

BATTLE ON TO KEEP PRESENT HIGH TARIFFS

Grundy and Others Already Are in Fight to Block Roosevelt Program.

BY LEO R. SACK
Times Special Writer

WASHINGTON, May 3.—High tariff advocates already are preparing to resist President Roosevelt's forthcoming plan for reciprocal tariff treaties with other nations. Even before the proposed legislation has been forwarded by the President to congress for consideration by the house ways and means committee, spokesmen for the continuation of the existing Hawley-Smoot tariff are arriving in Washington for conferences with Republican senators and congressmen.

Former Senator Joseph R. Grundy, regarded as the most successful high tariff lobbyist, has arrived to fight the legislation. Grundy said through the debates in the senate when the Hawley-Smoot tariff was up, and heard the measure denounced as the "Grundy tariff."

Accompanied by William Munro of Pittsburgh, president of the American Tariff League and president of the American Wine and Glass Company, Mr. Grundy called upon Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania to allege that the measure, if enacted, will prove harmful to American industries now enjoying the benefits of a protective tariff.

Senator Reed is in sympathy with Grundy's apprehensions, and announced that he will oppose the proposal if it contemplates giving President Roosevelt authority to lower existing rates.

Reed last week sought energetically to prevent passage of President Roosevelt's financial inflation program, and as a consequence, a movement is growing in Pennsylvania among Democrats and independent Republicans to elect a Democratic senator next year on the theory that the state needs a senator who will "stand by the President."

FEW SEND NEW BEER TO FRIENDS BY MAIL

Only One Case Is Shipped from City Office, Despite New Regulations.

Despite new postoffice regulations permitting the shipment of 32 beer, only one case of the North brew has been sent through the mails from Indianapolis, according to Leslie D. Clancy, postmaster.

A woman who expressed some fear that her husband might not be able to get his quota of beer while on a business trip to Atlanta, Ga., sent a case to him.

The postage cost her $2.41. The beer $3.75.

"Quite expensive," she told the clerk, "but my husband will appreciate it."

Let's Explore Your Mind

BY DR. ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

1. He should show his best. Dr. J. McKee Cattell, one of the foremost of living psychologists, has often pointed out the great advantage of trying to beat one's record.

Dr. Cattell has kept probably the most complete record of his own achievements from day to day of any man that ever lived. He has demonstrated that it is a great advantage for one to do his best today and then tomorrow try to improve upon it.

This applies as forcibly to courtship and marriage as to all other phases of life. Put your best foot forward during courtship and then spend the remainder of your life, not merely living up to your record, but improving on it.

2. No. Professor Foster Adams, psychologist of Ann Arbor, said to me: "Intelligence tests have their value, but even intelligence in my belief, is better measured by the long steady pull of school grades than by a brief intelligence test." School grades over a long period also reflect character and temperament.

Practically all psychologists believe intelligence tests have great value, but agree that hard work, self-confidence, stick-to-it-iveness, and the like are of even greater value for success. These qualities are only partially indicated by intelligence tests.

3. Yes. We all know people who are by nature sound physically and mentally, high-minded, generous, leaders in all social undertakings, dependable in every crisis. We know many others who are mixtures, weak mentally but strong physically, strong mentally and weak physically and so on.

All we desire is that the former shall be encouraged to produce a few more children in each generation than the latter. Thus the race would be moving upward slowly instead of remaining as it is or moving downward as it probably is doing now, both physically and mentally.

Kalberer Will Reopen Lyric Theater on Friday

'Follow Thru', a Musical Comedy With a Cast of Fifty, Will Be the First Stage Offering of New Policy.

BY WALTER D. HICKMAN

Final arrangements were being made today by A. J. Kalberer to reopen the Lyric theater, 135 North Illinois street, on Friday with "Follow Thru," a musical comedy with a cast of fifty on the stage and "The Past of Mary Holmes" on the screen.

For the past six months, Kalberer has been manager of the Fox West Coast theater in San Diego, Cal., and has returned to Indianapolis to become head of the Lyric after the theater has been closed for more than seven weeks.

While on the Pacific coast, Kalberer has met many of the movie colony at play as well as at work.

In speaking of his opening show on Friday, Kalberer said:

"Friday will bring one of the most singular events in Indianapolis theatrical history when the Lyric theater re-opens with the authorized and pretentious production of the famous musical comedy 'Follow Thru,' on its stage for an entire week and sharing program time with the talking picture, 'The Past of Mary Holmes.' RKO-Radio version of a favorite novel by Rex Beach.

"Follow Thru" has a cast of more than fifty performers featuring Joe Penner, "wanna-buy-a-duck" comedian, and Olive Olsen. Assisting are several other stage notables and a large chorus of girls. The show is to be presented in eleven scenes and two acts, running for approximately an hour and a half on the stage.

"It will be repeated four times daily during each day of its week's run. When first offered on Broadway, 'Follow Thru,' played for fifty-five consecutive weeks.

"This is to be its first engagement in Indianapolis on a motion picture theater stage, although it once visited English as a road-show stage attraction.

"Follow Thru" tells in song, dance and comedy scenes of girl golf champion and her romance with the club instructor. The comedy highlight of the show is reported to be the girls' locker room scene, involving Joe Penner in his role as the 'dub who is afraid of all women.

"Among the song hits of the original DeSylva, Brown and Henderson musical score that will be heard again in Indianapolis at the Lyric are 'Butter Up Your Overcoat,' 'I Wanna Be Bad,' 'You Wouldn't Fool Me, Would You,' and 'Lucky Star.'"

As to the future policy of the Lyric, Kalberer tells me that a permanent chorus will be maintained under the direction of Roy Romero, an RKO director. These girls were recently in "Stitch in Time," a unit presentation. This chorus will be local.

A number of vaudeville acts will be spotted in the chorus routine and specialty numbers.

Then once a month such stage shows as "Whoopee" and "Desert Song," will be presented.

Indianapolis theaters today offer: "Secrets," at the Palace, "The

OLIVER KEELY, VETERAN MAIL EMPLOYEE, DIES

Forty-One Years of Service Ended by Death; Rites to Be Thursday.

Following an illness of six months, Oliver A. Keely, 66, an employee of the local postoffice forty-one years, died Tuesday in his home, 2320 New Jersey street.

Funeral services will be held at 2 Thursday in the Flanner & Buchanan mortuary, 25 West Fall Creek boulevard. Burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

Mr. Keely was employed in the money order division of the postoffice when it was located on the present site of the Fletcher American National bank building. He served as cashier of the department for many years. He was assistant cashier at the time of his death. He was a lifelong resident of Indianapolis.

Mr. Keely was graduated from De Pauw university, and a member of Oriental lodge, F. & A. M.; Scottish Rite, Knights Templar; Central Avenue M. E. church, and the Sigma Chi fraternity. He was a past worshipful master of Oriental lodge, and past president of the Postoffice Supervisors' Association. The widow, Etta L. Keely, is the only survivor.
