

Campaign Luncheon to Be Held

Plans for a campaign luncheon to be held in September, are to be made at a luncheon meeting of the board of directors and committee chairmen of the Indiana Woman's Republican Club today at the Columbia club.

The business meeting, when plans for active campaign work will be made, is to follow the luncheon. Mrs. Helen Johnson Karns, president of the club, is to preside.

At the September luncheon a speaker of national reputation, whose name will be announced later, will give the main address. This luncheon will be the club's first formal move in an active campaign for the Republican party.

At the luncheon today covers are to be laid for:

Mrs. Karns, Mesdames Wolf, Susan, A. A. Kist of Portland, Spain Waymire of Anderson, O. A. Hobbs, E. E. Neal of Noblesville, George M. Bonham of Elwood, Jesse Gremelspacher of Logansport, Bert Thurman, Ovid Butler Jameson, Julia Belle Tuttle, R. Harry Miller, Henry R. Campbell, E. L. Burnett, Herbert Luckey, Ella V. Gardner, Louise Wessenberg, Omer Hawkins, Dr. Amelia Keller, Misses Jessie Leary, Pearl Randall, Adele Storck, Nellie Gray Hollowell of Pendleton, and Ida Belzer.

Entertainment Committee at Bridge Lunch

The entertainment committee of the Children's Sunshine Club of Sunnyside was entertained at a luncheon-bridge Wednesday by Mrs. W. J. Overmire, chairman, at her home, 4465 Winthrop avenue.

Arrangements were completed for the entertainment of the children of Sunnyside for the remainder of the year. The first event will be a chicken dinner picnic Saturday, Aug. 27. The guests were:

Mesdames David Jolly, George J. Hasley, William Kiesel, William C. Schaefer, Harry Knecht, Olin Carmichael, Harry Grimes, members of the committee. Mrs. Alva Chadwick, president of the club; Miss Ogareta Chase, social service nurse, and Miss Pearl Wood, nurse in charge of the children's hospital at St. Paul.

Decorations of the club colors, blue and gold, were carried out in the garden flowers, arranged on the serving tables and in the house.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. J. Duane Dungan and family, 7102 Central avenue, will leave this week-end for a visit at Lake Teicapa.

Miss Henrietta Orr, 5530 North Capitol avenue, is vacationing at Lake Wauwasee.

Mrs. John S. Fishback, 3015 North Pennsylvania street, is visiting in New York City.

Miss Louise Taylor, 1500 North Delaware street, and Mrs. E. R. Clifford, are at the Taylor lodge on Lake Garth, Hazelhurst, Wis., to spend a month's vacation.

Dr. Lewis Brown is vacationing at Muskoka lake, Canada.

Mrs. Elizabeth Prutzman, 3324 Carrollton avenue, is spending a few days in New York City.

Robert B. Rhoads arrived in New York Tuesday after a cruise to Nova Scotia aboard the S. S. Mauretania.

Mrs. Frank L. Binford, 3502 Central avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Ruckelshaus, have returned from a vacation spent at Burt Lake, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin T. Coate, 2451 Broadway, are at home after a trip to Vancouver, British Columbia, and Banff, Alberta, in Canada.

Mrs. Fred Starr is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Fischer of Terre Haute.

Mrs. Oliver A. Williams and daughter, Peggy Ann, 1511 Park avenue, have returned from a five weeks' visit in New York City.

Miss Virginia Hill, 6051 Central avenue, left Wednesday for a month's visit at Ironwood, Mich.

Visitors at the Ritz-Carlton at Atlantic City are Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Marquette, 777 North Meridian street; Mr. and Mrs. John Lindley, 1327 North Meridian street; Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Karabell, 3025 North Meridian street, and Mrs. S. E. Test, 28 East Sixteenth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Holmes and family, 2041 Broadway, have returned from a trip to Petoskey and Sault Ste. Marie.

Card Parties

Altar Society of Sacred Heart church will have its monthly card party at 8:30 Friday in St. Cecilia clubrooms. All games will be played.

PERMANENT WAVES

Two waves for the price of one plus only 1c. Bring a friend and divide the cost.

Hollywood "Push-Up" Wave $2.50
3 Waves Only $2.51

2 Alvetta Marie 2 Famous Paris Push-Up $5.01
Waves $3.01

Our Popular Standard Wave $1.00
No Extra Fringe.

25c-FINGER WAVE-25c

La Rue PERMANENT
613 Roosevelt Bldg. NO WAITING
Phone 12, 9759

City Women Express Wide Variety of Choices in Fashions

WHAT the trend of styles would be if women were given free rein to choose their own costumes, without listening to the dictates of Paris, is an interesting conjecture. One guess is as good as another.

Questioned as to their personal preferences in wearing apparel, ten women prominent in Indianapolis today gave varied and interesting replies.

Mrs. Thor Wessenberg, president of the Woman's Council of Butler university, is a devotee of the present mode. "We could not revive any of the old styles—Greek or empire—without revising our whole mode of living. The styles today are adapted to all types of women—slim and stout, tall and short. They do not hamper one's freedom and are so adaptable to the occasion."

Mrs. Frank B. Hunter, president of the Indiana Federation of Music Clubs and prominent singer, chooses the feminine, graceful models. "I can't remember any time when the styles were any prettier than at present."

"The normal lines which influence the present styles are much more becoming than the exaggerated lines of the bustle and wasp-waist periods. The long flowing evening styles are beautiful, feminine and flattering. I dislike the extreme short skirt and the mannish affectations."

Mrs. Everett M. Schofield, retiring president of the Woman's Department Club, says that she likes the skirt lines at present in vogue, and particularly admires the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

Marlene Dietrich, Helen Hayes and Tallulah Bankhead, pictured above, are actresses who prefer very different types of fashion. Helen would have crinolines of 1850 return. Marlene would have the Empress Josephine fashion-period revive, and Tallulah likes the modes of today, casual lines and such.

My train in my girlhood. I never should want to see that fashion return," said Mrs. Chic Jackson, prominent lecturer and reader. "Women are getting away from being slaves to fashion, and modify their wardrobes in accordance with their personal characteristics."

"The styles today are more artistic because they are natural—they are made to fit the figure, instead of making our figures fit the styles. In the old days of padding and squeezed-in waists."

Mrs. EVERETT M. SCHOFIELD, retiring president of the Woman's Department Club, says that she likes the skirt lines at present in vogue, and particularly admires the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman the appearance of being better groomed than does long hair.

"Present styles are very pretty. Long dresses are more feminine, and the small hats give the wearer a better chance to show character."

Mrs. Robert L. Moorhead, club woman, and wife of the Republican state senator from Marion county, says, "The present styles are lovely, though I used to like the Merry Widows and the long kid gloves of that period."

"I do not like short skirts, though

the softly draped necklines so popular of late.

"My favorite style dress," she says, "is the silk coat dress, though I also like suits of tweed and woolen materials. I like my shoes to be oxford or strap clippers, and abhor pumps. I think the colors and materials now being used are more beautiful than they ever have been."

Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, well-known contralto soloist, says, "Veils are very flattering to most women, and I would like to see more of them worn. I like ostrich feathers, not on hats, but in boas, to be worn close around the neck."

She believes that short hair, properly cared for, is much prettier and gives a woman