

'NO POLITICS,' M'NUTT EDICT TO STATE COPS

'You Represent All of the People,' Governor Tells Officers.

"You represent all of the people. Play no politics. We will uphold your hand. I want to report to the Governors' conference in August that our state has the best force in the country."

That was the advice given the newly uniformed state policemen Wednesday as they took the field after two days of school at the statehouse.

It came from Governor Paul V. McNutt, who addressed them as they were lined up in the corridor by Captain Matt Leach.

To assure carrying out of the "no favoritism" advice of the Governor, Al Feeney, head of the state safety department, ordered each uniformed man to take off any jewelry representing lodge, club, church or other affiliation.

This included pins of the American Legion, to which most of the members of the force belong.

COURT FIGHT FOR 3 CHILDREN DISMISSED

Judge Refuses to Modify Order Making Them Wards of Court.

Juvenile court fight for custody of his three children was dismissed Wednesday by Judge Claude Webb of 174 N. Yorkville, who appeared before Russell, Newgent, juvenile judge pro tem.

He sought modification of an order which, in June, 1932, made the children, Mary Ellen, 4, Richard, 9, and Claude Jr., 11, wards of the court.

Under this order, the children have been kept in an orphan's home at Lebanon. The petition to modify was dismissed by William B. Miller, Webb's attorney.

4,500,000 PLANTS ARE ORDERED FOR POOR AID

Tomatoes and Cabbages to Be Distributed for Gardens.

Nearly 4,500,000 tomato and cabbage plants were ordered from seven state institutions today by the state unemployment relief commission of which Fred Hoke is chairman.

These will be distributed to local communities for the various unemployed garden projects, Hoke said.

There will be 1,969,500 tomato and 2,440,000 cabbage plants. Institutions from which they were ordered were the Logansport state hospital, Indiana boys' school, Madison state hospital, Indiana state prison, Indiana state reformatory, Indiana state farm and the Richmond state hospital.

SCOUT HEADS TO LAY SUMMER CAMP PLANS

Executive Board to Meet at Lincoln in Monthly Session.

Summer camp plans were to be made by the executive board of the Indianapolis and Central Indiana Boy Scout council at its monthly meeting at the Lincoln today.

The first camping period of twelve days will begin June 12. Registrations for the various camp periods are being received at Scout headquarters, Chamber of Commerce building, according to Edward A. Kahn, board president.

143 COURSES OFFERED

Twenty Departments Will Be Conducted at Butler Summer School.

One hundred forty-three departments of study will be offered at the opening of the Butler university summer school, June 13. The summer course will close Aug. 5. Special emphasis is placed on the academic needs of school teachers and college undergraduates in preparing the courses.

A faculty of fifty-seven persons will be in charge of instruction. Classes will be held on the Fairview campus daily, except Sunday.

Departments of study will include botany, chemistry, commercial education, English, German, history, political science, home economics, journalism, Latin, mathematics, philosophy, physical education, physics, religion, romance languages, sociology, speech and zoology.

CITY'S B. E. F. TO START

Second March on Washington to Begin Sunday, Is Word.

Ellis Campbell, commander of the Indianapolis contingent of the Bonus Expeditionary Force in 1932, announced today that approximately 1,000 veterans will leave Indianapolis Sunday on a second "march" to Washington.

Circus Press Agents Grieve; Gorgeous Adjectives Barred

Barrels of New Words Go to Waste by Order of Ringling Czar.

BY A. J. LIEBLING
Times Special Writer

NEW YORK, May 4.—Had Samuel W. Gumpertz, general manager of Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey's combined circus, merely ordered a change in the leopard spots, Buck Jones, the animal boss, would have arranged the matter. Already an elephant has received a coat of gilt at Gumpertz's command.

But when Gumpertz ordered the circus press agents to change their vocabularies he invited a crisis.

"So he don't like vastidities!" shouted General Press Agent Roland Butler when he received the news yesterday that the chief executive wanted press stuff that "any child could comprehend."

Ruined by Dictionary

"He don't like vastidities!" Butler laughed bitterly.

"Vastidities is a colorful word, a word that I never have seen used before by a living human being," he said. "It is hard enough to put punch in your copy without being hogtied by a Webster's Dictionary."

It appeared that that immediate break between Gumpertz and Butler had come on the phrase, "A preponderation of vastidities in the mammoth hippodrome oval," and "An overwhelming attoutement of stupendous innovations staggering to the human mind to enumerate or contemplate."

Maybe a Peter Rabbit Tale

"Hell," said Butler, "I'm glad I still got my typewriter. Maybe I can write a Peter Rabbit story about the circus. Now, little children, little Clyde Beatty is going to play with his little striped pussycats."

"Vastidities is a durb of a word," Ora O. Parks, Frank Braden, William L. Wilken and Charles Kanehly, his subordinates, draped in attitudes of despair around the press room nodded.

"Next thing he'll go for apogee," Butler predicted, bringing a mighty fist crashing down upon the table. "Zacchini no longer will be propelled by violent velocity from the mouth of a monster cannon, but playfully popped pat-a-cake, pat-a-cake-baker's man into a nice, soft net. Darned if I wouldn't as soon do press stuff for a string quartet."

But the gray-toned and bespe-

Brothers' Golden Jubilee, as it perennates its proud paths this season. But there should be a line somewhere. I have appointed Dexter Fellows official stylist for the circus.

Found in his suite at the Hotel Forrest, where with Mrs. Fellows, a host of friends and a bale of assorted roses and telegrams he was celebrating the twentieth anniversary of his marriage, the Nestor of the press staff reacted with his usual caution.

"Have you ever thought, young man, that this may be just a publicity device?" he inquired. "In my opinion new barrels of adjectives should be broken open for the Durbar of Delhi alone."

"The dictionary should be torn to shreds," Mr. Fellows went on. "Cataclysmic is a mild word indeed applied to the rutilant redundancy of regalistic revelry presented in the Durbar."

"Cosmically colossal is a bit I have been revolving in my lexicon for a while. It is not quite rich enough for this unit."

"The theory of circus publicity always has been, the bigger the words, the harder they fall. But Mr. Gumpertz is the boss, and if he wants simplicity, I'll certainly see that he gets it."

"However, I don't think it's fair to his show. Really I don't. Now if it were just some little wagon show, stupendous might be an adequate adjective."

as second prize, and $2 for third. The judges will reward the next ten persons to finish $1 each and the next ten will receive a pair of passes each to see "Oliver Twist."

Come on, you jigsaw experts. Now is the time to show your wares. Grab a pencil and send your name to the Circle theater in care of the contest manager.

And be sure to be in the Indiana ballroom at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, when names of contestants are announced.

You not only get a chance to prove that you are of championship material, but you also get real money, iron men, rollers, dollars, or what have you for your talent in the Times-Circle theater jigsaw marathon to be held in the Indiana ballroom Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

You enter the contest by sending your name to the contest manager at the Circle theater not later than midnight Friday. Out of the names received, fifty will be selected by the judges and announced at the Indiana ballroom at 9 o'clock sharp Saturday morning. The marathon will start immediately.

Each entrant must bring a small board or other flat surface upon which to lay out the puzzles made from a scene from "Oliver Twist," feature picture opening at the Circle theater Friday, featuring Dickie Moore.

The dramatization is taken from Charles Dickens' famous classic. Jigsaw puzzles will be furnished for the contestants.

Five dollars prize money will be given the marathoner who wins over the entire field; $3 will be awarded

LOWER RATES SOUGHT

603 Marion Residents Sign Petition for Reduced Electricity Costs.

Six hundred three Marion (Ind.) residents signed a Grant County Taxpayers' Association petition for reduced electric rates in that city and the petition was filed with the public service commission today.

An accompanying letter from President Julius Stallings of the association says that unless rates are reduced 25 per cent or more the Marion city council will be asked to put the city into the power business. Service is now from the General Service Company.

CHURCHES NAME DR. HOWE HEAD OF FEDERATION

M. D. Lupton Succeeded in Post by Ex-Butler President.

Dr. Thomas C. Howe, former Butler university president, is new president of the Church Federation of Indianapolis.

He was elected at the annual meeting Wednesday night at the Third Christian church and succeeds Marshall D. Lupton, president the last five years. Lupton was elected a vice-president.

Speaking on "Co-operation — A World Necessity," Harry W. White, general Y. M. C. A. secretary, said the depression may be the way God is teaching the nations their dependency on each other.

The following officers of the federation were re-elected: Earl Conder, Thomas C. Day, and Charles H. Windors, vice-presidents; Bishop H. H. Fout, and the Revs. Virgil T. Brock, W. C. Hartinger, G. I. Hoover, H. B. Hostetter, Clive McGuire, J. B. Parsons, T. J. Parsons, honorary vice-presidents; R. L. McKay, recording secretary, and Henry R. Danner, treasurer.

HOLMES PATCHES UP FEUD WITH SHERIFF

Assault Suit Is Dismissed Shortly Before Trial.

The dove of peace circled closely today around Ira M. Holmes, Indianapolis attorney, and Sheriff Charles (Buck) Sumner, with dismissal of Holmes' suit against Sumner for $25,000 damages for assault and battery.

"He's satisfied and I am too; so everything is O. K.," Holmes stated today. The suit was dismissed shortly before it was to be tried in the Franklin circuit court Wednesday.

Holmes indicated the sheriff had made a "satisfactory settlement," although he did not state the amount. It was reported at Franklin that Holmes withdrew the case and Sumner paid the costs.

The attorney had charged that Sumner hit him and inflicted a cut on his forehead at the Marion county jail June 30 (1931).

This happened, the suit alleged, when Holmes visited the jail for purpose of seeing a client, Lewes E. Hamilton, later convicted of the murder of Lafayette A. Jackson, Indianapolis chain store operator.

Editor Is "Just a Reporter"

AMARILLO, Tex., May 4.—Gene Howe, widely publicized editor and publisher here, insists he is "just a working reporter." Howe, who dared to write critically of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Mary Garden, often writes as much as five columns of news a day for his paper.
