

POLICE ACT TO BRING SLAYING SUSPECTS HERE

Extradition of Three From Kentucky Sought in Jones Murder.

Extradition of three men held in Louisville in connection with the machine gun murder of Police Sergeant Lester E. Jones was to be asked today of Governor Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky by Indianapolis police.

Requisition papers for the men, arrested Sunday, were signed by Governor Paul V. McNutt on Monday and three local detectives are in Louisville today to return the prisoners.

These in custody are Eddie (Foggy) Dean, former local roadhouse proprietor with a police record spread over the last twelve years; Willard Kelly, 30, of 1510 North Bostart avenue, and Richard Keller, also of Indianapolis.

Arthur Nichols, 39, Louisville, arrested with the three, will not be brought here. Police say he had nothing to do with the Jones case. He had been wanted by Louisville authorities on a charge of conspiracy to rob.

Kelly, his wife and two other persons were in custody a short time following the $2,500 robbery of the F. H. Hildebrand & Bros. packing plant and the $3,000 robbery of the Polk Sanitary Milk Company office, but were released when it was stated evidence was lacking.

Nine men are now in custody in connection with the Jones murder. In addition to the three arrested in Louisville, prisoners are George Schwartz, Al Thompson, Fred Adams, Edward Miller, William Mason and Andrew Bicknell.

America Is Falling in Love With Baby Leroy

Maurice Chevalier Introduces This Eight Months Old Child in His Latest Talker, 'Bedtime Story,' Booked Here.

BY WALTER D. HICKMAN

AMERICA is falling in love with a new baby and he is only eight months old. The reason for this national love affair is that Bobby Leroy is the cooing lad in Maurice Chevalier's latest movie, "A Bedtime Story."

It seems that Indianapolis is ready to fall in line with this national movement as the picture opens Friday at the Circle.

Have been informed that Norman Taurag, the director, had a real problem to keep Baby Leroy from laughing all the time. I have been supplied with the tip as to how the director kept the baby from laughing too much.

Here it is: Baby Leroy was in perpetual good humor. Ordinarily babies of his age can be counted upon to cry whether or not the script demands it. Baby Leroy was gurgling and laughing practically all the time.

There was only one thing that would make him cry, Taurag discovered. Then his tears were tears of anger, and not pain. He didn't like to have his nose wiped.

The moment his little nostrils were pinched between a handkerchief, he wrinkled up his face, closed his eyes, and started a lusty vocal protest.

Armed with this knowledge, Taurag was able to get in the few crying scenes the picture demanded.

"A Bedtime Story" is the story of a new Chevalier—a Chevalier who is still a debonair and carefree citizen of Paris, but who gives up his pursuit of the 20-year-old, feminine type of "baby" for the amusement and delight of a one-year-old.

Helen Twelvemore is cast as the youngest's nurse, with Edward Everett Horton and Adrienne Ames playing other leading roles. Indianapolis theaters today offer: Ralph Bellamy and Mae Clark in "Parole Girl," at the Circle, "Today We Live," with Joan Crawford in the chief role at the Palace, "King Kong," at the Apollo, "Under the Roof of Paris," at the Ohio, "Girl Missing," at the Indiana, Louie Lowe and his orchestra at the Terminal, and, burlesque at the Colonial.

JEWISH FEDERATION TO ELECT LEADERS

Annual Meeting to Be Held Tonight.

Annual meeting of the Jewish Federation of Indianapolis, at which six directors will be elected, will be held tonight at Kirschbaum Center. The meeting will be open to the public.

C. A. Efronson will preside. A report on finances will be given by Edward A. Kahn.

A symposium on history of the federation will be given, covering four periods. Start of the federation will be the topic of Rabbi M. M. Feuerlicht; its part in the World War period, by Isidore Feibleman; in prosperity, by Dr. Harry A. Jacobs, and in a changing social situation, by Joseph Hyman.

Nominees for the six directorships are Rabbi Feuerlicht, Efronson, Julius Falender, Miss Frances Mazur, Feibleman and Dr. Edgar F. Kiser.

CIVIL WAR PLAY WILL BE DE PAUW FEATURE

Faithful Reproduction of '61 Scenes Planned May Day.

By Times Special
GREENCASTLE, Ind., April 25.—Plans are progressing for the annual May day celebration on the De Pauw university campus, May 13. A feature will be the annual May day play under auspices of the Association of Women Students. The play selected this year is a melodrama of the Civil War period, "Belle La Mar," written by Dion Boucicault.

Miss Lucille Calvert, who will direct the play, plans to reproduce the theater of the Civil War period from the old-fashioned handbills and advertisements, with costumes, theatrical manner and scenery. The old theater specialties will be introduced, and the experience promises to be an unique feature of the 1933 May day.

Malt Dealers' Licenses Ready

GREENCASTLE, Ind., April 25.—Malt dealers' licenses now are ready at the office of Paul Fry, state excise director, it was announced Monday. Tax is $5 for a retail license, $25 wholesale and $50 manufacturer.

17,150 STATE VETERANS WILL LOSE PENSIONS

Automatic Cut Is Ordered From Pay Roll Under Roosevelt Economy.

Government compensation checks will cease for 17,150 Indiana veterans on June 30.

Results of the congressional economy act under President Roosevelt were announced Tuesday afternoon by John H. Aie, manager of Indianapolis office of the United States veterans bureau, at the bureau's hospital on Cold Springs road.

Notices of the automatic cut from the pay roll will go out in the mail to the 17,150 when the checks are sent on April 30.

In the meantime 8,700 compensation claims are being reviewed by the Indiana regional office to see if they fall specifically within provisions of the economy act.

The review should be concluded by Aug. 1 and during the review no new claims can be filed, Aie said.

Hospital Is Affected

Effects of the economy act as far as compensation and hospitalization follow:

1. Veterans with service-connected injuries or those totally or permanently disabled from non-service injuries are the only ones eligible for compensation checks.
2. Veterans with service-connected injuries may be hospitalized, but those suffering from non-service ailments must have served ninety days before Nov. 11, 1918; must have no adequate means of support, must be unable to earn a living, or must have some chronic disease.
3. Transportation allowance has been discontinued to hospitals for veterans except in special cases.
4. Burial settlements of veterans have been reduced to $75 if the veteran has an estate less than that amount. In the past $100 has been paid upon death to a veteran's heirs providing his estate did not exceed $3,000.

Veterans to Remain Open

Hospitals receiving $40 for permanent disability under the old law will be cut to $20.

Automatic slash of 17,150 from the pay roll will save approximately $240,000 monthly in Indiana. It is estimated that the eventual saving of all slashes will be $14,000,000 yearly.

Possibility of the abandonment of the Cold Springs road hospital under the economy act is not seen. Recent construction of the hospital is believed to work in favor of its retention as a combined hospital and home for veterans.

The personnel of the local veterans bureau may be reduced 15 per cent through the handling of all claims direct from the Washington bureau.
