Smooth Fabrics Good in Coats

ine green, too—that yellow green which also smacks of the 1900's. We've seen suede coats, in green or wine, making their wearers look smartly top-heavy with silver Burgundy fox.

For of course these smooth materials can use either flat or long-haired furs . . . shawl or plastron or cape collars . . . equally well. It's all a matter of which is best for you.

And that's something you should think about before you step into a store. We've been helping many women with this problem by our special bulletin on the subject. If you haven't sent for yours, clip the coupon today.

Much Discussed Book Is Now a Talking Photoplay

'Washington Merry-Go-Round With Lee Tracy and Constance Cummings in Cast, Opens Friday at Indiana.

NEVER before in our national history has the American public been so critical of its political representatives as it is today, and now, with a stirring presidential election very much in the forefront, along comes "Washington Merry-Go-Round," advertised in advance reports from Hollywood as a daring expose of what goes on behind the scenes in the national capital.

It is coming to the Indiana theater Friday. Lee Tracy, that brilliant young actor who startled Broadway with his performances in those hit plays, "Broadway" and "The Front Page," and who scored similar successes on the screen in "Blessed Event" and "Doctor X," plays the principal role in "Washington Merry-Go-Round," that of a young congressman. Constance Cummings, who appeared in "Movie Crazy" and other films, is the heroine.

The powerful, realistic and dramatic story of the film was written by Maxwell Anderson, co-author of "What Price Glory." The picture was adapted by Joe Swerling, Eugene Thackeray, former Washington correspondent of the New York World, helped to prepare the story, as well as being technical adviser. Timeliness is stressed in this film, the soldiers' bonus army encampment at Anacostia Flats furnishing one of the atmospheric scenes of the capital. Interesting shots of the White House and historic Washington buildings and monuments are included in the film.

The supplementary program this week includes the Vitaphone Boys and Girls presenting an all-color short subject titled "See Paris," a merry melody cartoon, "Too-Careless With Your Kisses," and a Paramount news reel.

Indianapolis theaters today offer: "Merry Widow" at English's, Hobart Bosworth at the Lyric, "Six Hours to Live" at the Apollo, "Rain" at the Palace, "One Way Passage" at the Indiana, and "The Big Broadcast" at the Circle.

When children won't eat—and won't gain weight—

Try This!

The youngster who has no appetite, probably has stasis. A little syrup of figs will soon correct this condition—then watch the child eat—and gain!

Mothers should never coax a child to eat. Nature knows best. Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite—get rid of stasis. Children who don't eat are sluggish. Read what the "California treatment" is doing for sluggish, listless children in every part of the country!

A Pound a Week

Your child will eat well from the day and hour you conquer sluggishness. But that girl or boy with furry tongue and a bad breath should not be dosed with salts!

Begin tonight, with enough pure syrup of figs to cleanse the colon thoroughly. Less tomorrow, then every other day, or twice a week, until the appetite, digestion, weight, complexion, tell you the stasis is gone. When a cold or other ailment has again clogged the system, syrup of figs will soon set things to right.

When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bluish yellow, California syrup of figs will gently stimulate the colon muscles—and the child you used to coax to eat will fairly devour his food.

Just One IF—The claims made for California Syrup of Figs are true and it will do the same for you—IF you get genuine CALIFORNIA Syrup of Figs. Don't accept any substitute.

TRY A WANT AD IN THE TIMES. THEY WILL BRING RESULTS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—There's one fashion that goes right along with leg o' mutton sleeves and pork pie hats. (Meaty, the styles were in Edwardian days.) And that's broadcloth. So you might know you'd see it this winter.

Especially in coats. For its smooth surface takes such flat seams and supple, fitted waists. And a broadcloth sleeve made in one of the new big ways can have plenty of fullness without being bulky.

And is there any other black like the black of broadcloth? No wonder the Edwardians used it for some of their most elegant fashions. And black, you know, is peppering all outdoors these days.

Black broadcloth and black Persian lamb made one woman smartly outstanding in a restaurant the other day. The Persian was put on in high-collared, plastron style. And we noticed that she could drop the plastron and have a lower, more shawl-like collar for warmer days.

But broadcloth isn't the only smooth fabric that's about this fall. You'll see those rich-looking sueds, too. The fine, needle-point type.

The coat sketched is of suede, with Persian lamb collar and appliqued fur on the sleeves . . . a Lanvin idea that has the sick picturesqueness of a Cossack coat. Suede does well by the new bronzy.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE SEA WOLF

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, N. C. Wyeth... inspired by the infamous Captain Kidd's fierce raids on the gold-laden Spanish galleons (1696), which made him the scourge of the Spanish Main. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTES
"IT'S TOASTED"

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
