

BURIAL ALIVE OF UNFAITHFUL WIFE CHARGED

Eight Members of Secret
Cult Seized After Tale
Is Bared.

MARTINEZ, Cal., April 3.—Eight suspected members of a Filipino secret cult were under arrest here today, accused of decreeing the death of a young woman compatriot in a weird midnight ritual which ended when the struggling victim was buried alive.

Authorities said murder indictments would be sought today against the suspects, both men and women, who were arrested after the body of Mrs. Celine Navarro, 26, was uncovered from a shallow grave on Jersey island in the San Joaquin river. It had lain there since last November.

Admitted Infidelity
Officers accused Leon Kantinello, 40, foreman of an island labor camp, of passing sentence on the woman after she had been accused of infidelity to her sick husband. They said she admitted the charge.

Kantinello was named head of the esoteric organization which authorities believe exercises a wide influence over Filipinos throughout northern California.

As police reconstructed the alleged murder, Mrs. Navarro was ordered to appear before a meeting of the Stockton group of the cult last November.

Previously, she had admitted incestuous conduct to her husband who forgave her. Again she confessed.

Pushed Into Grave
Blindfolded, she was driven to a lonely spot on the island. She was hogged, and then pushed screaming by a woman member of the sect, into a hastily dug grave. Her purse contained $130 was flung after her.

The grave hurriedly was closed, and a fire ignited to cover traces of the newly-turned soil.

Authorities said the woman's husband died a month later of grief.

The slaying was not disclosed until Sunday when a Stockton Filipino told police the story after quarreling with a fellow countryman.

CHURCH PAYS
PASTOR HONOR

Dr. J. Ambrose Dunkel Is Feted at Special Surprise Service.

Thirty-five years in the ministry, fifteen of which has been spent in the service of the Tabernacle Presbyterian church, Dr. Dunkel came to the church in 1918. Fifteen young people born in that year formed a procession down the aisle to the pulpit bearing cards spelling out the letters in his name. Each card bore the membership of each year. Fifteen years ago the church had 749 on its rolls and the present membership is 3,296.

Edward W. Harris, representing the church officers, met the youthful procession at the pulpit. The flower girls presented Dr. Dunkel with a basket of roses.

Harris related how it was through Dr. Dunkel's vision that the church moved from Eleventh and Meridian streets to its present location. He told of the pastor's efforts in building up the congregation.

An engraved poem, bearing Dr. Dunkel's picture, was presented to him.

BITTER REPLY IS HURLED AT FR. COUGHLIN

Detroit Paper's Controversy
With Priest Reaches
New Heights.

DETROIT, April 3.—Controversy over causes of bank failures here reached a new high today with the Detroit Free Press and Father Charles E. Coughlin hurling accusations at each other in dramatic debate.

The Free Press countered Father Coughlin's second attack directed at the paper in his radio sermon Sunday—with another Page 1 editorial threatening to call upon the priest to prove his charges in the courts.

Father Coughlin devoted most of his sermon to the attack upon the newspaper, its publisher, E. D. Stair, and the Detroit Bankers' Company, holding company for one of the closed banks here.

He charged that the paper had "wasted more headlines, more space in one week in an effort to vilify me than was devoted to relief of the poor."

"Morning after morning, my name, my nefarious activities were held up to the hatred of many," he said, "while some 270,000 fellow-citizens were forced to eat the scanty crumbs which fell from the table of the Lord, not one paragraph to defend them."

In reply, the paper asserted that Father Coughlin made no defense whatever against the paper's charges that he invested in the stock market. He failed to answer specifically the eight direct charges of falsehood made against him by the paper, the editorial said.

Meanwhile, the directorate of the National Bank of Detroit, which includes Alfred W. Walcott, president, P. Chrysler, will meet here Tuesday to select permanent officers for the bank.

DRIVE CHAIRMAN

5,000 Volunteer Workers to Aid Modernization Campaign Here.

With naming of John R. Kinghan, chairman of Kingan & Company, Ltd., as chairman of a special division in the city-wide modernization campaign, April 22 to May 5, plans for interesting property owners in a move to provide jobs for unemployed were near completion today.

Louis J. Borinstein, campaign chairman, and his assistants, will spend this week recruiting 5,000 volunteer workers to interest the public in improving homes, business properties and industrial sites while material prices are low.

Mayor Reginald H. Sullivan is assisting in the drive by urging that "modernizing work be done now at considerable savings to property owners."

He again appealed for citizens to take part in the movement which will "stimulate business, employ several thousand jobless men and, thus, turn thousands of dollars into trade channels."

T. M. Overley, director of the Better Business Bureau, as chairman of the speakers' bureau for the campaign, has appointed several subcommittees to work with him.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The national convention of the Widows and Widowers' Club, in session at the Hotel Knickerbocker, Sunday adopted a resolution demanding that the formula used in wedding ceremonies be changed to provide more money for women.

Will Osborne sang "In the Valley Yoo Hoo" for the widows and widowers while the vote was being taken. The resolution was presented to the convention by Mrs. Nellie B. Stull of Elvira, O., founder and president of the organization.

Five newsreel cameras were whirling as Mrs. Stull intoned: "Be it Resolved, That the people of the United States of America demand in such terms that there shall be no mistake about their meaning, that the phrase 'with all my worldly goods I thee endow' in the wedding ceremony be changed. Be it Resolved, That hereafter the phrase shall be, 'with all my worldly goods and money I thee endow.'"

New Social Playground Being Built on North Side

Private Center Intended as Exclusive Club for City Families.

Recreational facilities of all kinds soon will be opened to Indianapolis citizens at a private social club now being erected on White river, near North Illinois and Fifty-sixth streets.

The center, to be known as the Riviera Club, will be dedicated on or about May 30, according to James H. Makin, president, who, for several years, had charge of bathing and recreational facilities at Broad Ripple park.

Describing the club as "an exclusive family center," its founders said today, "it is to be a purely social center and not a night club."

Facilities for the exclusive use of members and guests will include a swimming pool, tennis courts, baseball diamond, horseshoe courts, children's playground, picnic grove and a dining, dancing pavilion.

Entrance to the club is to be by membership card only, which will admit the family and guests of the members, he explained.

Outstanding feature will be the swimming pool, 150 feet by 300 feet, with an arched bridge spanning the deep water. Water will be supplied from deep well and sent through rapid sand filters with capacity of 2,100 gallons a minute, making a complete change of water every eight hours.

PARTY LEADERS FEAR FOES OF 'SKIP-ELECTION'

Bring Pressure to Obtain
Candidates' Withdrawal;
Protection Move.

Leaders of both political parties are bringing pressure to bear to obtain withdrawal of thirty-four candidates of city officers who filed petition in the belief that the "skip-election" law passed by the 1933 Indiana legislature may be held unconstitutional.

Saturday was the last day for filing candidacy petitions. None of those mentioned for city officers who were reputed to have organized backing of either party filed petitions.

In case no primary is held, central city committees of both parties can file slates of nominees. Thus the political leaders would have full power to choose lists of candidates rated as "right."

Jewett Not Named
Should the "skip election" law be held invalid, permitting holding the primary election in May as usual, party organizations would be confronted with the problem of nominees whose status as "regular" might be wholly unknown. Hence, the pressure to have the petitions withdrawn.

No petition was filed for Charles W. Jewett, for mayor, said to be the choice of the Republican organization to hold the office again. Nor was any filed for oft-mentioned Democratic possibilities, including Sheriff Charles (Buck) Sumner, Prosecutor Herbert E. Wilson and E. Kirk McKinney, works board president.

Anti-Coffin Men Run
Republicans who filed for mayor were Elmer L. Gobel and Harper J. Ransburg, both rated as anti-Coffin, and Boynton J. Moore, who is attacking the "skip election" law in the courts.

Democratic mayoralty seekers who filed were Fred S. Galloway, member of the Indiana house of representatives in the 1932 session; Joseph T. Markey, who announced his candidacy last fall, far ahead of the field, and J. Ed Burke, south side business man, who is active in civic club work.

Others who filed were candidates for city clerk and city council posts.
