

Parent-Teacher Board Drafts Publicity Setup for State Wide Use

Proposals Are Adopted at Meeting of Committee Here; Chairmen to Be Named by Central Council.

A state-wide publicity setup of chairmen for state, district, county and city was the plan adopted at a meeting of the publicity committee of the Indiana Congress of Parents and Teachers held Thursday at the Lincoln.

Mrs. E. A. Clark was chairman of the meeting which passed on plans for the reorganization. Other members of the publicity committee were Mrs. L. A. Winslow, Dr. Edna Hatfield Edmondson and Mrs. Joseph Todd of Bloomington; Mrs. Logan Hughes and Mrs. S. M. Myers of Indianapolis; Mrs. Raymond Peterson of Hammond and Mrs. W. J. Hockett of Ft. Wayne.

A state central committee will be composed of Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Winslow and Mrs. Peterson. Mrs. Hockett, state president, will be ex-officio member.

The group also planned a set of exhibit posters for the state showing the work of the different departments in the state. They will be available for the district conferences and the county and city council meetings. Mrs. Peterson will assist in arranging them.

Mrs. Winslow was named chairman of the publicity record book of the state, and she will contribute articles to educational journals and magazines. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Myers, president of the Indianapolis federation, will take charge of the special exhibits at the state fair, and Dr. Edmondson will continue as editor of the state bulletin.

BRIDE TO BE HONOR GUEST AT TEA

Mrs. Forrest L. Welch, formerly Miss Alvina G. Heid, will be honor guest at a bridge tea and shower, given by Mesdames Guy A. Boyle, Paul Peeg and Bernard Q. Zimmer and Miss Alice Witt at the Columbia Club.

Receiving with the hostesses and Mrs. Welch will be the bride's mother, Mrs. Louis G. Heid, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. J. W. Welch. Mrs. Heid will pour.

Thirty-two guests will be entertained. The tea table will be arranged with red roses and white sweetpeas.

W. C. T. U. Notes

The directors of departmental work in the Marion county W. C. T. U. will meet at 9:30 Monday in Room C of the Y. W. C. A. Business of importance will be presented by the president of the board, Mrs. Epha Johnson, who will preside. At 2 p. m., Miss Grace Scott, field secretary from the national W. C. T. U., will address the meeting. All directors are urged to attend.

The Thurman union, W. C. T. U. institute will be held at the Second Baptist church, Michigan street and Indiana avenue, Tuesday. The morning session will begin with a devotional and praise service at 10 led by the Rev. R. D. Leonard. A roll call of local directors who will respond with prohibition facts concerning their constituents, together with an address on "Religious Education," by William Arline, will be included in the morning program. The noonday prayer will be given by Mrs. Louella Coleman.

A covered dish luncheon will be served. The afternoon program will consist of a symposium led by Mrs. Carrie Ross, chairman of the program committee.

Mrs. James A. Crain, vice-president of Marion county W. C. T. U., will conduct a quiz and discussion on minutes of the state meeting held recently in Columbus. Mrs. Elizabeth J. Jackson, president, will preside.

The Bay Laurel union will meet Friday, Feb. 17, instead of Feb. 10, so members may attend the meeting to be held for the national president, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, at North Methodist church on Feb. 10.

CHILDREN'S CHEER GUILD IS FORMED

Manners and Morals

BY JANE JORDAN

Boys and girls who seek to reconcile their differences are invited to come to Jane Jordan for help. Letters will be answered in this column.

Dear Jane Jordan—Where do girls get the idea that boys take them out for their companionship? Don't they realize that they are in charge of our hard-earned cash? Last summer I was earning very good money for a high school graduate and went with a girl who evidently didn't realize what was expected of her.

After two months of this, I

GAY LINEN ROMPERS

When you are 4 or less, chic is measured in terms of comfort. That's why these gay linen rompers are making such a terrific hit with the very youngest set.

There's nothing to them at all—just a front, a back and two sleeves—no fancy details to restrict the important business of play. And, here's a note for busy mothers.

Any one, even a beginner, can make them in an hour or two. Try them in gingham, chambray, challis, or lightweight flannel. Size 3 requires 1 1/4 yard 36-inch material.

Pattern No. 5128 is designed for sizes 1, 2, 3, 4 years. Price, 15 cents.

Have more clothes at less cost! Choose them from our new Fashion Magazine. Also read the dress-making hints and an article on wedding etiquette. Price, 10 cents.

Ludwig Hofmann Happy as He Fondles Child, Just Over From Germany.

BY GERALDINE SARTAIN
Times Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Ludwig Hofmann, new baritone of the Metropolitan opera this season, sang while the cameras clicked. In his arms were his son, Ludwig Jr., 2 months old, whom the great baritone had not seen before, and his wife, blonde, pretty, and full of excitement at the reunion of the Hofmann family.

Mrs. Hofmann and Ludwig Jr., who "can go into opera, too, if he is the great artist," arrived this week on the Europa. Ludwig Jr. was the youngest voyager ever on the Europa's passenger list and he created a great stir, especially among the Germans aboard, who named him "The New Wotan."

Mrs. Hofmann and the Hofmann baby had to go through the formalities of docking without the presence of Ludwig Sr., who, fretting and anxious, was detained for rehearsal of "The Bartered Bride," and then rushed away to the Hofmann apartment to meet his new son.

Child Born in Germany

There, after kisses and hugs and much clucking to the baby, the grand opera singer, a success at his debut here in "Götterdämmerung" on Nov. 24, explained to press representatives over a glass of rhine wine.

"You see, I take the boat from Germany on Nov. 4 to keep my engagements here. But my wife, she must stay behind with her mother and father until after our child is born."

Ludwig Jr. appeared on November 27, and the cable came to me while I am rehearsing at the opera. Am I glücklich? I can hardly wait for this moment. Here he is, my first-born, and a boy!"

"Sing a lullaby to him, Mr. Hofmann," some one begged, and the excited father complied while Mrs. Hofmann gave instructions on the proper way for a father to hold his new baby.

Argue Over Eyes

There was some argument about the child's looks.

"Just like his mother—see the blue eyes!" Hofmann exclaimed.

"Nein, nein—like you," Mrs. Hofmann contradicted with pantomime, since her English consists of only a few words.

"All babies have blue eyes first. He will be like you," she added in German, looking up at the dark-eyed singer, who is half German and half Italian.

"But Junior," said the father, who intends making New York his home, "is an American already."

Inter Alians to Celebrate on 12th Birthday

The twelfth birthday of the Inter Alia Club will be celebrated with a dinner bridge party tonight at Whispering Winds, when husbands of members will be guests.

Twenty members with their husbands will be seated at one table, having as its centerpiece a three-tiered cake, decorated with twelve yellow candles. Yellow roses and tapers will carry out the club colors of yellow and white.

Mrs. Frank Langenkamp, president, will be in charge, assisted by the program committee. This committee is composed of Mesdames C. Fred Fitchey, J. Brownning Clark, Ross E. Coffin, Ernest Spielmeier and Llewellyn A. Turnock.

PLAY IS GIVEN BY THESPIUS GROUP

Miss Mary Paxton Young, a sophomore at Butler university, is the director in charge of the one-act comedy, "The Still Alarm," which was to be given today by members of Thespius, student dramatic society at the university.

Members of the society who were to be seen in the cast of the production are David Clarke, Eugene McManamon, Edward Dentry, Carroll Reynolds and Edward Bowman.

Today's play is one of a series of nontime dramatic productions being presented by the dramatic organization.

It was to be given in Arthur Jordan memorial hall.

Birth Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron H. Freedman, 3510 East Fall Creek boulevard, announce the birth of a daughter, Barbara Marlene, on Jan. 27. Mrs. Freedman was formerly Miss Blanche Morris of New York.
