

Planking Is Attractive in Cookery

BY SISTER MARY

NEA Service Writer
Plank cookery always is interesting. The effect on serving is decidedly sumptuous, although there is no great amount of work involved.

In fact, a plank really is a labor-saving device, because it saves so many serving dishes and simplifies serving.

Fish is particularly attractive served "planked" during the summer months. Salmon steaks with spinach timbales make an appetizing picture.

Delightful color contrasts can be worked out with other varieties of fish, and spinach long has been regarded with high favor, the food value of the combination is unusual.

The foods are both seasonal during the early summer and are inexpensive and nourishing.

Keep Food Hot

While the use of a plank is not imperative, it is a convenience and tends to keep foods hot.

If a plank is not used, the fish can be broiled and served on a platter surrounded with the vegetables. Crisp parsley and lemon wedges add an extra touch of color when the dish is served.

Use care not to overcrowd a plank. The temptation to use a variety of vegetables is apt to befall one, and a too copious arrangement makes serving difficult at the table.

The following recipe is for salmon, but any variety of fish can be used—such as broiled trout and deep-sea fish, as well as deep-sea fish cut in steaks and fillets.

PLANKED SALMON

Two slices salmon, 3 hard cooked eggs, 1 cup white sauce, 1 lemon. Butter both sides of salmon with olive oil and brown evenly on both sides. Then remove to hot oiled plank, placing one steak on plank. Sprinkle with lemon juice and cover with a layer of eggs cut in slices and moistened with white sauce. Cover with second slice of salmon and sprinkle with lemon juice. Surround with vegetables and put into a hot oven for five or ten minutes to make very hot. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and wedges of lemon and serve.

SPINACH TIMBALES

Spinach timbales will be good with a planked steak, planked ham, and broiled chicken, as well as fish. Two pounds spinach, 1 teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, yolks 3 eggs.

Wash spinach through many waters and remove coarse stalks and stems. Cook in water which clings to leaves. Let water cook away as much as possible without burning.

Drain and chop very fine. Season with lemon juice, sugar, salt and pepper and add egg yolks well beaten. Turn into buttered individual molds. Place on several thicknesses of paper in a pan of hot water and bake in oven for twenty minutes. Unmold and serve.

Border planks with a piping of mashed potatoes or alternate the timbales with mounds of potato marbles.

Serve Hollandaise sauce in a separate dish for the timbales.

Buttered baby beets may be included with the vegetables on the plank if a salad is not wanted.

Serve a fruit dessert such as an ice or sherbet or a compote.

Prize Beauty

Joan Myers

Miss Joan Myers, representing the Esprit d'Amour Hygienic Toilet Requisites Company, was selected as Miss Indianapolis of 1932 in the Indianapolis merchants' bathing beauty review at the Circle theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. She was presented with a silver loving cup.

Miss Audrey Foley of the Central Beauty college won second place and Miss Mardene Hess of the South Park Refreshment Company was third. Miss Foley received a baguette wrist watch and Miss Hess a necklace and bracelet from the Miller Jewelry Company.

These three girls were selected from a group of 125 who participated in the review. Judges were Hillary Bailey, photographer; Mrs. Jewel Adams, president of the State Association of Cosmetologists; George Lipp, athletic director at the Hoosier Athletic Club, and William Ransdell, display manager of L. Strauss & Co.

DEPORTATION LOOMING

Deportation to Italy may be the fate of James Farduto, Italian, of Beech Grove, who was nabbed by federal dry agents Thursday night on charges of having more than 900 quarts of bottled and brewing beer in his home.

Agents testifying before Howard S. Young, United States commissioner, today said Farduto has not been naturalized and said the case will be referred to immigration authorities for action. However, Young bound Farduto to the grand jury on $5,000 bond.

Antique Reproductions

Directed By AMOS PARRISH

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—No need now to envy the possessor of family antiques. Not even the expert can have it at the interest factor of what the original would cost—if it were for sale.

The lines of the pieces are copied exactly. Care is taken to match the graining of the original wood and it is waxed, polished, and hand-rubbed just as it was in the old days.

Even the patina, the soft glow on the surface of old-well-cared-for woods . . . is achieved in these fine reproductions.

Workmanship Is Careful

Not does the fact that the pieces are made by machine, instead of laboriously by hand cheapen the result. Good reproductions are as well made as was ever a chair or table from the workshop of Chippendale, Sheraton, Hepplewhite, or any of the famous cabinet makers.

In fact, the use of machines sometimes adds to the piece, since certain phases of the work can be performed with a precision that is impossible by hand.

Put some of these fine reproductions in the room with genuine antiques. You'll see that they blend in perfectly.

Perhaps you have some lovely Duncan Phyfe chairs. Add a reproduction sofa and a table or two. Or around a handsome old table, group a Hepplewhite or Queen Anne chair, a Chippendale sofa and a Queen Anne coffee-table—and there where every advantage has been utilized in making storage safe.

Cleanliness is sanitation. A sanitary establishment of necessity is a clean one. It is secured by what is in a home would be called good housekeeping, aided by special fumigation methods the home seldom can have. So in the Shank establishment, good housekeeping is the rule, assured by the fact a woman is at the head of the business—Mrs. Lew Shank.

Individual locker service, a moth-proof vault provided with ample burglary protection for valuable articles, a lockbox vault for smaller articles, a burglar proof vault for oriental rugs and a vault for drapes which are kept in a hanging position, the doors of both vaults having the added tear gas burglary protection, are among the provisions.

Special storage rooms, kept at an even heat all the time, protect pianos and other articles affected by changes of temperature.

In the forwarding department the company has the services of many trucks, through their agency, the Allied Van Lines, Inc., for very long hauls, shorter hauls being taken care of by their own trucks.

Goods are shipped to any part of the United States, even being taken care of by airplane when necessary.

A branch office is maintained at 194 Rue Championnet, Paris, for the accommodation of Americans traveling in Europe, from which shipment will be sent anywhere in the world.

Unnecessary luggage is stored in the Paris office, which also acts as a receiving depot for any purchases made abroad.

C. OF C. WILL STUDY JEUP ECONOMY PLAN

Proposals for Saving $750,000 in 1933 Considered by Committee.

Sub-committee on tax reduction, consisting of seven members of the civic affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce, has accepted for consideration the plan of city government and budgeting prepared by B. J. Jeup, former city engineer.

Reduction of $750,000, a 13-cent tax rate cut for 1933, is said by Jeup to be possible under the program submitted to the Chamber of Commerce.

Major points of the plan include appointment of an "assistant mayor" who would fulfill duties of a city manager, establishment of a civil service commission to select city employees, consolidation of departments in city government for greater efficiency and reduced overhead, and elimination of long-time bond issues.

Drapes and Wallpaper

If you have figured wall paper in any room, and wall paper is staging a revival, glazed chintz in a plain color that repeats one of the colors in your paper makes effective draperies. You can buy these draperies ready made, trimmed with pleatings of a contrasting color—such as green with yellow colors, brown with eggshell, red with white, and so on.

Cooking Vegetables

Vegetables will cook more quickly and retain their flavor better if they are placed in boiling water, instead of cold water, for cooking.

West should go up with the nine in an endeavor to hold the trick, so he can come through the diamonds, but North would play the hand off—the three spot will allow him to go through the North hand.

The nine of diamonds will be won with dummy's king.

Some players now would make the mistake of leading a heart to declarer's ace to take the club finesse, but you can see that, regardless of the distribution, a club trick must be lost, therefore the proper play is to lose it immediately and the five of clubs should be played from dummy.

East now would better cash his queen of diamonds, or he will lose it, and the declarer wins the remaining tricks, making four no trump.

North then should bid two no trump, because he has the diamond suit stopped. South then would take the contract to three no trump.

The bidding

The contract bidding would be South one club, West pass, North one heart. South then would bid one spade. Here we have two one-over-one bids—each forcing.

North then should bid two no trump.
