

LEGISLATURE ENDS SESSION; DRYS TRIUMPH

Repeal Bill Dies; Governor's Veto Is Forecast for Utility Measure.

The Nejd motion be tabled and this was done, by a 19 to 15 vote. Openly and without equivocation, Nejd, speaking on his motion to discharge the committee, said that no attempt to confer with the house wets had been made by the senate drys.

"The senate's conference committee evaded meetings with Weiss Saturday afternoon, Sunday and all day today," he said. "They attempted to use the repeal bill as a means to log roll some of their own measures, promising to compromise if the house would suspend rules and push through their pet bills."

"Our committee of drys made no effort to compromise. Why, I never have traded a vote in the many years that I have been a member of this body, yet one of the members of the conference committee asked me to go to the house and bring out one of its pet measures."

Weiss, in reporting back to the house in the afternoon, had explained the situation and asked that the first committee, composed of himself and Representative Howard S. Grimm (Rep.), Auburn, be discharged, because Representative Miles Furnas, Republican whip, would not permit Grimm to meet with him.

Committee Is Discharged

Speaker Walter Myers discharged this committee and then appointed Weiss and Ryan.

Although the public utility measure is in the hands of Leslie for executive approval or veto, sponsors said they feared Ogden will rule the provisions unconstitutional. The bill removes municipally owned utilities from public service commission control.

Ogden ruled the original bill unconstitutional before it was amended. My conference committee of both houses.

Under the utility bill, cities and towns would be required to conduct elections to determine whether the municipality desires to purchase or establish a utility, after 5 per cent of the legal voters have filed petitions.

$1.50 Tax Bill Stands

Legislators adjourned without enacting any modification of the $1.50 property tax limitation law. Attempt to raise the state rate from 15 to 20 cents was thwarted and the only added revenues provided are from the pari-mutuel betting bill, which is expected to contribute several hundred thousand dollars to the state school fund.

Report was abroad that the Governor may veto the measure. The board of agriculture was reported to be seeking to kill the measure because no revenue is provided for it.

House bills providing for intangibles and income taxes were turned down by the senate on the last day, and the special committee drafting a sales tax failed to report.

Tax relief measures enacted are estimated to have slashed $12,500,000 from the total budgets, which would mean at least a 25-cent saving on the average property rate of $2.82.

HOUSE CLERK VOTED BONUS PAY OF $750

But Women Who Do Actual Work Are Refused $1 a Day.

Although the house of representatives refused to vote a $1 a day bonus for permanent employees during the special session, it voted an additional $750 to Dick Heller, its clerk, for indexing the journal.

At the end of the sixty-one day session of 1931 Heller was voted more than $900 for indexing journal, and it was at that time that the journal was almost one year late in issuance.

Heller also received his regular pay of $6 a day for the forty days of the special session. The special pay was voted on motion of Representative R. Earl Crawford (Dem.), Milton, sponsor and fighter for the budget slash and other economy bills.

Women in the journal room who do the actual work of compiling the record get no extra pay for the work which they must complete before they are discharged.

Test of new equipment consisting of a truck, a semi-trailer and trailer, weighing twenty tons, and capable of carrying a load double its weight, will be made at the Speedway at 10 Wednesday morning by officials of the Marmont-Herrington Company, Inc., and representatives of the American Automobile Association.

One hundred feet in length and equipped with thirty tires, the equipment was built for the Iraq Petroleum Company to be used in construction of a 1,200-mile pipeline across the Syrian desert.

INDICT EIGHT IN MINE DEATH

Witnesses for Defense in Earlier Trials Accused.

By Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance
HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 16.—With five miners already sentenced to life imprisonment for conspiracy to murder Jim Daniels, Black Mountain Coal Company guard, eight others have been indicted on the same charge.

All eight were defense witnesses in the earlier trials. They had not been mentioned in connection with the alleged murder conspiracy until after giving their testimony intended to help free their fellow miners.

The charges grew out of a battle between coal company men and striking miners in Evans in May, 1931.

The general defense committee, which is directing defense of the miners, charges that the convictions "clearly are the result of a frame-up engineered by the coal mine operators of Harlan county with the aim of smashing industrial unionism in the Cumberland valley fields."

William Hudson, fifth man convicted in the murder trials, was tried by a "bluegrass jury," as were three of the four men found guilty earlier.

The defense committee charges that the cases were transferred from a mining region to one where there is little sympathy for organized labor.

After Waymire lost control of the car, it left the street and tore down 100 feet of fence and entered a field, where it turned over, throwing the occupants out, and then righted itself and struck a tree, 500 feet from the road.

STATE BONUS ARMY LINK TO KLAN IS DENIED

Doak Carter Will Be Asked to Address Meeting in Cadle Tabernacle.

"The bonus army is not in politics, and is not affiliated with any other organization and most emphatically has no alliance with the Ku-Klux Klan," E. U. Campbell, commander of the local unit, declared today after stating that he received reports that an opposite situation existed.

Campbell announced that an automobile was sent today to Huntington, W. Va., to bring Doak Carter, chief of the B. E. F. staff, to Indianapolis to address a meeting in Cadle tabernacle, date of which has not been determined.

Fifty-six persons are living on the bonus army camp ground in Brown county, and the work of building quarters from timber cut from the land is in progress. There are forty-four men, three women and nine children at the camp.
