

G. O. P. ACTION TO BOOST GRAIN PRICE IS 'FLOP'

Removal of Regulation on Trading Followed by Record Slump.

By Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The administration's latest effort to boost wheat prices by modifying rules of the grain futures administration has been met with the lowest prices in four centuries.

This effort, launched by Agriculture Secretary Arthur M. Hyde, was the suspension of the rule of the grain futures administration requiring individual traders in wheat to report to the government on trades involving more than 500,000 bushels.

This was done, Hyde said, in response to appeals of grain traders, and in the hope that it would "Finally result in better prices to the farmers."

But records in Hyde's own department here indicate that suspension of this rule does not result in higher prices.

Plan Doesn't Work

This was proved in an investigation ordered by the senate after the only other time the rule was suspended, back in 1927.

The present suspension, announced Saturday, went into effect Monday, and Thursday in some Kansas town wheat was reported selling at 20 cents a bushel.

In June, according to the department of agriculture, the average price was 37.3 cents; in July, 35.7 cents; and in August, 36.5 cents.

Grain experts in Chicago attribute the present slump to a combination of causes, including withdrawal of the price peg by Canada, and a rush for export trade.

Reports Are Stopped

One of the chief purposes of the grain futures administration is to prevent manipulation of the wheat market, and it utilizes reports on trading to determine whether manipulation is going on. It will not now have these reports.

The Chicago board of trade, according to reports from there, is having its members make reports to it on trades in excess of 500,000 bushels, but this, it is said, does not serve the same purpose as reports direct to the government.

CENOTAPH TO BE DEDICATED ARMISTICE DAY

Final Plans for Event Are Mapped at Committee Meeting.

Dedication of the cenotaph in the north section of the World War memorial plaza will be the principal feature of Indianapolis' Armistice day celebration Nov. 11. Final plans here laid Thursday night at a committee meeting in the Antlers.

Preceding the dedication there will be a parade of patriotic, civic and fraternal organizations through downtown streets. Paul E. Tom-baugh, adjutant general of Indiana, will be marshal of the parade, which will start at 10 a.m.

Ceremony at the cenotaph will be conducted by Marcus S. Sonntag, Evansville, chairman of the memorial commission.

Addresses will be delivered by Paul V. McNutt and Raymond S.
Springer, Governor nominees.
Bishop Joseph M. Francis will deliver the invocation and benediction.

Tentative plans for the parade, as announced by the committee, include eleven bands, and infantry and artillery units from Ft. Benjamin Harrison.

The parade will form at the plaza, March south on Pennsylvania street, west to Washington street, west to Illinois street, north to Market street, around Monument Circle and north on Meridian street to the plaza.
