Averages Give Sigafoos Strong Rating

French Ring Boss Switches to Irishman

Davis Protects Favorite War Bludgeon

WITH Frank Sigafoos, regular infielder, back in the Tribe fold for 1933, Manager Red Killefer believes the holdout situation is easing up and now feels sure other regulars will fall in line rapidly as reporting time for spring training nears. Sigafoos is slated to guard third base this year.

"Sigafoos" was the Hoosiers' keystone sacker last season, and though at times he was criticized for slow fielding, the American Association official averages reward him with a high rating on figures alone. He hit the sphere for an average of .313, scored 105 runs and batted in 77.

Frank collected 199 hits in 163 games and his safe wallows included 29 doubles, 11 triples and 10 home runs. He pilfered 14 bases and had 14 sacrifice hits. All of which is fair enough for an infielder from the standpoint of the attack.

Sigafoos' fielding average was .980, which was high among regular second basemen. Connolly was the lone keystone rival to top Frank in putouts, 440 to 422, but in assists, where swift ground covering is necessary, several second basemen topped him.

Turgeon, Toledo, was high in assists, with 550. Connolly of Milwaukee had 530; Jeffries of St. Paul, 525, and Sigafoos and Whitehead of Columbus finished even with 498. The Hoosier veteran took part in 99 double plays, which was third high for regulars in his position. Jeffries participated in 130 and Connolly in 106.

Official 1932 statistics credit Sigafoos with ten games at third base, showing 9 putouts, 27 assists, 3 errors and participation in four twin killings.

The Indians, as a whole, fell down on double plays, and were sixth with a total of 145 for the team. St. Paul was high over all with 205, and other clubs finished as follows: Milwaukee, 174; Minneapolis, 166; Toledo, 161; Louisville, 150; Louisville, 141, and Kansas City 133.

Another 1932 Indian to accept terms for the new season is Stewart Bolen, veteran southpaw pitcher. He signed the new agreement Thursday. Pitcher Lefty Butzberger and Roy White, candidate for the infield, both of whom saw service with the 1932 Tribesmen, also returned contracts today with terms accepted. Bill Burwell, veteran right-hander, wrote from Florida that he is getting in shape and expects to be on hand at reporting time. He has not signed yet, however.

DESCAMPS BUILDS ANOTHER RING HOPE

FRANCOIS DESCAMPS, once was ballyhoed for his hypnotic eye fame, but his reputation was lost when Jack Dempsey paid no attention to the bunt about the "destructive lamp" and went right ahead and knocked out Descamps' Georges Carpentier. That was several years ago.

Well, Descamps now is trying to develop a new meat ticket but has picked up a wild Irishman this time instead of a perfumed Frenchman. The new stalwart's name is Jack Doyle, 19-year-old Dublin heavyweight, and Descamps is training him in animal fashion. It is said Doyle virtually is a prisoner in Francois' camp at Le Guerche, a rural community in France.

A United Press correspondent obtained an interview with Manager Descamps and the crafty fistic ringmaster said, in part:

"I keep Doyle a 'prisoner' because it is the only way to teach him. He has to be trained like a lion. From dawn to dusk, from week to week, he sees nothing but this bunch of hard-hitting pugilists you see around you. They are tough babies."

"Some of the future champions of France are among them, as well as some of the oldest ring generals. Jack has one trouble in common with Carpentier, a delicate jaw. Georges had a glass chin and Doyle has a soft one too, but I'll teach him to protect it."

It is reported the French ring wizard admitted that, of the hundreds of fighters who have passed through his hands, only two have been allowed to share his home with him: the adonis, Carpentier, and Jack Doyle.

WHERE GEORGE GOES HIS BAT GOES ALONG

GEORGE DAVIS is one ball player who guards his pet bat the same as his pocketbook. The former St. Paul fly chaser now with the Giants, held the favorite stick in his paw when he boarded the train for the Los Angeles training camp. Evidently George fondled the bludgeon all winter during the off-season.

On the way "cross country" Davis flourished the weapon in the Pullman and practiced swinging at an imaginary horsehide. Arriving in the west George declined to park the bat at Wrigley field with the other club lumber and he totes it back and forth each day between the team's hotel and the ball park.

Once, in the southland, there was a big and awkward rookie pitcher trying out with the Indians. He was used in a practice game one day and when his turn to hit arrived the regulars grabbed their pet sticks or kicked 'em out of reach.

Walter Regh, outfielder, slipped his club under the Tribe bench, but the rookie spotted the end sticking out and had it in his possession before Walter could interfere. Regh was in a cold sweat as the husky and green Hoosier stepped to the plate, but fortunately the bat was not broken and thereafter Walter was its watchdog.

JOB STECHER, the rasser, and former champ, perfected the scissors hold down on the farm. He practiced on sacks of oats. Now Jim Browning comes along and tells how he developed his legs for the scissors grip by wrapping the underpinning around barrels. Originally, Jim was a farmer, too. The scissors nowadays, therefore, is mightier than the plow. Don't be surprised if a new giant rasser shows up some day distributing his leg strength as a result of wrapping his shins around a silo.

THE nearest salary approach to Babe Ruth that collegiate football can offer is Wallace Wade, coach at Duke university. Wade is working on a five-year contract for $100,000. His fee increased from year to year over the period—$15,000 first year, $12,000 second year, and so on. Duke is endowed by a tobacco fortune and $100,000 was placed in the bank several years ago to be drawn upon only for the football coach's salary. Signals!

Hal Schumacher, Giants' hurler, hit a home run during a practice tilt and was kidded into believing he might be a second Babe Ruth. Hal was assigned to center field where he lost the game for his side by miffing nearly everything that was offered.

Johnny Gill, veteran Pennsylvania middleweight boxer, also is a murrion dancer. He danced 243 days last year and ten rounds in the ring is like relaxing for him, except when he is on the receiving end of the gloves.

RECENTLY Mike Kelley, manager of the champion Millers, received a long distance call from Cincinnati and at first he thought it was Owner Sidney Weil of the Reds calling to offer him a player or to buy one of the Millers. It was the ancient Rube Benton wanting to know the whereabouts of his 1933 contract. Kelley had overlooked mailing the papers.

Purdue Thinlies Nose Out Butler; Sears Takes Mile

A victory in the mile race event, final race on the program, gave Purdue a 52-2-3, a 51-1-3 victory over Butler in an indoor track meet at the Fairview fieldhouse Thursday night.

Three firsts by Paul Tauer, Butler captain, who triumphed in the fifty-five-yard dash and both hurdle events, and Roy Sears' victory over Popojoy of Purdue in the mile event in the fast time of 4:21, featured the meet.

Herbert Sears, Purdue, captured the half mile feature from Zahn of Butler, and Sweeney of the Boilermakers won the 220.

You Can't Keep Colorful Hagen's Name Out of Print

BY JOE WILLIAMS

New York World-Telegram Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 3.—You can't keep that fellow Walter Hagen's name out of the headlines. Though he has been little more than a ghost of the champion he used to be for some time, he has been named captain of the Ryder cup team. This is a band of professional golfers who annually compete with Great Britain for the international championship.

Up to the time the announcement was made, it wasn't known whether Hagen was going to England this year, a tourist, a Ryder cup man or a debt collector. That he has been named captain of the team is a flattering surprise. Or a surprising flattery. In any case, it is a deserved tribute to one of the great names of golf.

In some respects, Hagen is a greater figure in golf than Bobby Jones. From the start, he never had the well-rounded game that Jones did, but he managed to win almost as often—and generally he won with a dash and a flourish that him stand out as the master dramatist of the sport.

Hagen's championship days have long since been behind him. The last time he won the American open was in 1910, when he tied with Mike Brady and beat the Winged Foot pro in the play off. That was the historic tournament when Hagen came up to the final green to sink a putt that would tie or lose for him.

UNTIL recently he used to make a habit of winning the British open. It became so much of a habit that some of the English newspapers began referring to the event as the "Walter Hagen open."

Year after year he would be thrown back in the American open. But just as often he would go abroad, frequently facing even stronger opposition, and win. I recall that after boys of Detroit gave

6 Inch Cup Gets Test

Gene Sarazen's Plan Tried in $5,000 Florida Open Event.

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 3.—Gene Sarazen's six-inch putting cup was slated for its first formal test today in the Florida Year Round Club $5,000 open, despite frowns from the U. S. G. A. and the P. G. A.

No official action will be taken against the departure from the official four-inch cup.

Sarazen, British and American open champion, was the tournament favorite. Paul Runyan, Denny Shute, Walter Hagen and Tommy Armour were others favored to capture the top honors.

Among the other outstanding linksmen entered were Billy Burke, Harry Cooper, Johnny Revolta, Willie MacFarlane, Johnny Golden, Horton Smith, Olin Dutra, Al Esnola, Henry Cudi, Phil Perkins, Craig Wood, Joe Kirkwood, Bill Mehlhorn and Johnny Goodman, runner-up for the amateur championship in 1932.

New Bleachers Boost Seating

Workmen today began erecting new steel bleachers in the Butler university fieldhouse in preparation for the state high school basketball finals here March 17 and 18.

With the basketball floor now running north and south in the structure, instead of east and west, as heretofore, and with the new bleachers, about 16,000 persons may be seated.

The new bleachers will accommodate more than 1,000 additional fans than did seats used in previous years.

Tracy Thumps Out Victory; Hook Drops Close Thriller

Tracy Cox carried too many guns for Jimmy Alvarado, and the local junior welter, appearing in fine condition, galloped off with a ten-round point triumph over the Detroit battler at Tomlinson hall Thursday night.

Tracy bombarded the Michigan youngster with both hands in the late rounds after Alvarado had held him close in the opening stanzas. His strong finish gave Cox the decision by a wide margin.

Weighing 139½ pounds, three pounds more than his rival, Cox was at his best. He hammered Alvarado's body and cut his face, but scored only one short-cut knockdown, in the fifth round. Both boys mixed freely.

Two other lively tins completed Sam Slotzky's card. Ernie Maurer, Detroit bantamweight, and Henry Hook of Elwood staged a real thriller with the Michigan state champion getting a shade.

This was the best battle of the evening, and only a few points separated the rivals at the finish. They slugged with both hands from bell to bell in every round, and got a big hand from the fans.

Youth and a straight left jab with which he battered his veteran rival's face gave Willard Brown the edge over Jackie Purvis, local welterweight, in another ten.

Brown got away to an early lead, but Purvis rallied in the middle sessions, only to fall behind again at the finish. Willard won handily.

The hall was fairly well filled considering conditions.

MARCH 3, Catalina Island, Cal.—Yanigans hung a 6-to-1 defeat on the regulars in their first game of the season Thursday.

Guy Bush and Buck Newsom limited the regulars to three safe blows in seven innings. Bud Tinning and Beryl Richmond were victims of the Yan's attack. The Cubs play the New York Giants Saturday and Sunday.

PASADENA, Cal., March 3.—Vic Fraser, who was almost a total loss to the Chicago White Sox last year, is back in his 1931 form. Manager Leo Fonseca discovered today.

Two years ago, Vic won thirteen games for a last place team, but last year was a victim of malaria and never fully recovered his form. With Clarence Fieber and Carl Boone, Fonseca has three hurlers already in near-top condition.

ST. LOUIS, March 3.—Another pitcher signed 1933 terms. Texa Carleton accepted his St. Louis Cardinal contract Thursday after a short delay.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 3.—Pittsburgh Pirates faced another double drill today. Manager George Gibson wasted little time in getting his squad to work Thursday. In the morning he gave the outfielders a long batting drill, and in the afternoon the infielders took their turn. Fred Vaughn's work at shortstop pleased Gibson.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 3.—Three holdout pitchers signed on the dotted line when they arrived at the Phillies' camp here Thursday. But Don Brown, who was hitting first baseman, announced he was dissatisfied with terms. He reported Thursday, eight days ahead of time, to talk over terms with President Gerald Nugent.

FT. WAYNE POLO VICTOR

By Times Special

FT. WAYNE, Ind., March 3.—Ft. Wayne roller polo team rallied in the last half to defeat Indianapolis in a Hoosier League game here Thursday, 6 to 3. The Capital city five led 2 to 1 at half time.

Thompson scored five goals for the locals and T. Lewis, Quigley and Collins tallied markers for Indianapolis.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3.—Four battersmen, two of them holdouts, still were missing from the New York Yankees camp today. Lefty Gomez, the newly wed, and Cy Young, both pitchers, have not reported, and holdouts Bill Dickey and Lou Gehrig are expected to arrive Thursday, turned up Thursday, a week ahead of schedule.

A BIG worry was lifted from Ownie Bush, the new Cincinnati Reds' pitcher, when Red Lucas, veteran slab mainstay, accepted 1933 terms Wednesday. In addition to some first class pitching, Red also is a star of the Reds' pinch-hitting department.

771 Prep Cage Teams Start Title Scramble

Action Starts in Sixty-Three Sectional Centers Today After Opening Tussles at Gary Thursday: Survivors Get Regional Berths.

Seven hundred and seventy-one Indiana high school hardwood squads, a record field, started the long championship climb today in sixty-four sectional centers.

After the play today and Saturday, sixty-four will survive for regional battles in sixteen centers next Saturday to determine the sixteen finalists at Butler fieldhouse on March 17 and 18.

Three games were played Thursday night in the Gary sectional, started one day early as an experiment in attempting to eliminate three games on Saturday.

Many upsets are expected in the two days of sectional play, with some of the leading contenders slated to be ousted in rivalry games.

Three City Teams Win Sectional Cage Tilts

BY DICK MILLER

Three Indianapolis quintets advanced to the second round of the local sixteen-team sectional of the Indiana high school basketball title carnival in morning games at Tech gym today, two of them in easy fashion.

Shortridge smothered Acton, 47 to 11, and Washington easily disposed of Castleton, 33 to 22, but Broad Ripple was forced into three overtime periods to subdue New Augusta, 22 to 20, in a thriller.

Broad Ripple and Washington will tangle in the opening second round game Saturday morning at 8:30 a. m. Shortridge will oppose the winner of the Decatur-Central-Oakland tussle carded for 2 p. m. today in another second round fray.

Two more city quintets got into action this afternoon. Manual opposing Southport, county champions, at 3 p. m., and Technical, title favorite, opening against Lawrence at 4 p. m.

In night tussles, Warren Central meets New Bethel at 7:30, and Beech Grove faces Ben Davis at 8:30.

It was a battle all the way, Broad Ripple vs. New Augusta, Stewart, brilliant little guard, keeping the losers in the running with a sensational one-handed shot from side-center good for two points.

Ripple led, 7 to 4, at the half, after trailing 2 to 0 at the quarter post. Keuhne's two field goals gave Ripple the edge. In the third quarter Ripple increased its lead to 10 to 4, but Stewart looped in a pair and Duncan a long shot to knot the count shortly after the final period started.

Ripple led again at 13 to 10 before Stewart one-handed a two-point shot from the center, tied the first free throw attempt in eight chances, tying the score at 13-13 with three minutes to play.

Tied at 16-11

Fultz' field goal and Moninger's charity shot gave Augusta a 16-13 edge. Samspeil got back one point for Ripple and Myers of New Augusta missed two free throws. With fifteen seconds to play, Haines connected for Ripple, tying the score, 16-16.

Stewart pushed in a one-handed shot from side-center in the first overtime, but just before the gun, Lynn hit a long effort and the score again was tied.

Murbarger Delivers

In the second overtime, Murbarger gave Ripple a two-point lead, but Stewart again came through with a sensational shot to tie the count. Lynn missed a setup shot for Ripple. Murbarger again sent the city quintet in front, 22 to 20, with a field goal in the third overtime.

Fultz missed two free throws just before the gun sounded, giving him a total of one out of twelve attempts.

Castleton offered little opposition to the husky Washington Continentals and the westsiders staged a basket shooting drill in the first half of the second morning game. Baumback hoped in four two-pointers to lead the Continentals to a 19 to 7 edge at half time. Leeper got two field goals and Howard and Ruede one each. Washington was in front, 11 to 1 in the first quarter.

An entire reserve team started the second half for the Purple and increased the lead to 30 to 13 at the three quarters post, Warren and McDonald setting the pace. D. Sowers paced a late Castleton rally which brought the count to 30 to 19 with four minutes to play, and the Continental regulars returned to finish the game.
