

RUDY VALLEE'S BRIDE OF YEAR TO ASK DIVORCE

"One Girl in the World" Will Start West Friday; Reno Probable Stop.

By United Press
NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Rudy Vallee's "one girl in the world" will start for California Friday with a one-way ticket permitting a possible stopover in Reno.

The former Fay Webb, who became the crooning star's bride a year ago, is "contemplating a divorce," according to the glum announcement of the Vallee attorney, Herman Bushel.

"Mr. and Mrs. Vallee have had marital differences," Bushel said.

Accompanying Rudy's erstwhile "home girl" will be her father, Clarence Webb, Santa Monica police chief, who has been living with his daughter in the Vallee penthouse here.

Second Marital Adventure

Rudy, who is on a stage tour "somewhere in New England," may not even see his wife off on her trip back to where he met her while making a movie.

Vallee, a Bumford Falls (Me.) boy, began his second marital adventure in July, 1931.

His first marriage to Mrs. Leonie Cauchous McCoy, ended after three weeks. But his second was not going to fail, he said.

"Our romance will last forever and ever—and even longer," he declared.

So the hearts of a million young women were "broken" when Vallee embraced the slender and beautiful Fay Webb, an actress.

"Although she has a theatrical type of beauty," the Yale man said, "she is just a plain home girl. She will stay at home and read and cook and sew for me."

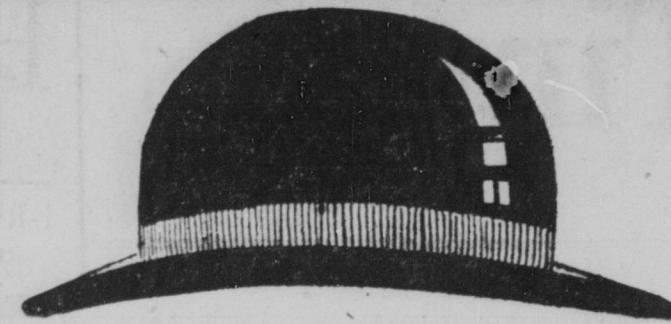

California-Bound Friday

At that time, the plain home girl was wearing a simple little four-karat diamond on her hand, and an unostentatious platinum and diamond bracelet around one shapely ankle.

"A little kiss each morning" lasted for just a week. Then Rudy announced that in order to keep his theatrical engagements he and his bride would have to live apart.

In response to rumors of an estrangement at that time, Vallee said: "My love for my wife has grown stronger every day."

"However, she will be California-bound on Friday."

'Slavery' Is Charged on Flood Control Projects

Negro Workers Paid 10 Cents Hour 12 Hours a Day, Says Report.

By Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Major-General Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, is having new charges of "virtual slavery" among workers on Mississippi flood control projects investigated, but no report has yet been made to him.

The new complaints reached him through official channels from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which charged that "Negro workers in the flood control camps along the Mississippi river are being paid an average wage of 10 cents on hour for a twelve-hour day and a seven-day week," and that "conditions of 'virtual slavery' exist in the camps."

"At one camp two men were whipped for refusing to work at night after working all day. Brutality was reported in about half the camps visited.

"Very little attention is given sanitary facilities for Negroes, although white workers are fairly well cared for."

Lad Accused of Burglary
Charges of burglary and larceny were filed today by detectives against Walter Easter, 16, of 801 East St. Clair street, alleged to have stolen an electric drill valued at $90 from the Capitol Ice Company, 935 East result of an earlier inquiry, conducted on similar charges made through the American Federation of Labor some months ago, certain conditions of wages and work environment were declared remedied.

The department does insist, however, it was said, that prevailing wage scales be paid.

The new complaint charges that "camp commissary prices are from 100 to 500 per cent of regular store prices."

"In a Mississippi camp," the association's report says, "the contractor himself took the lead in brutal treatment. Whippings are said to occur daily."

"At one camp two men were whipped for refusing to work at night after working all day. Brutality was reported in about half the camps visited.

"Very little attention is given sanitary facilities for Negroes, although white workers are fairly well cared for."

At the war department it was learned that there may be some learning being done along the levees for which 10 cents an hour is paid.

However, the department itself does not permit such pay nor such long hours among workers it hires directly.

It holds that it has no rights over contractors except those stipulated in the contracts, although as the North street.

McAdoo's Fate Up to Voters

BY HARRY W. SHARPE
United Press Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Fractional strife within the Democratic party and a wet-dry fight in Republican ranks created bitterness and enthusiasm as Californians voted today to nominate candidates for United States senator, congressmen, state legislature and the appellate bench.

The old political rivalry of William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, and former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, was a major issue in the Democratic senatorial race.

McAdoo, himself a candidate, opposed Justice S. Wardell, San Francisco, recognized until the recent Democratic national convention as nominal head of the party in California.

Wardell, Smith supporter in 1928, campaigned for Franklin D. Roosevelt and headed the ticket which sought to win California's convention vote for the New Yorker.

McAdoo blocked this movement, however, and won the state's delegation for John N. Garner.

Shortly after this, and just prior to the national convention, McAdoo announced his own candidacy and armed with California's forty-four votes for Garner, he went to the convention.

Wardell, Smith supporter in 1928, was intensified further by announcement Monday that Smith had endorsed Wardell's candidacy.

Smith later telephoned denial that he intended to interfere in any way in the California race.

Wardell is an avowed wet. McAdoo personally dry, recently announced he favored resubmission, and this further drew Wardell's ire.

Other candidates in the Democratic senatorial race were the Rev. Robert (Fighting Bob) Shriver, Methodist preacher of Los Angeles, and an ardent dry, Maurice J. McCarthy, Los Angeles; Parson M. Abbott, Los Angeles, and Annie Riley Hale, Alameda.

In the five-cornered Republican senatorial race, Senator Samuel Shortridge, incumbent, was opposed by State Senator Tallant Tubb, an avowed wet; Congressman Joe Crail, Los Angeles dry; the Rev. Shuler, who also is running on the prohibition ticket, and Leo V. Longworth, Culver City lawyer and farmer.
