Swan Song
GOVERNOR HARRY GEYER
LESLIE'S swan song to the general assembly Thursday gives the best possible index to his four-year administration.

It is a marvel of consistent inconsistency.
First, the Governor describes in what excellent condition he leaves the state finances, which of course is challenged promptly by state officials, who say that there will be a $3,000,000 deficit.
Suggesting that the Democrats follow his governmental program (if he had any), Leslie at the same time warns the opposition that its tremendous victory in November was a vote of confidence from the people of Indiana.

Now, it is asked, if the Leslie administration was so satisfactory, why did the voters defeat the G. O. P. ticket by the largest majority in state history? But why bring that up?

Interesting also was Leslie's praise of the benefits of the $1.50 law, when he solemnly made a special address before the general assembly special session to warn of the evils of the proposed maximum tax levy bill; and then refused to sign the measure.

But with a calm disregard for the record, Leslie takes credit for all.
To cap the climax, apparently oblivious to the fact that one of the principal reasons for Democratic success was the pledge that the present bi-partisan boards and commissions would be revamped and changed, Leslie rose to praise and defend the present system of boards and commissions established in the last sixteen years of Republican rule.

It is difficult to imagine any one praising the state public service commission for "its unselfish service," when the Indianapolis Water Company rate case decision last week is recalled.

Or can any one give credence to Leslie's statement that the highway commission has a high sense of responsibility when it is remembered that John J. Brown, then director and now tax board member, clearly revealed to a senate investigating committee in 1931 that he didn't know what it was all about. And he as director was charged with the business-like expenditure of more than $20,000,000 a year.

And so on and so on.
If one didn't know Harry Geyer Leslie's statesmanship, his recommendations and admonitions in the swan song might be taken seriously. But Harry's statesmanship is revealed best by the comparison of the speech with actual facts.

FATHER SLAIN BY SON

Young Man Acted in Self-Defense, Police Are Informed.

A brick hurled by his son, Danny Bishop, 21, Negro, caused the death Thursday night of his father, Travis Bishop, 38. The son is held on a charge of murder.

According to statements to police, the son remonstrated with his father, said to have been drinking. The father had quarreled with his wife because she would not give him money to pay rent for the family home at 876 Darnell street, where the fatal encounter occurred, it was said.

When the son attempted to quiet the father, the elder man is alleged to have slashed him with a knife. The son asserts he hurled the brick in self-defense, police were told.

BLAME FIXED IN YULE EVE MINE TRAGEDY

Open Light on Worker's Cap Ignited Gas, Says Official Report.

By Times Special
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 6.—An explosion of methane gas believed to have been set off by a light on a miner's cap, was the direct cause of the Moweaqua mine disaster, which claimed fifty-four lives on Christmas eve, according to the official report of a special investigation committee, appointed by John G. Millhouse, director of the state department of mines and miners, and made public here today.

"The methane gas was released from sealed chambers of the mine as a result of a fall of roof which broke the chambers open, sending the gas into the air current inward to the miners, who were coming into their working places," the report said.

The men, arriving at the parting where the gas was being released, in getting out of the car, evidently ignited the gas with their open lights, the flame traveling backward and coming in contact with a large body of gas.

A dairy specialist says that cream from pasteurized milk may look thinner than unheated cream, because the butterfat does not clump, but in reality the heated cream is just as rich in butterfat.
