

TECHNOCRACY IS 'ON WAY OUT,' ASSERTS PITKIN

Returning to Nothing, Says Columbia Professor, at Town Hall.

Technocracy is "a strange sky-rocket movement which came out of nothing and seems to be rapidly returning on a round-trip ticket," asserted Professor Walter B. Pitkin of the Pulitzer School of Journalism at Columbia university today before a Town Hall audience at English's at Columbia university.

The original idea behind Technocracy on the part of eminent engineers, he said, was to make a survey of the various kinds of energy in industry in this country and to ascertain how much is being wasted.

Another group appeared and the "economic theory" was injected into the question.

"Into the Comic Strips"

"Then the third stage in the development of technocracy," he said, "passed out of the blue prints into the comic strips."

Columbia's action in cutting all ties with Howard Scott and his group was the result of Scott's assertion that he and his "Technocrats" were ready to "dump" all Republicans, Democrats, Socialists and Communists and give the positions to the Technocrats and the engineers.

The real good of technocracy, he said, is "man's conquest of energy."

"Man's Importance Going"

"The work man does in industry is declining in importance," he pointed out. As an example, he told of a factory being built in New Jersey to be operated by twenty-nine men, instead of the seventy-five or eighty men who would have been needed ten years ago.

"We now are in the beginning," he said, "of a new machine age that is taking over not only simple judgment but the highest mental functions."

Pitkin said that "the Technocrats today are fifteen years behind the times because they are thinking of the machine as a labor saving device."

"Labor unions today are thinking in terms of man—the worker before the machine came into existence," he added and mentioned briefly "the great decay in trade unions."

LOOT TAKEN IN TWO APARTMENT BUILDINGS

Burglars are Busy While Occupants of Places are Absent.

Two apartment buildings were scenes of burglars' activities Thursday night while occupants were absent.

Police were called to the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Ott Michael at 1232 Ashland avenue early today when the Michaels returned home and found the apartment had been ransacked. Although $50 had been stolen from a desk, two diamond rings concealed in the same place had not been taken.

While police were in the building, Harry Nicholas told them a suit of clothes and an overcoat, valued at $65, had been taken from his apartment.

At 2444 North Meridian street, Audrey Massey reported that $15 in cash and a ring valued at $100 had been taken by a thief who picked the door lock.

Harry Richardson, of the same address, told the officers his apartment had been ransacked and $65.00 in cash taken.

Muncie Church Split Over High School Girl's Charge That Pastor Tried Attack

Grand Jury Starts Quiz of Allegation Made Against Methodist Minister.

MUNCIE, Ind., Jan. 27.—With public sentiment divided, speculation was rife here today on the outcome of a grand jury's investigation of an 18-year-old high school girl's allegation that the Rev. G. Lemuel Conway, Methodist minister, attempted to attack her.

The story, related by Miss Helen Huffman, Muncie high school senior, has been denied vigorously by Mr. Conway and one fight has occurred over the situation.

Miss Huffman charges that Mr. Conway became a Don Juan on a recent automobile ride with her. She claims that the pastor made ardent love to her and then attempted the assault.

The grand jury probe has been under way for three days and it was reported that the jurors are deadlocked. There were no witnesses to the alleged attack attempt.

At the office of Paul Leffer, county prosecutor, it was said today that the entire case had been laid before the jury, but, so far, no indictment has been returned.

Miss Huffman was the final witness at the grand jury session late Wednesday.

The ride on which Miss Huffman bases her allegations against the 55-year-old minister and father of five children is alleged to have occurred on Dec. 19.

Mr. Conway, who is reported "out of town," has denied the charges. The case was secret until last Sunday, when Mr. Conway and William F. Aurand, choir master, engaged in a fist fight. When Mr. Conway announced Aurand would not lead the choir, Aurand refused to heed the order. Then Mr. Conway knocked him over the church rail. The pastor charged Aurand with "spreading Miss Huffman's scandalous story."

As the investigation of the case continued, it was reported that perhaps the entire affair was an outgrowth of a split in church membership over church policies.

CAPITOL SUITS ARE CUT TO $11

Reduction Is Announced to Take Place in Clothes Shop Saturday.

It pays to read the Indianapolis Times! No better proof could be cited than the fact that the Capitol Clothes Shop, 10 East Washington street, is announcing, in today's editions, that, starting Saturday morning, it's time all-wool suits, top-coats, and overcoats will be on sale for only $11.

This is the first sale of clothing and furnishings that the Capitol Clothes Shop ever has held. To care for the crowds that are expected to attend this unusual merchandising event, the store will open Saturday morning at 7:30.

That officials of this rapidly growing clothing establishment for men have faith in the pulling power of an advertisement in the Indianapolis Times is attested by the fact that no other newspaper announcement is to be made at this time concerning the sale.

The Capitol Clothes Shop first opened its doors for business at 117-19-21 West Market street, on March 24, 1927, featuring all-wool clothing for men and young men at $19.90. Later, it was able to offer clothing of the same dependable quality for only $16.95.

Still later it lowered its price to $15. At this popular price, it has enjoyed a healthy and growing business.

Now the company is happy to announce to Times' readers that the well known Capitol Clothes are to
