Book reviews will occupy the time at meetings of the Review Circle this season. The books to be reviewed include late fiction, biography, and current nonfiction.

The club meets monthly, and is planning a guest meeting as its concluding program, for May 18.

The Review Circle is one of the oldest women's clubs in the city, and its membership roster contains many well-known names. It was founded in 1899 by nine women, and now has twenty-eight active and seven associate members.

The officers are Mrs. A. W. Bowen, president; Mrs. A. E. Baker, vice-president; Miss Julia Walk, secretary; and Mrs. Ernest Clark, treasurer.

The program committee is composed of Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. John Roberts.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 20, when a review of Olga Knop's "The Art of Being a Woman" will be on the program.

WHAT'S IN FASHION

Simple Frocks Fit Many Needs
Directed by AMOS PARRISH

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—You know what type of dress we mean by "the kind of dress you can wear anywhere," under your coat for the street; to a bridge; to the movies; for an evening visit; the soft, easy-to-wear, in-between dress, which is a chameleon for taking on the character of its surroundings.

Such a dress often becomes your favorite—like "The Alice Blue Gown" of the old song. Only of course this year it won't be Alice blue. Much more likely to be black, or wine, or brilliant chanel red.

Whatever it is, you'll find, as you look back over the fall and winter, it will have colored a good part of your life.

Often Is Edwardian

It's quite likely to be Edwardian in effect, too. Sleeves a bit full at the top in the quaint 1900 way. Belt taken in a notch more than last year. Smoothly molded hips. The out-in-out hourglass effect that makes everybody so charmingly feminine.

We noticed a lovely Edwardian dress at bridge the other evening—warm Burgundy with a little brown fur at the ends of the tied neckline.

Burgundy and brown... a combination you'll often see in looking at the portraits of the grand ladies of a few decades ago. (Not quite far enough back to be holding parrots on their fingers, but probably idly toying with fans.)

Tunics Are Smart

Some of these soft dresses get their wide-shouldered effects with epaulets or capelets. A capelet tunic, for instance.

Yes, tunic styles are in... as you'll be very glad to hear if you're a particularly tall person and like to cut your height.

Another dress that seems to go anywhere suitably is the one-piece type in two contrasting fabrics. Such a combination as silk crepe for the skirt and satin for the top.

If you are the type which always is going to start dieting tomorrow, you'll like this dress all in one color.

Two-Color Effects Good

Slimmer folks, however, will often pick it with a dark skirt and a light top. (Such as you see in the sketch.) This type of dress often has a wrapped-to-the-back effect, slimming the waist and molding the hips.

Another type of dress that always shoulders a lot of responsibility during the winter time is the bright-colored silk made simply, but with fine detail.

Such as one we saw in Chanel red, with narrow insets of chiffon drawing lines across the shoulders to make them look wider.

Hemstitching often trims such dresses, too... a little on a sleeve puff, around the neck or on a soft rever.

The Economical Way to Buy Tooth Paste

a tired feeling has no place in the happy "home-work" hour

—then pause a moment and reason in a common-sense way what may be the cause and its relation to the blood

NO matter whether it is the mother who is weak... frail... run-down... or whether it is the children—the home is not as happy as it should be.

In all humanity, and particularly among women and children, a deficiency of hemoglobin in the blood—a lowered blood count it is often called—is a very frequent complaint. Among the common symptoms, one or more of which is usually found in this condition, are, lack of appetite, poor digestion, paleness, nervousness, skin disorders, weakness, and a run-down condition generally.

Hemoglobin plays an important role in body vitality and enduring strength—it is the carrying agent in the blood which takes oxygen from the lungs to all parts of the body—even to the skin—and carries off the waste product.

S.S.S. stimulates the production of hemoglobin, when deficient. Furthermore, it promotes a keen appetite and improves digestion —so necessary in food assimilation.

You can feel the rejuvenating effect S.S.S. brings the body by its tonic action. As it increases your red-cells... and restores your hemoglobin... you will begin to feel better... look better.

A distinctive thing about S.S.S. is that it is made from fresh roots, barks and herbs... and being in liquid form it is readily absorbed by the system. It will not interfere with any other treatment you may be taking. Its efficacy has been proved by scientific tests and by its use for more than 100 years.

Try S.S.S. yourself—give it to your children! Get it from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. It may be the means of bringing better health and more happiness to you and yours. Then why not begin the S.S.S. course of treatment today? Insist on S.S.S.—the proven blood tonic.

Extensive scientific research has proved the value of S.S.S. in increasing red-cells and hemoglobin to the blood.

S.S.S. builds sturdy health

What part does hemoglobin play in the blood picture?

You know we breathe oxygen into the lungs and exhale carbon dioxide BUT did you know it takes red-blood-cells, rich in hemoglobin, to convey the oxygen throughout the body and to throw off the poisonous waste product?

When nourishment enters the blood stream it is "burned." This process makes for body heat and energy, but in the conversion process carbon dioxide gas is given off. This is poisonous to the system. It should be rapidly removed.

The hemoglobin, in the red-cells of the blood, picks up this carbon dioxide—turning the blood blue—and conveys it to the lungs to be thrown off.

Then the hemoglobin takes up the oxygen from the air, breathed into the lungs,—turning the blood red again—and carries this very important agent—so necessary for life—to every part of the body—even to the skin. This is a continuous process. Complete circulation occurs about every eight minutes. You see how very, very important it is for the blood to have its full strength of red-blood-cells and hemoglobin.

Overwork, worry, colds, sickness and diet neglect frequently reduce the red-blood-cells and their hemoglobin content.

When the red-blood-cells and their hemoglobin content are lowered, the system is not expelling the carbon dioxide as fast as it is accumulated... neither is the system getting sufficient oxygen.

Some of the things which may result from such a lowered blood count are pallor of the skin, poor circulation, exhaustion, weakness, quick fatigue, faintness, numbness, prickling sensations, stiffness, heart palpitation, nervousness, flabby flesh, underweight, disturbed digestion, lack of appetite, nausea, constipation, diarrhoea, pimples and boils. Dangerous consequences may follow a lowered blood count.
