SHOES IN WRONG AUTO

Co-Ed Finds Rear of Car Full of Samples.

By United Press
SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 6.—Had a certain University of Utah co-ed been less honest, she could have had shoes to last for many seasons. A shoe salesman put his sample line in the rear of a car that he thought to be his own, but which belonged to a co-ed.

The next day the girl's father, going to use the car, opened the rear compartment of the car and found it filled with shoe boxes. An ad in a newspaper solved the mystery.
