

SHAW YAWNS HIS GOOD-BY TO NEW YORK

Stalks Off to England After Saying America May Save World Yet.

BY JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 12.—George Bernard Shaw directed and acted today in the best show of his American visit, saying good-bye to New York with a stupendous and carefully timed yawn.

It was a yawn that may go down in the Shawian lore, for it was directed at the score of cameras which were recording the Irish author's final hour in this country.

The play, laced with many reporters, closed with cameramen knocked down a couple of microphones and finally stalked away from the photographers on the S. S. Empress of Britain.

In his first mass interview, Shaw told reporters:

"Gentlemen, fire away!"

"Why should they want to suppress war?" he responded in reply to a question about whether he was a pacifist.

"War is a method of killing persons. Many persons ought to be killed. Yes, including some of the English and nearly all the Irish."

"People prevent their own liberty when they make constitutions to govern themselves," he said.

Tuesday night, Shaw spoke as the guest of the Academy of Political Science to a specially selected audience of 4,000 leaders of the community.

He turned optimist for the evening.

"I begin to think it is possible that America, in spite of all the follies of the past, really are coming to the point in which America may take the lead and possibly help save the world," he said.

ALL CHICAGO PUBLIC SCHOOLS MAY CLOSE

City Is Bankrupt; Move Made to Help Teachers.

By United Press

CHICAGO, April 12.—Immediate closing of all Chicago schools appeared imminent today, because no funds are available for the $28,000,000 owed to teachers in back pay. H. Wallace Caldwell, school trustee, announced he would ask the board of education today to order an immediate shutdown.

This brought to a crisis a tinderbox situation punctuated with school strikes and protest parades of thousands of school teachers.

The announcement came at the conclusion of a day of riotous sessions in the office of Orville J. Taylor, board president.

"Millions in cash have been expended for idle in the city, while teachers, in just as much distress, get nothing," Caldwell said.

"The only alternative is to close the schools and let every one know just how serious the situation is."

William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, is in Washington seeking federal aid for salary payments.

The first open intimation that teachers themselves favored suspension of schools came Tuesday when 2,000 of them stormed Taylor's office after a parade through the loop.

Patrick A. Nash, an old-line Democratic power in Cook county, was thrown into the breach of Chicago's nearly empty treasury today and appeared likely to be named successor to Anton J. Cermak, slain in Florida in February by an assassin who fired at Franklin D. Roosevelt.

RACING MECHANIC IS HELD ON BOOZE COUNT

Bound to Grand Jury on Charge of Transporting Liquor.

Frank Rainey, mechanic for Lou Moore, automobile race driver, entered in several races at the Indianapolis Speedway, was held to the federal grand jury today on a charge of transporting liquor.

Bond of $1,000 was fixed by Howard S. Young, United States commissioner, at a hearing attended by Moore. Dry agents said they found two gallons of liquor in Moore's car which Rainey was driving Tuesday night.

Two other men, said to have transported five gallons of liquor, were held to the grand jury by Young under bonds of $1,000 each. They were Edward May, 135 North Edgewise road, and Paul Franklin, 1216 Naomi street.

In raid near Medora, Tuesday night, agents arrested James Reynolds and reported seizure of two gallons of liquor and 150 gallons of mash.

'CREEP DEATH' VICTIM SITS UP IN WHEEL CHAIR

Man Afflicted With Landry Disease May Recover, Say Doctors.

The first day in a wheel chair marked progress Tuesday in a successful fight against Landry's paralysis being waged by 23-year-old William Kruman of Culver, Ind.

Kruman was brought to the Methodist hospital several months ago by Dr. Donald Reed, when he was first afflicted with the rare "creeping death" disease. His first symptoms he described as a feeling of "sand in his shoes."

Local physicians held no hopes for his recovery at that time, and the paralysis developed rapidly, extending from his feet to his abdomen.

It Isn't Intoxicating(?)

But Two Men Blame New 3.2 Brew for Landing Them in Court.

It takes ten bottles of 3.2 to intoxicate a man. So says Calvin Worton, 20, of 1157 South Kealing avenue.

But Municipal Judge William H. Sheaffer and Patrolman Otis Tyner disagreed with him in municipal court Tuesday and Worton, who pleaded guilty to intoxication, was fined $25 and costs.

"Your honor," Tyner explained. "I found him Monday night sitting on the sidewalk at Maryland and Meridina streets. He couldn't walk. He told me that he had just finished ten bottles of 3.2 beer. But it smelled more like sugar alcohol to me."

Worton denied vigorously he had partaken of anything stronger than legal brew.

EFFECTS of drinking eleven bottles of 3.2 beer caused Fred Linville, 18 Park View avenue, to drive his automobile in a zig-zag line, he said, but he won't be bothered that way again for a year at least.

Linville's driving license was revoked for a year Tuesday by Charles J. Karabell, municipal judge pro tem, who suspended a fine of $25 and a jail term of thirty days. Conviction was on a drunken driving charge.

Henry Syloff, 819 College avenue, who was with Linville, was fined $1 and costs, all suspended. He was charged with drunkenness. Syloff said he drank two bottles of beer and that he was taking three bottles, found in the car, to his wife.
