

ARREST FOUR SUSPECTS IN JONES KILLING

Gang Caught in Louisville: Total of Nine Now Held for Crime.

Four men suspected in the machine gun murder of Police Sergeant Lester E. Jones during a holdup attempt were arrested in Louisville, Ky., Sunday morning, after fourteen officers had surrounded a house.

Indianapolis police plan immediate action for extradition of the prisoners. Five other men, charged with murder, are already in custody here, having been captured at Erlanger, Ky., on March 20.

The four held are Eddie (Toey) Dean, 32, one-time roadhouse operator; Richard Keller, 27, and Willard Kelly, all of Indianapolis, and Arthur Nichols, 39, who told the police he was the tenant of the house where the arrests were made. He has a wife and five children.

Keller drew a revolver as squads of officers rushed into the house, but was disarmed.

Police said they found a rifle, automatic pistol, revolver and a radio set capable of intercepting police messages, in the house.

The five men held here are Al Thompson, William Mason, George Schwartz, Fred Adams and Edwin Miller.

The radio, Mrs. Nichols told Louisville police, was a gift from Thompson. An expensive overcoat, Nichols claimed, was also a gift from Thompson. In one pocket was a large hole, which police said was for the purpose of facilitating use of a revolver without taking it from the pocket.

A suitcase containing clothing was taken by Louisville police from an automobile alleged stolen at Indianapolis, after a minor traffic accident Saturday night. The clothing belonged to Keller, and he has admitted theft of the car, according to Louisville police.

Local police say Dean has a criminal record here, dating back to 1921. He is believed to have been the "finger man" for the gang accused in the Jones slaying, picking out places to be robbed.
