

LEADERS NAME CHAIRMEN OF SENATE GROUPS

Steering Committee Action to Be Made Effective on Thursday.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Committee chairmanship plums in the senate were assigned today by the Democratic steering committee. Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson announced the senate would make them effective Thursday in an organization meeting.

Outstanding committee chairmanship assignments were: Appropriations, Glass; banking and currency, Fletcher; finance, Harrison; foreign relations, Pittman; military affairs, Sheppard; agriculture, Smith; and naval affairs, Tamm.

Senator Copeland (Dem., N. Y.) was assigned chairmanship of the powerful rules committee.

Senator Long (Dem., La.), was assigned committee memberships thus apparently ending the feud with Robinson, which caused him last year to resign from committees in protest against the Democratic leadership.

The first woman ever to head a senate committee will be Senator Caraway (Dem., Ark.), and her responsibility is the comparatively minor committee on enrolled bills.

Meanwhile Republicans appointed a legislative committee of nine senators to investigate legislation and recommend minority policy.

The committee will consist of Senator Vandenberg, chairman, and Senators Johnson, Goldsborough, Austin, Townsend, Dickinson, Hale, Robinson of Indiana and Hatfield.

Other committee assignments were: Ashurst, judiciary; Bailey, claims; Barkley, library; Bratton, irrigation; Buckley, manufactures; Bulow, mines and mining; Byrnes, audit and control; Connally, public buildings; Coolidge, immigration; Dill, interstate commerce; George, privileges and elections; Gore, inter-oceanic canals; Hayden, printing; Kendrick, public lands; King, district of Columbia; Lewis, expenditures in the executive department; Logan, civil service; McGill, pensions; McKellar, postoffices and post roads; Stephens, commerce; Tydings territories; Wagner, patents; Walsh, education and labor; Wheeler, Indian affairs.

Activities of the Indianapolis Federal Home Loan bank thus far have been second only to those of the Cincinnati bank serving three states, according to report on the twelve regional banks of the country received today by Ferner S. Cannon, local bank chairman.

Lines of credit aggregating $16,829,400 have been extended here, it was said. Membership has been extended to fifty building and loan associations in Indiana and Michigan which have subscribed for $1,424,700 of the bank's capitalized stock.

Harold T. Donaldson, Lansing, Mich., bank president, was here today to attend an executive committee meeting. Directors will meet Thursday.

Resignation of Frederick M. Babcock, statistician and appraiser, to accept a position with the Prudential Insurance Company, Newark, N. J., was announced. The vacancy will not be filled for the present.

HUGE SAVING CLAIMED
$8,840,000 Cut From State's Expenses, Peters Asserts.

An estimated saving of $8,840,000 has been made by the Democratic legislature under leadership of Governor Paul V. McNutt, according to claims in a statement made today by R. Earl Peters, Democratic state chairman.

Here are his estimates: Reduction in cost of state government operations through reorganization, $3,000,000; abolition of assessors in counties of 5,000 population and less, $240,000; fixing pay of jurors at $2.50 a day instead of $3, $25,000; reduction of salaries of precinct election board, $50,000; uniform county salary bill, $900,000; abolition of county highway departments, $100,000; cut in pay of city officials, $200,000; deferred city elections (one year), $300,000; state budget reductions, $4,000,000; reduction of prosecutors' salaries, $25,000.

Miss Leonore Rundburg

A three-act comedy, "I Will—I Won't," will be presented at the Broadway Evangelical church at 8:15 Friday. It is sponsored by the Second Evangelical church.

Miss Leonore Rundburg has a leading role. Other members of the cast are Miss Eleanor Graham, Oliver Neiman, Miss Marjorie Mangold, Earl Lynn, Harry Hallstein, Miss Georgia Helen Wanta, Oscar Headlee, Miss Amy Gauld and Miss Edna Sitten.

The presentation will be directed by Miss Albert Speicher and Miss Margaret Wade is general chairman. Richard Herold will play piano selections between acts.

BURGLARY LAID TO BOYS' GANG
Six Trained to Homes Face Charge of Breaking Into Grocery.

After wrecking the interior of a Standard grocery at 548 South West street and carting away about 600 pounds of food and canned goods, six boys were trained to their homes early today by police and arrested on delinquency charges.

Led by a 16-year-old youth who faces a charge of burglary, the boys met at the store shortly after midnight, gaining access by chopping off the lock of a rear door.

In the store they overturned counters, tore down shelves and scattered canned goods and vegetables on the floor. A crate of eggs had been overturned. Loot was carried away in burlap sacks, in addition to quantities of supplies which had been carried outside of the store.

Police said they trailed the suspects to their homes by foot, which had been dropped as they made their escape.

The alleged leader is Harvey Cloud, 16, of 749 South Missouri street. He is held in city prison. The others are held in the detention home.

'Who Cares?'
Stetson Just Can't Get Excited About Those Red Suspenders.

BY HELEN LINDSAY
"It seems rather hard to get excited over a question of red suspenders, when the monetary system of the United States has collapsed."

That was the comment of Paul Stetson, superintendent of schools, when he learned that 11-year-old Tommy Setton, 4621 Rockwood avenue, was sent home Monday by Miss Anna Torrance, principal of School 86.

Miss Torrance objected to Tony's appearance in red suspenders, and sent him home to change to a belt. She told him that a "gentleman did not appear with his suspenders showing."

A boy's trousers must be anchored. Stetson was positive on this point.

It did not seem important to him whether the "anchoring" is done with red suspenders or a belt.

"However, I can see how red suspenders might be very disturbing in a classroom. Pupils of that age always are glad of an opportunity to giggle, and that may have been the case at the school."

"Of course Miss Torrance probably is technically right when she says that gentlemen do not appear in public in suspenders."

At least, when I was growing and learning etiquette they did not, and they probably did not in Miss Torrance's day.

"But times have changed in many ways, and perhaps the mode for suspenders also has changed."

WORK IS STARTED ON NEW 1933 MODEL HOME
Structure Will Be Centerpiece of Twelfth Home Complete Exposition.

Work was started Tuesday on the foundation for the model home which will be the centerpiece of the twelfth Annual Home Complete Exposition, April 22 to 29, in the Manufacturers' building at the fairground.

The house was designed by Leslie F. Ayres and will be built by Robert L. Mann. Carl Lindemann is chairman of the building committee.

Features of the house, which will be a laboratory for building and remodeling ideas, include a circular living room, a kitchen with a deep bay containing sink and cupboards and a roof garden which can be reached by elevator or an exterior stairway.

Members of the building committee in addition to Lindemann, Ayres and Mann, are Hoyt Fulk, Arthur Rentsch and Norris Shelby.

The home complete show is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Indianapolis Electric League, the Home Builders' Association, Allied Florists of Indianapolis and the Real Estate Board.

VAST CHANGES TAKE PLACE IN GEORGE V REIGN

More History Made in 22 Years Than in Regime of Any Earlier Ruler.

This is the third of a series of four stories about King George of Great Britain.

BY H. L. PERCY
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 8.—More history has been made during the twenty-two years' reign of King George than at any time since William the conqueror of Normandy started in 1066 the long line of Britain's rulers.

It has seen the birth of wireless transmission, the growth of electricity and automotive power to an extraordinary degree of efficiency; the development of airplanes and the general speeding up of civilization.

The biggest event undoubtedly was the World war. It changed Britain from the Victorian and Edwardian era of smug respectability to the more free and swift life of modern times.

Succession of Governments
It was the emancipation of woman.

It also was the beginning of the democracy of Europe, with the slow disintegration of dynasties and the gradual breaking-up of that chain of royal intermarriages that closely linked most of Europe with the British royal family.

Since his coronation in 1919, King George has seen his empire more firmly united by the Ottawa conference.

He has had his constitutional powers curtailed, and his title changed to "King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain, Ireland, and of the British territories beyond the seas, defender of the realm, and emperor of India."

He has seen the advent of Britain's first Labor government in 1924, and he has seen the succession of governments that followed it until the present National cabinet, headed by his close friend, Ramsay MacDonald.

Empire Is Expanding
He has seen the formation of the League of Nations, the world's first effort for peace, and the numberless conferences that have followed to achieve and maintain peace. He, himself, opened the second naval disarmament conference in London, 1930, and also the round-table conference that strove to give India some measure of independence.

He has seen Britain fall into line with most countries and adopt economic protection after nearly a century of free trade.

He has seen his empire, representing one quarter of the earth's surface, expand, not in area, but in population to some 465,000,000, roughly one quarter of the world's people.

They speak 222 different languages, and practice every religion known to man from Christianity to the voodooism of the African jungles.

M'ADOO 'BUMS' ALL OF CHAUFFEUR'S CIG'RETS
Banker Sends His "Man Friday" to Inauguration; Gets a Laugh.

NEW YORK, March 8.—A Wall Street banker is telling this one: He went to the inauguration, but dismayed by the crowds, decided not to fight his way to the platform.

So he made himself comfortable in his suite and gave his chauffeur his ticket for a seat with the dignitaries. Later the banker asked the chauffeur how he liked sitting with the great ones of the nation, and the chauffeur replied:

"It was all right, sir, but I sat next to William Gibbs McAdoo and he bummed all my cigars."

PLEADS NOT GUILTY
Embezzlement Denied by Newton Wright in Criminal Court.

Plea of not guilty to embezzlement charges was entered by Newton B. Wright, 62, of 6015 Carrollton avenue, Tuesday in criminal court.

Judge Frank P. Baker overruled a motion to quash charges against Wright, former treasurer of the Sixty-third and College Realty Company.

Indictment charges Wright embezzled $4,979 of the company's funds in 1928, after completing sale of a parcel of lots located in the northern part of the city.

Let's Explore Your Mind

BY DR. ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

1. A LADY ASKS: "IS THERE ANY ANSWER TO THE QUESTION OF PILATE IN THE BIBLE 'WHAT IS TRUTH?'"

2. CAN MUSICAL TALENT BE MEASURED BY PSYCHOLOGISTS WITH SUFFICIENT ACCURACY TO DETERMINE WHETHER TO SPEND MONEY ON A MUSICAL EDUCATION?

3. IS THERE SUCH A THING AS "PLATONIC LOVE?"

1. Yes. The art, literature, philosophy, science, religion, manners and morals of a man is the answer, except for technical problems of the philosophers as to "ultimate reality," "pragmatic truth," and the like.

2. The explorer, climbing the mountain, finds truth in the climbing, not in the view at the top. The humble view in the home doing her duty to husband and children, the workman doing the best job of work of which he is capable, the scientist searching for truth, all have found truth.

For truth, as a living reality, is the fulfillment of our highest functions, and we achieve the truth of life just to the degree that we do "the whole duty of man," and fulfill our richest, personal possibilities.

2. Yes. It can be measured more accurately and its future development prophesied better than any other human talent.

3. Yes, but a lot of love that goes by that name is no more like real platonic love than Joey Brown is like Buddy Rogers. Fine and lofty friendships, beautiful literary correspondence, lifelong comradeship of each other's company does exist between high-minded men and women with no thought of what is commonly termed "sex."

It is based on the inspiring friendship of two fine minds, and clear heads with many mutual interests in life. Platonic love is a beautiful thing, so long as it isn't too much tonic and too little Plato.

DRIVE STARTED TO RECAPTURE NATION'S GOLD
Federal Reserve to Aim at Flow From Member Institutions.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The federal reserve bank started a national drive to recapture gold today, after being authorized by Secretary of Treasury William H. Woodin to open for limited resumption of rediscounts and currency payments to member banks.

The federal reserve bank will assist member and non-member banks to conduct the limited emergency business authorized by Secretary Woodin only if they are complying with the spirit and the purpose as well as the letter of emergency banking regulations, and only if they turn into the federal reserve bank all gold and gold certificates owned in their own right.

Relaxation of restrictions in the federal reserve bank was announced here during the night, and at first was interpreted as applying only to this federal reserve district.

Must Be Emergency
Later interpretations of the order received from Secretary Woodin, however, made it appear that it affected all federal reserve districts.

The order specified that the federal reserve bank could advance currency to banks only if assured that there was emergency need for the assistance.

The significant part of the order, however, was felt to be the provision that banks could receive aid only by showing full evidence of cooperation with the federal emergency regulations, and by turning over their entire gold supplies to the federal reserve system, possibly to be used as backing for new currency issues.

Expect Further Loosening
Some bankers thought the move presaged a further loosening of federal reserve restrictions which might make it possible for New York banks to resume business and open at least some parts of depositors' accounts without resorting to clearing house scrip which is ready for distribution.

In any event, bankers prepared for business today under the Woodin limitation of business orders with far less uncertainty than prevailed Tuesday.

"Think what you save WHEN YOU BUY THIS HOME-LIKE LOAF"

said Mrs. Dorothy Ayers Loudon

at the Indianapolis Times

Cooking School

"ALMOST everyone recognizes Bond Bread as the fine, delicious, home-like loaf. But how many of us think of it in terms of actual money saving? I do—and I'll tell you why:

"In the first place, look at its fine, firm texture—compact and firm as the finest home-baked loaf.

"You know, the moment you take a slice in your hand, that it contains much more nourishment, more food value in
