CONSERVATION LEADER TO BE AID TO ICKES

Harry Slattery, Servant of Public 26 Years, Is Appointed.

By Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON, May 13. — A quiet-voiced, square-jawed fighter who for twenty-six years has played a vital and unswerving part in every battle to save America's natural resources, moved his headquarters today into the department of interior, to which he has so often laid siege.

Harry Slattery, whose public service as a private citizen began during the administration of Theodore Roosevelt, has been selected by Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes as his personal assistant.

He has a leading part in exposing the Ballinger scandals. A few years later he turned over to Senator Robert M. LaFollette Sr. the information which led to disclosure of the Teapot dome scandal. He was in the thick of the long Muscle Shoals fight, the Boulder dam fight, and a score of others almost as important.

He was for years secretary of the National Conservation Association, and for many other years was associated with Gifford Pinchot in his work in Pennsylvania.
