

Show Prized Antiques at Lyceum Club

Many Interesting Articles Are Displayed at Thursday Meeting.

Quilted bonnets and old-fashioned quilted petticoats, mourning bonnets, lace and paisley shawls, old editions, and authentic specimens of Sandwich glass were among the antiques displayed Thursday at the meeting of the Thursday Lyceum Club at the home of Mrs. Harry Wilson, 424 East Twenty-first street.

Among the most interesting of the antiques brought to the club meeting was a pair of spectacles, in their original case, which were worn by the great-great-grandfather of M. A. Boltozer, and an old family album, both more than 200 years old.

Mrs. Robert Malloch wore a locket, handed down to her daughter from a Scottish ancestor, Decision Laing, one of the early Presbyterian ministers. The locket holds a picture of the Rev. Mr. Laing, as well as a lock of his hair.

Show Interesting Articles

Mrs. Wilson displayed clothing worn by her mother at her wedding, including old fashioned basques, shoes and a beautiful black lace shawl.

Two exquisitely hand-made old night caps which belong to Miss Jane Messick, art teacher at Shortridge high school, and which were worn by her great-great-grandmother, were shown by Mrs. L. C. Messick.

Mrs. Irving Blue brought a quilted silk bonnet, worn at one time by her great-grandmother.

Other interesting articles were antique jewelry, belonging to Mrs. Earl R. Condon; a set of the "Orations of Cicero," more than 150 years old, belonging to Mrs. Elizabeth Unger, and a Staffordshire jewel case, belonging to Mrs. V. V. Smith.

Luncheon Is Served

The program was in charge of Mrs. Smith, who spoke on "The Romance of Old Sandwich Glass," illustrating her talk with several pieces of Sandwich, in the Parthenon and Temple patterns.

Luncheon was served at a table appropriately laid with an old-fashioned red and white checked tablecloth. A centerpiece of an old-fashioned castor set belonging to Mrs. Blue, and a pickle stand, owned by Mrs. T. D. Campbell, were used.

The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. E. J. Shields, 536 Sutherland avenue.

THERE'S FLATTERY IN THESE NEW DETAILS

What this frock does for your figure is nothing short of magic. A surprise closing and notched revers introduce lovely, slenderizing lines. Touches of shirring at the waist line soften the contours.

Clever panel seams subtract inches from the silhouette. That's why this model is popular with fashionable women who have been slipping up on their diet lately. Note, too, that every detail is as new as it is becoming, and that every detail is as easy to handle as it is new. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards 39-inch material, 5/8 yard contrasting. Width about 2 1/2 yards.

Read an article on wedding etiquette. Learn new dressmaking tricks. All in our new Fashion Magazine. It will save you time and money. Price, 10 cents.

Flower Touch

You can remake an evening costume these days by use of pretty artificial flowers. A spray of them for the left shoulder strap, a corsage of them right at the front high waistline, a necklace of them which hangs down the back, hugging you under the chin, a few tucked under and peeping out from a scarf neckline, or even a little wreath of tiny flat ones for a belt, are a few of the ways to use them.

Pill Box Hats

Those amusing little pill box or drum-shaped hats are being seen just everywhere. The narrow cuffs often are raised on the crown in back to give the high back, low front effect. One particularly smart model by Talbot has a small quill pierced through the cuff at a perky angle right in the front. These hats in ribbed knit fabrics are grand for knockout wear. And for dress-up, wear them in black matelasse—the blistered looking crepe.

Coat Necklines Lower

Some of the new coats and suits starting off for the south have slightly lower necklines which allow the high-ruche collar of the blouse to show above the coat. Sometimes coat and jacket necks are so low they give a yoke effect against the dress. Schiaparelli has designed a new suit which allows the high-ruche collar of the blouse to show above the jacket neckline.

Altrusa Club Meeting to Be Held Tonight

A dancing number by Lavonne Lassiter and music by the Red Hot, an orchestra composed of 10-year-old pupils of the Music Masters School of Music, 3616 East Washington street, will entertain the monthly dinner meeting of the Altrusa Club tonight at the Columbia Club.

Miss Margaret Karst is chairman of the program and Mrs. Elizabeth R. Boyle will preside at the dinner. In addition to the bi-monthly noon luncheons, it is the plan of the organization in the future to have musical programs and speakers for the bi-monthly dinner meetings.

Members of the orchestra include Elaine Everhart, Constance Burr, Don Daniel, James Fisher, and Donald Lassiter.

Luncheon Hostess

Mrs. Stewart Ruch, 201 Washington court, was hostess for the luncheon today of the Southern Club auxiliary. Her assistants were Mesdames William Scaff and J. F. Wilson.

Daily Recipe

ONION SOUP

(As served at the market in Paris)

2 tablespoons cooking oil (preferably from corn) or butter

2 large onions (chopped fine)

2 quarts milk or half milk and half real broth

1 tablespoon corn starch stirred smooth in a little of the milk

1-8 teaspoon pepper

1 tablespoon salt

6 slices dried bread or toast

1-4 pound grated cheese

Put the cooking oil or butter in a sauce pan, add onion and cook until yellow. Add milk. Let come to a boil, stir in corn starch mixture, continue stirring and cooking until creamy. Season and pour over bread and cheese. Six servings.
