

Dinner to Be Held for Bridal Pair

Francis Trail Hodges will entertain tonight with a dinner party at the Indianapolis Athletic Club in honor of Miss Sarah Margaret Moore and Fletcher Hodges Jr., the host's brother, who will be married Saturday at the Second Presbyterian church.

The table will be centered with a plate of pink roses. Place cards will carry out the bridal theme and baskets of candies will mark each place. Guests will include the bridal party and:

Mrs. Jesse James Garrison, matron of honor; the Misses Catherine Carson of Brooklyn, N. Y., Margaret White, Sumner, N. J.; Katharine Stryker, New York; Dorothy Anne Rucker and Mrs. Oscar Jones Jr., bridesmaids; John Mason Moore, John Fletcher, Oscar Jones, James Cunningham, ushers, and Robert Geddes.

The host will be best man at the wedding. The bride's father, Arthur C. Moore, will give a bridal dinner in honor of the couple Friday night.

Personals

Charles M. Leslie, 406 North Gladstone avenue, and his daughter, Mrs. E. P. Endsley, and Richard Endsley, have returned from a two weeks' visit with Mrs. Cora Walker of Columbus, O., and Mr. and Mrs. James Holden of Buckeye Lake, O.

Miss Sarah Margaret Le Gore has returned from a three month tour of Europe, visiting Paris, Switzerland, the north Italian lakes, the Austrian Tyrol, the Dolomites, and southern Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Kurt F. Pantzer, 4525 North Delaware street, are at the Roosevelt while in New York.

Alan W. Boyd, 532 East Fifty-eighth street, is in New York.

Miss Pauline Anderson of Ft. Worth, Tex., is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Zried, 1733 North Meridian street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lemasters, 815 Tecumseh place, have returned from a several days' trip to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Barrett, 3508 North Pennsylvania street; Mrs. Ida Langenscamp and Paul Shaffer have returned from a vacation at Lake Wawasee.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Hall, 4833 Guilford avenue, have returned from a visit with their daughter, Frank L. McNutt and daughters, Frances, Margaret, Mary Jane and Barbara of Oak Park, Ill.

Mrs. Albert E. Davis, 51 West Forty-second street, has returned from New York, where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Donald B. Woodward and Mr. Woodward.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Warfel, 4817 Broadway, have returned from Hyannis, Mass., where they spent a vacation.

Miss Martha Jane Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Baker, 5155 North Capitol avenue, left today for De Pauw university.

Miss Jeanne Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Edwards, 530 East Twenty-fifth street, will leave this week to enter the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Charles M. Leslie, his daughter, Mrs. E. P. Endsley, and her son, Richard Endsley, 406 North Gladstone avenue, have returned from a visit in Columbus, O., with Mrs. Cora Walker, and from Buckeye Lake, O., where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Holden.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Van Nuys, Grandview drive, guests during the holiday week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Parke of South Bend.

Miss Martha Tawalt of Vincennes is visiting at the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority house at Butler university this week before going to Urbana to continue her studies at the University of Illinois. Miss Tawalt formerly attended Butler.

Mrs. Edith Robinson who has been spending the summer with Mrs. W. B. Robinson of Vincennes will leave soon to spend the winter with her daughter, Miss Edith Robinson at New York.

Miss Ida B. Whitliffe has returned after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Harve Oliphant of Vincennes.

Mrs. Otto Meyer and son Fritz, 20 West Forty-second street, have returned from Lake Maxinkuckee, where they spent the summer.

Miss Margaret Stark, daughter of Paul Stark, East Thirty-sixth street, has gone to Bloomington to enroll in Indiana university. She will be a freshman.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Fischer, 18 East Fortieth street, are in French Lick to attend the Kiwanis convention which will open today.

Mrs. Cone Barlow and children, 4465 North Delaware street, have returned from Lake Maxinkuckee, where they spent the summer.

Mrs. James W. Lilly, Golden Hill drive, arrived Wednesday from New York, where she spent three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Utterback, 1239 Hanna avenue; Misses Ann Lepple and Faye Schantz, have returned from a ten-day motor trip through the east and Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Tingle, 117 Hampton drive, are cruising on the Great Lakes.

Card Parties

September circle, Holy Cross Altar Society, will sponsor card parties this afternoon and evening at the school hall. All games will be played.

A card party and supper will be held tonight at the Little Flower auditorium, Thirtieth and Bosart streets.

Lavelle Gossett Auxiliary 908, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will have a euchre and bunco party at 8:30 Friday at the post hall, King avenue and Walnut street. Mrs. William Welch is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Charles R. Michael.

STATE PENWOMEN TO HOLD MEETING

The Indiana branch, National League of American Penwomen, will meet at 10 Saturday, Sept. 17, in the clubrooms of the Fletcher American bank.

Mrs. L. D. Owens, president, will be in charge of the business meeting.

Given State Post

Miss Elizabeth Rainey has been appointed parliamentary for the Indiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs by Mrs. Adah O. Frost, state president.

Patterns

PATTERN ORDER BLANK

Pattern Department, Indianapolis Times, Indianapolis, Ind.

Enclose find 15 cents for which send Pattern No. 863

Size

Street

City

State

Name

PROCK WITH CAPELET COLLAR

A delicious little model is this. It has the becoming capelet neckline, with a smart difference.

And isn't the looped sash a youthful idea?

The skirt is exceedingly simple with extreme smugness over the hips, extending into a length-giving panel at the front and back.

Style No. 863 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3 3/4 yards of 39-inch material, with 1 1/2 yards of 39-inch contrasting.

It's stunning for afternoons or for informal evenings in chignon prints, chalky crepe silks or chiffon voile prints.

Our Summer Fashion Magazine will help you economize. Price, 10 cents. Price of pattern 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB WILL HOLD DANCE

Plans for the garden party and dance to be given by the Thirteenth Ward Young Men's Democratic Club at the Athenaeum, Saturday night, Oct. 1, have been announced by the general chairman, Daniel J. O'Neill Jr.

The musical entertainment will be under the direction of Leroy Hunter of the Rhythm Kings orchestra. An added attraction will be a floor show featuring the students of Mrs. Norma Koster, who will appear in short song and dance acts.

Assisting Mr. O'Neill are: J. C. Rautenberg Jr., director of ticket sales, and E. A. Olinger, who has charge of planning floor arrangements and special features.

O. E. S. CHAPTER TO HOLD MEETING

Naomi auxiliary, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet Friday afternoon in Masonic temple, North and Illinois streets. Mrs. Anna Thompson will be the hostess.

A playlet will be presented, in charge of Mrs. Harry Halter, entertainment chairman.

The program also will include a duet by Mrs. Gertrude Wald and Mrs. Catherine Harakus, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Halter. Those taking part in the play are:

Mrs. Madeline Tschudi, Helen Mitchell, Blanche Pierce, Leona Byrket, Etta Johnson, Beatie Wilcox, Ethel Wallace, Anna Guth, Genevieve Bard, Walter Piller, Harry Halter, Josephine Wisnimer and Roy Craig.

MRS. DROEGER TO BE PARTY HOSTESS

Mrs. George Droeger, 2120 South Emerson avenue, will be hostess tonight at a bridge and bunco party for members of the Alpha chapter of Delta Tau Omega sorority.

Decorations in green and gold will carry out the sorority colors.

Chapter Plans Dance

Plans for a Founder's day dinner and dance Oct. 8 at Whispering Winds will be discussed tonight by Alpha chapter of Rho Delta sorority to meet at the Y. W. C. A.

City Girl to Marry

The marriage of Miss Carrie Henninger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Henninger, to Watson Quillin, 2414 Stuart street, will take place today at Kingsport, Vt., where the couple will live.

7 FOR 5

Bridge-Fete Will Honor Bride-Elect

Miss Clara Foxworthy, who will be the only attendant at the wedding of Miss Gladys Hooker and Edward A. Troy of Hammond, Sept. 17, will entertain tonight with a bridge party for the bride-elect at her home, 578 Middle drive, Woodruff place.

Fall garden flowers and tapers will be used to decorate the entertaining rooms. The hostess will be assisted by her mother, Mrs. M. K. Foxworthy. Guests with Miss Hooker will include her mother, Mrs. Fred N. Hooker, and:

Mrs. Madeline Edward Troy, Philip A. Miller, Marvin L. Luger, Harold B. Magee, William Walker, John Sloan Smith, Robert I. Boyer, W. Dale Evans, Edwin H. Gable, Ross T. Ewert, Roland Schmiede, W. Brewer Graham, Oly Betty and Paul Morton of Lebanon and the Misses Jean Richardson, Betty Bowman, Maude Ann Searcy, Frances Wolley, Dorothy Beightol, Grace Avelis and Louise Troy.

The wedding will take place at the University Park Christian church at 4:30. Albert Troy, brother of the bridegroom-elect, will be best man.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Hooker, will give a bridal dinner Sept. 16 in honor of the couple.

Mrs. Brown to Be Honored at Bridge Party

A farewell bridge party in honor of Mrs. Robert M. Brown will be given tonight by the Misses Constance Roche and Lucille Ratcliff at the Ratcliff home, 4249 Fairview terrace.

Mrs. Brown, who formerly was Miss Gertrude Wyssong, will leave soon for residence at Marion, Ind.

Other guests will be Mesdames Joel Wilmoth, Thomas F. McNutt, George Walker, W. H. Brainard and the Misses Lela Belle Shipman and Dortha Berger.

DISCARD FOOD WITH UNNATURAL ODOR

If a food has the slightest unnatural odor, or sign of decay, do not eat or cook it. It isn't enough to dispose of the affected part. The contamination is just as likely to be present in the rest of the meat, fruit or vegetable.

Poisoning from contaminated food is much too prevalent for any one to run a risk. If there is an unpleasant odor about a can, when you open it, destroy its contents at once. Never risk using them.

Tasting a canned product and finding the flavor agreeable doesn't prove that the food is safe. If there is the least unnatural odor, discard it.

ALUMNAE COUNCIL TO MEET SEPT. 13

Executive board of the Indianapolis Alumnae Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority will meet at 10 Tuesday, Sept. 13, in the woman's parlor of the Fletcher American National bank. Mrs. G. B. Taylor, incoming president, will be in charge.

Plans will be discussed for a party to be given Sept. 24.

LIONS GROUP OPENS YEAR'S ACTIVITIES

The year's activities of the Woman's Lions Club began Wednesday with a luncheon-bridge at the home of Mrs. Karl B. Mayhall, 2339 North New Jersey street.

New officers were in charge.

Honor New Principal

George Fisher, new principal of School 58, was honored at a dinner given Wednesday night by teachers of the school at the Kopper Kettle in Morristown.

Mrs. Fisher and her son and Miss Maude W. Wertz, a new teacher at the school, were also special guests.

First Meeting Set

Mu Phi Epsilon, national musical honorary society, will hold its first business meeting this year at 7:30 Sept. 13 at the north building of the Arthur Jordan Conservatory of Music.

Hostess to Sorority

Miss Ruth Harrig, 262 North Temple avenue, will be hostess for a business meeting of the Alpha chapter, Phi Tau Delta sorority, at 8:30 Friday night.

Hostess to Club

Mrs. Francis Artist, 4250 East Thirtieth street, will be hostess Friday for a luncheon meeting of the Stitches and Chatter Club.

Beta Chapter to Meet

Beta chapter, Delta Tau Omega sorority, will meet at 8 Friday night at the Antlers.

Meet With Leader

Rho Zeta Tau sorority will meet at 8 Friday at the home of the president, Mrs. Helen Raney.

Try to Get at It

There are nearly 300 feet of concealed piping in the walls of the average two-story house.

THE INDIANAPOLIS BIBLE INSTITUTE

(Un denominational) Semester begins Friday. Day and night classes. Affiliated with the Evangelical Teachers' Training Association. Next semester begins Sept. 9, 1932. We teach the whole Bible from Genesis to Revelation. For particulars call at office. 322 STATE LIFE BLDG., or Phone LI. 8287

Suffered with Eczema for 20 Years. Healed by Cuticura.

"I suffered from eczema for twenty years. It broke out in small water blisters and itched and burned continually, causing loss of sleep. When I scratched the blisters broke and smarted so that I could hardly stand it. I kept my hands out of water as much as possible as it made them worse. I tried different remedies but none of them helped me. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. They helped me so I continued the treatment, and in six months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Lena Knutson, Box 21, Effie, Minn.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25c and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Use sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

JEAN HARLOW REBEL IN SCHOOL

Defied Teacher and Won Point; Hazed by Her Mates

Jean Harlow at 3

This is the second of four stories on the life of Jean Harlow, the famous platinum blond of the movies—first married at 16—whose second romance has been ended by the suicide of her husband, Paul Bern, motion picture executive.

By NEA Service

A BLUE-EYED girl with wavy hair the color of white gold stared rebelliously at a low table on which were displayed dozens of flat-heeled shoes, then twirling defiantly about, stalked away on French heels of her own dainty slippers.

It happened six years ago in one of the small parlors at Ferry Hall, an aristocratic old school for girls in Lake Forest, Chicago's most exclusive suburb.

School just had resumed and the students were being summoned, one at a time, into the impromptu shoe salon, where, under the sharp eyes of the head mistress, they were being fitted to the heel-less, "sen ble" shoes they were required to wear.

The head mistress stared after the retreating girl, angry, perplexed. Her ears still rang with the latter's reckless, "I won't wear such hideous shoes; I'll go home first." During all the years of her head mistressing, she had never encountered such rebellion.

Yet it is an interesting commentary that, for the rest of the school year, the girl went around in her own high-heeled slippers.

That girl, as you may have guessed, was Jean Harlow, the screen's original platinum blond, whose first romance ended in a divorce court a year and a half ago.

Her second husband was found dead by his own hand two months after their marriage.

She was just 15 then, a freshman. On the school register she was listed by her real name, Harlean Carpenter.

HER mother, Mrs. Jean Harlow Carpenter, a young and comely divorcee who lived in Waukegan, an industrial town some fifteen miles north, had brought her there a few days before.

Earlier, they had lived in Kansas City, where Jean was born on March 3, 1911. Mrs. Carpenter's husband—Jean's father—was a physician.

The maternal grandfather was a wealthy real estate dealer, who adored the blond, blue-eyed child.

As a child, Jean spent her summers at her grandfather's summer home on the Missouri river. Flowers surrounded the house, but the child took no more interest in them than she did in her dolls, which were stored away carefully on a shelf as soon as she received them.

It was the livestock that attracted her; ducks, lambs and most of all—three little pigs that kept her busy day after day.

Her grandfather bought her a small red wagon and harness for the three pigs, and Jean drove them all around the place.

AS Jean grew older, she still preferred her own company to that of boys. She wouldn't have anything to do with the brothers of the few girls she knew.

And when Jean entered Ferry Hall, she still felt pretty much the same way about boys.

Schoolmates who spent week-ends with her, the girl went around in her own high-heeled slippers.

For Ferry Hall then, as for the preceding half century, was a favorite private school, among the daughters of Chicago's and Lake Forest's wealthy and socially registered families.

At first Harlean's blond beauty didn't blend well with her new background. The story of the shoes hurt her in the eyes of her classmates, who continued to clump around in their awkward oxfords.

She was too pretty. For one so young, she seemed too sophisticated.

As a result, when the new girls were initiated, the old girls singled her out for the butt of most of their practical jokes. They made her wear her pale gold curls in a score of tightly-braided pigtails.

They smeared her pink skin with grease blackened with soot. They marched her on to the campus where the boys from Lake Forest college and the academy, watching proceedings from the sidewalk, might hurl good-natured gibes at her appearance.

Before the Thanksgiving holidays arrived, however, the older girls began to warm toward her. They discovered that in spite of her worldly veneer, she was only an unsophisticated girl. She had never had a boy friend, and her best girl friend was her mother.

Her lack of experience with boys made her a willing, even an eager, confidante for all the girls in her dormitory.

The wide-eyed, almost breathless way she listened to their stories went a long way toward establishing her popularity in the school.

When it came time for her to select the cast for the school's annual spring play, "The Winter's Tale," she disregarded the tradition which awarded leading roles only to seniors and juniors and chose Harlean for the part of the Princess Perdita.

Throughout Harlean's first year at boarding school, her mother was a frequent visitor at Ferry Hall. The bond between mother and daughter was clearly recognized.

Usually when Mrs. Carpenter started back to her home in Waukegan, Harlean and a schoolmate accompanied her.

Week-ends at the Carpenters became one of the school's most coveted pleasures. Mrs. Carpenter was young and understanding. She was beautiful. She was modern.

When Harlean and her guests, contrary to school rules, drew forth their cigarettes and lighted them, she did not comment.

Then one day news came to Harlean at school that her mother was to remarry. Her new husband was Marino Bello, former Chicago hotel man.

Following the marriage, she moved to a cozy though unpretentious little house in Highland park, closer to Lake Forest.

It was about this time that romance first entered Harlean's life. One day in the dramatic class, Addie Jeannette ("Jada" to her friends) Leland, petite, dark-haired junior from Detroit, leaned over and asked her if she would like to go to a dance at the Drake hotel in Chicago the following Saturday night with a boy named "Chuck" McGrew.

Next—the platinum blond's first romance.

With her mother, always her "pal"

A school rebel at 14.

When it came time for her to select the cast for the school's annual spring play, "The Winter's Tale," she disregarded the tradition which awarded leading roles only to seniors and juniors and chose Harlean for the part of the Princess Perdita.

Throughout Harlean's first year at boarding school, her mother was a frequent visitor at Ferry Hall. The bond between mother and daughter was clearly recognized.

Usually when Mrs. Carpenter started back to her home in Waukegan, Harlean and a schoolmate accompanied her.

Week-ends at the Carpenters became one of the school's most coveted pleasures. Mrs. Carpenter was young and understanding. She was beautiful. She was modern.

When Harlean and her guests, contrary to school rules, drew forth their cigarettes and lighted them, she did not comment.

Then one day news came to Harlean at school that her mother was to remarry. Her new husband was Marino Bello, former Chicago hotel man.

Following the marriage, she moved to a cozy though unpretentious little house in Highland park, closer to Lake Forest.

It was about this time that romance first entered Harlean's life. One day in the dramatic class, Addie Jeannette ("Jada" to her friends) Leland, petite, dark-haired junior from Detroit, leaned over and asked her if she would like to go to a dance at the Drake hotel in Chicago the following Saturday night with a boy named "Chuck" McGrew.

Next—the platinum blond's first romance.

When it came time for her to select the cast for the school's annual spring play, "The Winter's Tale," she disregarded the tradition which awarded leading roles only to seniors and juniors and chose Harlean for the part of the Princess Perdita.

Throughout Harlean's first year at boarding school, her mother was a frequent visitor at Ferry Hall. The bond between mother and daughter was clearly recognized.

Usually when Mrs. Carpenter started back to her home in Waukegan, Harlean and a schoolmate accompanied her.

Week-ends at the Carpenters became one of the school's most coveted pleasures. Mrs. Carpenter was young and understanding. She was beautiful. She was modern.

When Harlean and her guests, contrary to school rules, drew forth their cigarettes and lighted them, she did not comment.

Then one day news came to Harlean at school that her mother was to remarry. Her new husband was Marino Bello, former Chicago hotel man.

Following the marriage, she moved to a cozy though unpretentious little house in Highland park, closer to Lake Forest.

It was about this time that romance first entered Harlean's life. One day in the dramatic class, Addie Jeannette ("Jada" to her friends) Leland, petite, dark-haired junior from Detroit, leaned over and asked her if she would like to go to a dance at the Drake hotel in Chicago the following Saturday night with a boy named "Chuck" McGrew.

Next—the platinum blond's first romance.

When it came time for her to select the cast for the school's annual spring play, "The Winter's Tale," she disregarded the tradition which awarded leading roles only to seniors and juniors and chose Harlean for the part of the Princess Perdita.

Throughout Harlean's first year at boarding school, her mother was a frequent visitor at Ferry Hall. The bond between mother and daughter was clearly recognized.

Usually when Mrs. Carpenter started back to her home in Waukegan, Harlean and a schoolmate accompanied her.

Week-ends at the Carpenters became one of the school's most coveted pleasures. Mrs. Carpenter was young and understanding. She was beautiful. She was modern.

When Harlean and her guests, contrary to school rules, drew forth their cigarettes and lighted them, she did not comment.

Then one day news came to Harlean at school that her mother was to remarry. Her new husband was Marino Bello, former Chicago hotel man.

Following the marriage, she moved to a cozy though unpretentious little house in Highland park, closer to Lake Forest.

It was about this time that romance first entered Harlean's life. One day in the dramatic class, Addie Jeannette ("Jada" to her friends) Leland, petite, dark-haired junior from Detroit, leaned over and asked her if she would like to go to a dance at the Drake hotel in Chicago the following Saturday night with a boy named "Chuck" McGrew.

Next—the platinum blond's first romance.