

Working for Congress of Club Women

Mrs. Edwin N. Canine, Terre Haute, president of the Indiana Federation of Clubs, has sent requests to clubwomen throughout the state, urging them to continue their efforts in obtaining signatures on the petition to foreign countries, asking them to send representatives to the international congress of women in 1933 in Chicago.

The congress is to be held in connection with the Century of Progress Exposition.

Time limit for getting signatures has been extended until the opening of the congress. It is the desire of the National Council of Women, which is sponsoring the project, to obtain a million signatures from the club women of America. The halfway mark has been passed.

The congress has been indorsed by the General Federation of Clubs, with which the Indiana federation is affiliated.

The local solicitation for names is being directed by Mrs. John P. Cochrane and Mrs. M. Earl Robbins of the Indianapolis Council of Women. The May Wright Sewall Council of Women, with Mrs. Mary E. Kynett as president, also is working on the project.

Financing of the program is by the Postal Telegraph Company.

MANNERS AND MORALS BY JANE JORDAN

YOUNG girls, bring your problems to Jane Jordan, who will answer your letters in this column every day.

Dear Jane Jordan—I read your "Manners and Morals" with interest. Oh, how some of your counsels strike home, such as warnings against jealousy. I'm not by nature a jealous girl, but once in a while I have to fight the green-eyed monster as far as one boy is concerned.

What can I do to raise my self-esteem? I've always felt inferior until this last summer, when I really have mingled with and enjoyed the companionship of many good friends. I feel I'm on the way to recovery, but how to spell it up is the burning issue.

I read your column and I'm sure a boy who has tried to get fresh with me I feel sorry for him and kid him out of it. I often feel later that I should have been more angry and never speak to him again.

J. B. R.

Dear J. B. R.—There are, of course, many ways to raise your own self-esteem and speed up the cure of your inferiority complex. I say cure, yet I do not believe there is any permanent cure for the inferiority complex.

As soon as you get it licked on one point, it breaks out in another. Everybody, from highest to lowest, suffers at times from a sense of his own inadequacy.

Do not get the idea that you are alone with your feelings of inferiority, for no one escapes the taint of insecurity. It is as if the world were too much for the mind of man, who never has felt quite equal to the demands it makes upon his ingenuity. His wobbly ego always has been afraid of the complications of life.

Even the greatest braggart with the most cocksure manner is no closer to a feeling of security than you are. He brags to convince himself that he is good. The grandest superiority complex in the world is nothing but an elaborate cover-up for the old familiar feeling of inadequacy.

If you will remember that everybody has this feeling to combat in varying degrees, it will help you to feel less self-conscious. You try helping to put others at their ease by raising their self-esteem. They will respond by liking you, which raises yours, and so on in happy circle.

Why in the world should you dislike a boy because he tried to get fresh? If you only were able to like boys for their decorum, your masculine friends soon would be as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth.

Any healthy, adventuresome male is apt to try his prowess with a lady. Your attitude is exactly right. Kid him out of it without seeming too prudish.

##

Dear Jane Jordan—We are 14 and 15 years of age and are leading a very miserable life. We have no mother, and keep house for our middle-aged father. We have tried every way to please him, but it seems that it is almost unbearable. He thinks we should be satisfied day after day doing our housework. He is a good provider, but lacks fatherly love.

Would we be justified in leaving at our age to work for our living? He doesn't seem to care whether we leave or not, because he says he has said we were his biggest loss. We feel that if we don't care how hard we work, just so we are away from his constant nagging. What shall we do?

RICHMOND SISTERS.

Dear Richmond Sisters—Mark time just a little longer. At this period of the world's history, full-grown adults find it difficult and often impossible to earn enough to supply the simplest essentials of life. What would two little girls do?

Of course it is hard to live when you're hungry for love. But it's even harder to live when you're hungry for love and food, too. Of course, life seems dark and dreary to you now, but believe me it would look even worse on an empty stomach!

It isn't as if this trying situation was all to which you had to look forward. Each year you grow older and wiser and closer to your own independence.

In the meantime, you have each other, a warm house, an ample diet to eat. That's something. And, the future is apt to be full of good things for you both.

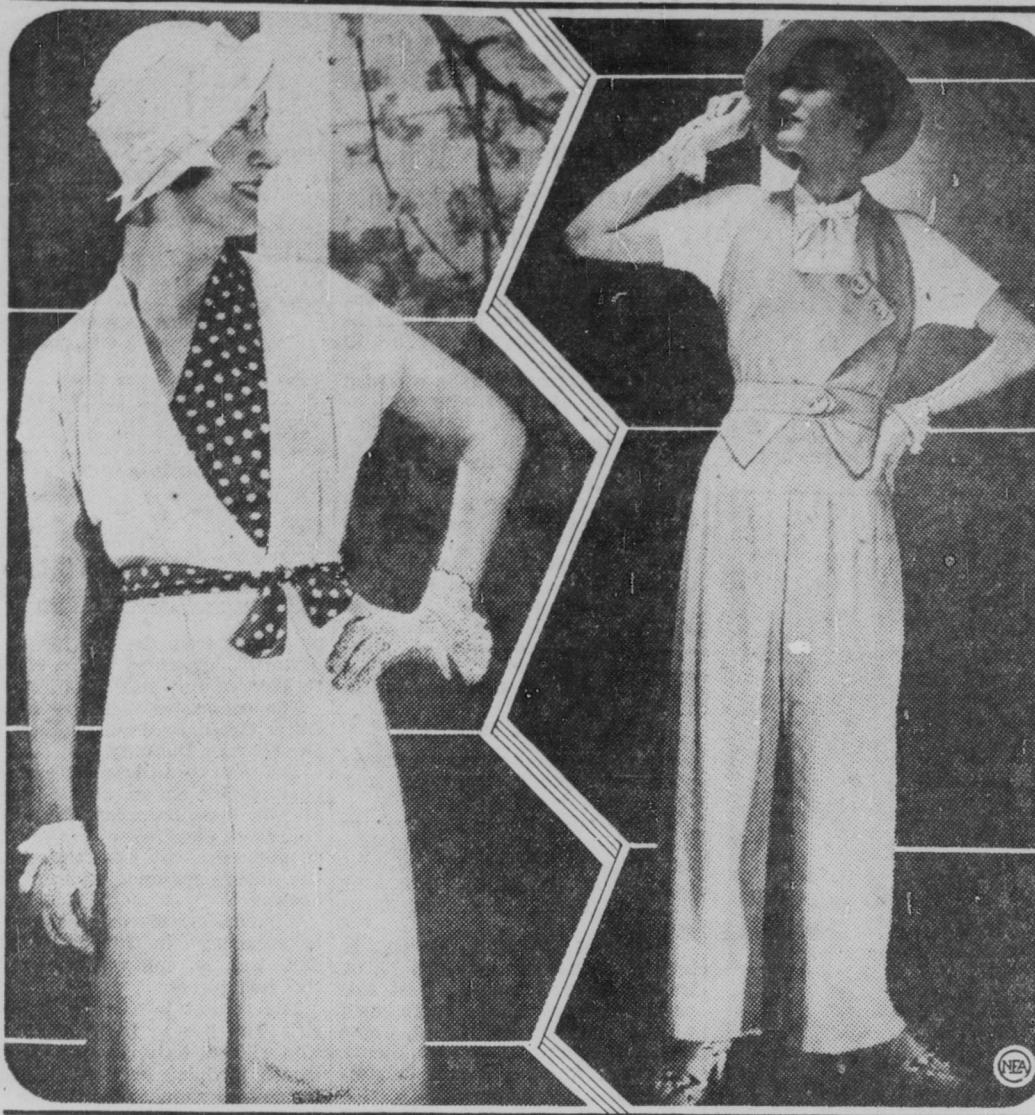

DOROTHY H. GOLD

WEDS STATE MAN

Indianapolis residents who attended the wedding of Miss Dorothy Hanna Gold and John Henry Coahran at Crawfordsville Sunday are Mr. and Mrs. John Coulter and son, John Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Maurice O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield Wynn, Mrs. L. A. Huddleston, Miss Mary E. Huddleston, and Chris Huddleston.

The Rev. L. A. Huddleston, pastor of the Calvary U. B. church here, officiated.

Ensembles Stunning as Resort Wear

Two stunning new resort ensembles are pictured here. The one at left, completed by an all-white felt hat and knitted gloves, shows a new idea of the dotted accessory in the form of a one-sided gilet in white chine with white dots. The accordion-pleated here. The one at left, completed by an all-white silk anita and a pale blue felt hat.

Doris Skinner Is Married to Robt. Anderson

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Doris Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Dumas, 1641 Brabury avenue, to Robert Anderson, son of Mrs. Mary Anderson, Indianapolis, which took place Monday in Elizabethtown.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Andrews of Elizabethtown. A program of bridal songs were sung by Mrs. Andrews.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left for a trip through the east. They will be at home in Indianapolis, Indianapolis persons who attended the wedding are:

Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Dumas, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dumas, Mrs. Frank J. Woodbeck, Mrs. H. G. Hennessey, Mrs. C. F. Reynolds, Mrs. Melvin Ross, Miss Opal Winkler, Stanley Skinner and Paul Bennett.

Costume Ball Marks Close of 1932 Camp Dellwood Season

Close of the 1932 camping season at the Girl Scout camp, Dellwood, was marked with a costume ball and fair Tuesday night at the camp.

Following the festivities, Miss Marjorie Bell, junior counselor, was awarded the Dyer medal for proficiency in scouting and excellence in performance of duties, which is given annually to the outstanding junior counselor.

The award is a large trophy plaque, shaped like the Girl Scout emblem, and is presented by C. B. Dyer, a member of the camp committee. It is the highest honor given to an individual scout.

The winner is chosen by the camp committee and Miss Jean Adamson, camp director, from a list recommended by senior counselees at Dellwood.

Miss Bell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Bell, and has been active in scouting for seven years. Her troop leader is Mrs. Charles Cole.

The fair was arranged to resemble a typical county fair, with the booths planned and constructed by various units of the camp. Costumes were made by the scouts. A feature act, presented by the sixteen junior counselors, followed the fair. After the entertainment, when the scouts had retired, the counselors gave a farewell serenade.

The camp was closed for the year this afternoon. During the season more than 400 Indianapolis Girl Scouts attended the camp.

Miss Joan Grimes is visiting Mr. and Mrs. David Butler at Lebanon.

Miss Marcella Moore, 5350 North New Jersey street, and Miss Joan Stedfeld spent the week-end at Lake Manitou.

Frank X. Garaghan and daughter, Miss Frances Garaghan, 1221 Broadway, visited relatives at Washington, Ind., this week-end.

Jesse G. Garrison, who has been an instructor at the University of Wisconsin, will come this week to visit Dr. and Mrs. Fletcher Hodges, 3160 North Pennsylvania street, before going on to Colgate university, where he has accepted a position. Mrs. Gertrude Hodges, the former Ann Hodges, will arrive later to visit her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lange, 37 East Fifty-second street, have returned to New York after a weekend cruise to Noa Scotia on the S. S. Aquitania.

Jack Hendricks Jr. of New York is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hendricks, 1 East Thirty-sixth street.

John Metzger of Miami, who has been the guest of E. Howard Cadle and family, 5207 North Meridian street, has gone to Chicago for a few days. He will return to Indianapolis before going south for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Anderson and daughter, Jean, 3309 North Capitol avenue, have returned from a visit with Miss Julia McCuaig at McIndoo.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Druliner, 3148 Park avenue, have gone on a motor trip through the southern states with Mrs. Russell McKane of Franklin.

Mrs. Russell Miller and daughter are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Allen of Sullivan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Harding, 11 West Twenty-eighth street, have as their guest Edward Dean Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Watson of Vincennes.

Miss Dorothy Nickelson of Peru is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Garske, 5248 College avenue.

Miss Janet Clish is visiting Miss Suzanne Bowerfield of Ft. Wayne.

DONNA BROWN,

D. S. DAVIS WED

The marriage of Miss Donna Brown, son of C. Fred Davis, took place Saturday afternoon in the McKeen chapel of the Tabernacle Presbyterian church with the Rev. J. Ambrose Dunkel officiating in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends.

After a wedding trip to Michigan, they will be at home in Indianapolis. Mr. Davis attended Wabash college where he is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Many players now make the mistake of finessing the jack, trying to catch the queen.

If he does this, West will win the trick with the queen and then return the ten of clubs.

Remember, your first obligation as a declarer is to make your contract gamble for overtricks after that.

The Bidding

When employing the one over one system, the bidding would be South

(Copyright, 1932, N.E.A. Service, Inc.)

Card Parties

Two CITY GIRLS AT WISCONSIN CAMP

St. Philip Neri Altar Society will give a card party at 8:30 tonight in the auditorium. Mrs. John Welch is in charge.

St. Mary's Social Club will entertain with cards and lotto Thursday afternoon in the school hall, 315 North New Jersey street.

Ladies' Society, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, will give a card party at 8:30 Thursday night in McClain hall. State and Hoyt avenues.

Reunion to Be Held

The annual Kentucky reunion will be held Sunday afternoon at Garfield park. A program will be presented at 2 with Mrs. John Flora in charge.

Contract Bridge

BY W. E. MCKENNEY
Secretary American Bridge League

TO finess or not to finess, or which way to finess, is the constant problem confronting every bridge player.

However, there are many hands in which a finess should not be taken. For example, in the following hand, regardless of whether the queen of clubs is in the East or the West hand, the declarer must not finess, because if the finess fails the West's opening lead would be a spade, which East would win with the ace. East would return the four of diamonds which South, the declarer, would win with the queen.

A small club then is led and won with dummy's king, and then a small club returned from dummy, East playing the nine.

Many players now make the mistake of finessing the jack, trying to catch the queen.

If he does this, West will win the trick with the queen and then return the ten of clubs.

Remember, your first obligation as a declarer is to make your contract gamble for overtricks after that.

The Bidding

When employing the one over one system, the bidding would be South

(Copyright, 1932, N.E.A. Service, Inc.)

Ensembles Stunning as Resort Wear

City Church to Be Scene of Wedding

Christ Episcopal church will be the scene at 8:30 tonight of the marriage of Miss Margaret Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jenkins, to Dr. Martin L. Ruth.

The altar will be arranged with palms and large vases of white flowers. Pews for the family and members of the Kati Ascho Club will be tied with white satin ribbon.

Cheston Heath, organist, will play bridal airs preceding the ceremony.

As the vows are heard, he will play "To a Wild Rose."

Miss Lynn Attendant

The Rev. J. T. Crosbie of Vincennes will perform the ceremony.

The bride will wear a white French crepe gown, with pleated skirt and bolero jacket, and a tulip veil with a lace cap. Her flowers will be white roses and sweet peas.

The attendant will be Miss Doris Lynn. Her gown of pink net and Spanish lace will be fashioned with a flounce and jacket of lace. She will wear a maline turban of deeper pink and carry deep pink roses and asters. Oren Sned will be best man.

A reception will be held at the Jenkins' home, 1331 South East street, for relatives and close friends. Members of the Kati Ascho club will assist.

Bride Is Teacher

The wedding table will be centered with the tiered cake and arranged with white appointments and decorations. Miss Noina Mueller, violinist, and Miss Louise McCormick, pianist, will play.

The couple will leave for a trip to Yellowstone park. She will travel in a brown wool crepe suit with brown accessories. They will be at home after Sept. 1.

The bride, a teacher in the city schools, attended Butler and Columbia universities. Dr. Ruth is a graduate of Butler and the Indiana university medical school.

City Church to Be Scene of Wedding

What's in Fashion?

Higher-Cut Lines on Smart Shoes

Directed By AMOS PARRISH

English ivy cascading from the mantle of the fireplace, interspersed with white flowers and a banking of ferns formed the setting for the marriage of Miss Lydia Louise Paul and Henry E. Todd at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bruce Paul, 3228 Washington boulevard.

Standards holding cathedral tapers burned at the sides of the improvised altar, where the Rev. J. Ambrose Dunkle heard the vows.

The bride wore her travel suit of king blue triple sheer cloth. The trimming and accessories were white. She wore a shoulder corsage of white orchids and gardenias.

Breakfast After Ceremony

Miss Frances Lemaux

Miss Frances Lemaux

Miss Frances Lemaux

Miss Frances Lemaux

Miss Frances Lemaux