World War. A squad of soldiers were ordered to escort the body, as is customary at all Arlington burials.

Hushka's divorced wife, Mrs. Frank Krivenko, was due here late today from Chicago. With her was their 11-year-old daughter.

GAS BAN PROPOSED

Council May Prohibit All
Deadly Fumigants.

Ordinance regulating use of lethal gases in fumigation is to be submitted to city council tonight by the safety board.

The ordinance is designed to safeguard citizens against death or injury from dangerous gases, in view of several deaths from this cause in other cities.

The proposed law would permit use of deadly hydrocyanic gas or fumigants containing it, but would require that it contain at least a 30 per cent mixture of "warning" gas.

Provision also is made regulating use of other fumigants, a permit, costing 25 cents, to be obtained from the city controller, with approval of the health board; occupants of the premises must be warned in advance, signs posted, and the rooms fumigated must be vacated at least six hours afterwar.

Persons doing the fumigation would be required to remain on the premises during the fumigation and for six hours afterward.

On the Cards

Soothsayer Who Foretold
Death Sees Widow
Going Free.

By United Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The same soothsayer who predicted the slaying of Mrs. George A. Carl's husband, and who saw in the cards that Mrs. Carl would be arrested on charge of murder, shuffled the cards again Sunday to foresee Mrs. Carl's acquittal.

Mrs. Susie Ballo, Hungarian fortune teller, drew three cards, one by one, from her deck to warn of Carl's death sixty hours before a bullet ended his life. Three more cards foretold Mrs. Carl's arrest.

Again Mrs. Ballo turned to her cards. The first showed the husband dead. The second showed the widow grieving. The third showed the friends wondering.

But the card showing the picture of the jail remained in the pack. That proved conclusively, said Mrs. Ballo, that Mrs. Carl would be freed.

The latter is held in jail with her brother, Ivan Grice. Both are charged with first degree murder.

Mrs. Carl told police that her husband was killed on July 17, less than three days after the fortune teller said he would die.

MARY PICKFORD 'TALKS IT OVER' AT AIRPORT

Indianapolis Movie Fans Meet Film
Queen in Brief Halt.

Mary Pickford, known a few years ago as "America's Sweetheart," treated a small but appreciative group of Indianapolis fans to an unannounced personal appearance Sunday when she made a brief stop at Municipal airport.

Miss Pickford was en route on a T. & W. A. plane to the west coast, where she plans to make another film, reviving the "million dollar curls" for which she was famous.

Mary confided to the group of admirers who surrounded her at the airport, while the big tri-motored plane was being refueled, that the new picture, "Secrets," which she, herself, will produce, will present her first as a little girl wearing curls, and later as a mature woman, minus curls.

At the request of T. & W. A. of which she spoke a few words over the airport microphone to a throng gathered there.
