

Sorority to Fete Chiefs at Parley

National Leaders Will Be Honor Guests at Tea on Sunday.

National officers of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, who will attend the state luncheon and dance Saturday at the Claypool, will be entertained at a tea from 2:30 to 4:30 Sunday at the Butler university chapter house, 201 Blue Ridge road.

The honor guests will be Mrs. G. L. Van Aken of Delmar, N. Y., national president; Mrs. Peyton Wemyss-Smith of Oklahoma City, Okla., national inspector; Miss Mildred Blackledge of Indianapolis, national secretary; and several of the sorority founders, including Mrs. Ralph B. Clark and Mrs. Scooby Cunningham of Indianapolis; Miss Estelle Leonard of Union City, Miss James P. Collins of La Grange, Ill., national editor of the Lyre, and Mrs. Edward M. Childs of Martinsville, Ill.

Miss Florence Renn will pour at the tea table, arranged with spring flowers and appointments of lavender and white. Assisting will be Misses Dorothy Stewart, Louise Hawthorn and Virginia Teague.

A musical program will be presented by Misses Mae Henri Lane, pianist, and Jean Lane, violinist. Invitations have been extended to all active and alumnae members in the state, who are here for the state celebration and the Mothers' club of Alpha Chi chapter, and members of Beta Beta alumnae chapter.

Mrs. Van Aken is making an inspection trip to the chapters in the northwest, and Mrs. Wemyss-Smith is inspecting the four chapters in Indiana.

Pageant to Be Given

"Famous Mothers" is the pageant to be presented at the afternoon meeting of Naomi auxiliary Friday at the Masonic temple. Mrs. Fanny Steinmetz will be hostess. Mrs. Charlotte Hatter will be chair of the entertainment and Mrs. Mabel Dobbins will talk on Lincoln and Washington.

Manners and Morals

BY JANE JORDAN

Are you in need of sound advice? Write your problem to Jane Jordan and read your answer in this column.

Dear Jane Jordan—I am a young man of 25 years. I read your letters daily and take a great interest in them. I am in love with a girl 13 years old. She looks older, and is very big. I believe she loves me.

I guess the reason I go with so young a girl is that I can get no other. I am very fat and clumsy. I am in Lonesome John's class. I have to wear overalls all day long and part of the night. Every time I see this girl with another fellow it burns me up. I love her so much.

Please tell me if you think I should keep on going with her. I guess she is my only chance. I would like to set down to farming and raising jacks. Do you think a girl of this age could learn to care for a quiet life on the farm? WORRIED WAYNE.

Answer—I should like to make an earnest plea for the girlhood of this child. I can not see how you can be deprived of her right to a carefree existence for the next seven or eight years at least, under the protection of her parents or other adults.

I want her to have a chance to develop gradually and naturally, instead of being catapulted from childhood into maturity. She is over-developed biologically without a corresponding mental and emotional growth, and she is by no means prepared to be a wife. Every man loves the idea of a girl wife, but he requires that the girl can be a woman when the occasion calls for adult decision and behavior.

After your first pleasure in the possession of a little girl of your own, you would find this child entirely inadequate for your needs. Surely you could not be so cruel as to take advantage of her lack of judgment and persuade her to bury herself on a farm to work like an adult.

No doubt her young affections would lead her to go with you now, but later in life she would regret bitterly the loss of her girlhood. I've never seen it fail.

As for yourself, there is no excuse for your being fat and clumsy. Train down and improve until you feel yourself equal to women your own age. It will not solve your own life problem to accept defeat at the hands of your contemporaries by doing what seems the easiest thing, in selecting a child whose tender years put you in a position of superiority.

The easiest thing for the moment is, alas, often the hardest in the long haul. It's a snare and a delusion for you to believe you can put off struggling for a legitimate position of superiority by choosing a partner who presents no difficulty in the winning. Do choose from your equals and don't rob the cradle.

Will those women among our readers who have married before they were 16 please write to Jane Jordan and tell her how they feel about it now?

Sky's the Limit on New Costumes for Bathing

Pauline Stark

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23.—Girls who go down to the sea in ships, or just to bathe, are wearing a wide variety of costumes these days. Pauline Stark, out stretching her sea legs the other day in preparation for the seventh annual midwinter regatta at Los Angeles harbor, wore white linen shorts, a crew-necked, short-sleeved blue jersey pullover with white anchor decorations and a blue skull cap.

At Palm Springs, over the weekend, Mary Carlisle wore one of the new white rubber bathing suits, with a bib top tied over the shoulders in pert bows and snapped to her very abbreviated trunks.

On the sands of the beach near Hollywood, Irene Helm wore a gray jersey suit with the new square neckline, a very low square in the back and a higher one in front. Her scarlet clogs looked very nice with the gray of her suit.

Sally Eilers wears white bathing suits, one in particular being wide waisted ribbed wave, with scarlet and navy stripes zigzagging down the front, from left shoulder to right shorts leg.

One day, in the Mirador pool, she wore a suit with a white backless top and blue trunks trimmed in white. The two little pockets in the trunks were decorated with white anchors.

Marlene Dietrich, loitering by the pool where her precious "Hedda," as she calls little Maria, was swimming, wore a "smart" shorts and shirt wool suit of gray.

Keep a Watchful Eye for Spring Suit Individuality

Be Careful of Color and Fabric Combinations to Achieve Exclusiveness.

BY JOAN SAVOY

NEA Service Writer

(From Sady Weiss, New York)

YOU have to look sharply this year for individuality in your new spring suit or you will meet Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Grundy wearing the exact duplicate. And you know what a good feeling that gives a woman!

The two-toned suit is a bit more high-styled than the monotone. Moreover, with a combination of color or fabric, you have a better break toward a suit that is yours and nobody else's.

Particularly if you see to it that the neckline is something else besides the regulation one, your coat has some touch or other that gives it personality, and the blouse that completes your suit is one that is infinitely becoming to you and part and parcel of your outfit.

Schiaparelli has done a slick job with spring suits this year. A particularly gracious one, a very individual one, is made of two-toned gray, the skirt slightly lighter than the coat. This having the darkness come above the hips is one sure trick of slendering a lady, incidentally.

The blouse to this original little number is of pink and black printed crepe, made in softly tailored fashion, so its diminutive rolled collar curves almost nothing right in front, where ties of crepe, black lined, make a small bow.

The suit and the blouse both fasten with Schiaparelli's famous clips, and the collarless coat has a deep V cut to it, then laps over with the clips fastening the lap at the top as well as the sides, to hold it in place.

Pockets are placed at each side of the coat and a single pocket smack in the front near the hemline, something new and different, you'll admit.

The swirl of silver fox is separate. The little black tricorn hat is made of very heavy crepe, bound in shining piping. The purse matches the hat.

College Head Is Guest Here of Alumnae: Luncheon Held

Dr. Guy Winslow, principal of La Salle Seminary at Auburndale, Mass., was guest speaker at the luncheon meeting attended by alumnae of the college in the state and in Indianapolis at noon today at the University club.

Mrs. Roy K. Coats, who was in charge of the arrangements for the affair, presided at the luncheon table and introduced the speaker.

Dr. Winslow, who is on his way to Kansas City to attend a junior college meeting, stopped to meet the Indiana group and attend the luncheon.

Guests, with Dr. Winslow were Mrs. Harry Brown of Bluffton, Miss Edith Williams of Bloomington and alumnae for Indianapolis: Mesdames John Ray Newcomb, Edna F. Vajen, Obie J. Smith, L. G. Zervas, Perry Lesh, Oscar Pantzer, Carl Vonnegut, R. Henley Boyd, Misses Gertrude Taggart, Bernice Reagan, and Joan Johnson.

COUPLE IS WEDDED

IN CHURCH RITES

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Stauffer, daughter of Mrs. Frank Derry, 625 South West street, to Thomas S. Sinnerman, son of J. W. Sinnerman, 1048 South West street, took place at 7 Wednesday morning in St. John Catholic church. The Rev. E. M. Bosler officiated.

The bride wore a gray suit with matching accessories and was attended by Miss Mary A. Sinnerman, the bridegroom's sister, who wore a blue suit with gray accessories. Louis Meisberger was best man.

A wedding breakfast was served the bridal party at the Spink-Arms. After a motor trip, the couple will be at home at 16 North State street.

Dance to Be Given

The Women's Club of the Brookside Community are sponsoring a dance to be given Friday night at the community house. The Royal Nightingales will play.

Daily Recipe

CREAM MUFFINS

Sift together three cups flour, three quarters teaspoons baking powder. Add the beaten yolks of four eggs, half a cup of melted butter, one cup of cream and a tablespoon of sugar.

Beat well. Whip the four egg whites to a stiff froth and add this gently. Bake in greased muffin pans eighteen to twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

"GOODBYE WASHBOARDS—FOREVER"—by C.A. Voight

LET'S FORGET THE MOVIES THIS AFTERNOON AND GO TO THE FREE DEMONSTRATION TO BE GIVEN BY THAT FAMOUS HOME EXPERT

I HATE TO MISS THAT PICTURE, WHAT'S THIS EXPERT GOING TO DEMONSTRATE?

OH, COOKING AND HOME-MAKING—SHE'S GOING TO TELL ABOUT A HARD-WATER SOAP THAT WASHES CLOTHES WHITER WITHOUT SCRUBBING

—WELL, IF THERE'S A SOAP THAT WILL DO AWAY WITH WASHBOARD DRUDGERY I CERTAINLY WANT TO HEAR ABOUT IT—I'LL GO WITH YOU

AT THE LECTURE

NEVER SCRUB CLOTHES. THE MODERN WAY IS TO SOAK OUT THE DIRT. USE RINSO, THE SAFE HARD-WATER SOAP—ITS RICH, CREAMY SUDS SOAK CLOTHES WHITER, BRIGHTER THAN EVER

DID YOU HEAR THAT? JUST SOAKING CLOTHES IN RINSO WILL GET THEM WHITE AS SNOW!

INDEED I DID! AND I CAN HARDLY WAIT UNTIL NEXT WASHDAY TO TRY IT—

NEXT WASHDAY

I LEARNED ABOUT A NEW KIND OF SOAP LAST WEEK—RINSO. SEE HOW SNOWY IT GOT THE CLOTHES; AND I DIDN'T HAVE TO SCRUB OR BOIL

THAT'S GREAT! AND YOU DON'T LOOK A BIT TIRED

Famous Home-making Expert, Dorothy A. Loudon, says:

"It is our business to find the easiest and most economical way of doing every household task. Our tests show us that nothing is so satisfactory as the Rinso method of doing the week's wash—not only because it adds so much to the life of clothes.

"We find that it's the suds that make Rinso so effective. In any kind of water, Rinso suds are thick, lively and long-lasting. Just soaking clothes in these rich suds gets them so sweet and snowy that even boiling isn't necessary.

"We recommend Rinso not only for use in tubs and washing machines, but for dishes and all cleaning."

Don't miss the amazing demonstration today. And be sure to get Rinso in time for next washday. Cup for cup, it gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps—even in hardest water. Marvelous suds for dishwashing, too. Grease goes in a flash—dishes shine.
