

Society Girl Is Lured by Camp Life

Elinor Stickney Returns to Follow Studies in Dancing.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN
Times Woman's Page Editor

MISS ELINOR STICKNEY decided recently that she wanted to go to camp. She remembered her experiences a few seasons ago at Perry Mansfield camps at Steamboat Springs, Colo., and the prospect of another summer there grew more and more inviting.

Miss Stickney made up her mind to go to and to manage on a "certain amount." She wrote inquiring letters. One morning she rushed in to her mother, Mrs. J. W. Stickney, waving a letter.

"I've a job," she reported with laborious calmness. The director of the camp had remembered Miss Stickney's training at Katherine Gibbs secretarial school in New York and had offered her a position for the summer.

Miss Stickney left Wednesday morning with Mr. and Mrs. Stickney for a stopover at the Chicago fair. She joined a train party there and was to arrive at camp today to remain until Sept. 2.

She is eager to begin the dancing classes with Adolph Holm, a former dancing partner of Ruth Page. When she attended the camp before she specialized in tap dancing. This year she will learn a new interpretation under Hanyu Holm, exponent of the Mary Wigman method.

Miss Stickney became proficient in tap dancing and was invited by the directors to join the concert group for special performances. She refused because home in Indianapolis was calling after several years of absence at out-of-town schools.

Recalls Desert Ride

"I'll dance in the morning, work in the afternoon, swim, ride and thoroughly enjoy myself the rest of the time," Miss Stickney said.

"If I can spare the time, I'll join the riding trips through the red rock mesas and cedar forests, to the sun dance festival of the Indians, and will go to the Sand Wash Basin for a wild horse roundup."

Miss Stickney smiled as she described the rides. She confessed, "The last time I rode was on the Sahara desert."

When I was a student at Miss Moxley's school in Rome, we took a trip to the desert. One of the girls never had ridden a camel, so I exchanged mine for a ride on her white Arabian horse." That was the end of Miss Stickney's riding experience.

She plans, if her schedule will permit, to study stage production, which will assist her in her activities in the Children's theater here. "I'll babble a little in sculpturing, too," she said.

Serves as Counselor

Miss Stickney has ambitions for a certificate, which signifies a high standard of work. "I'm not so sure I'll make it with the secretarial duties taking so much time," she stated. She proved her ability the first year, for she went back the second season as a swimming counselor.

Miss Stickney first went to the camp when impressed with the enthusiastic descriptions of Mrs. Thomas Reid Kackley. There's a home interest in the Perry Mansfield camps, famous for its intensive training courses for instructors. Miss Portia Mansfield, one of the directors, is the niece of Mrs. H. A. Mansfield of California, formerly of Indianapolis. The Mansfield home was removed to make way for the American Central Life Insurance building.

Finds Chinese Foods High in Diet Contents

By Science Service

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 1.—The ways of Chinese cookery may be strange, but they are particularly good in providing calcium and phosphorus in the diet, it appears from experiments at Oregon State college. The results were explained to the American Economics Association at its session here today.

The dish chosen for the tests was a typical Chinese one, it was reported by P. K. Van Hoo and Jessamine C. Williams. The dish was pork spare ribs cut in small pieces and cooked in a solution of rice vinegar, soybean sauce, salt and sugar for one hour at a low temperature.

An individual serving of this dish contains more calcium and almost half the phosphorus required in a day's diet, according to a minimum standard.

Most of the calcium and phosphorus were present in the finished dish, the experimenters concluded, as a result of the acid solution used in cooking, which drew these food elements out of the pork bone.

Many Tasty Dishes Made of Cherries

Parfaits, Ices Give New Uses for Fruit of Pie Fame.

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

"Billy Boy" made cherry pie famous long ago and a fresh cherry pie made of perfect, tart fruit is deservedly popular. But there are innumerable puddings and concoctions of modern invention that are equally delectable.

The big sweet cherries are inviting served fresh and whole. There are several cherry salads that are delicious and colorful.

One salad uses the juice of red cherries with granulated gelatin for the foundation, and sprinkles large white cherries, which have been stoned of course, through the mold. Add chopped nuts to the salad dressing used with the salad.

Cherry puddings are innumerable. Boiled cherry pudding was a favorite dish for farm hands when cherry pie palled. Eaten with sugar and cream it was almost a full meal in itself.

Cherry shortcake is made just like strawberry shortcake, using a baking powder biscuit dough. Cherry ice and sherbet are alluring hot weather desserts. Cherry ice has a distinctive flavor and if made with bright red fruit has a beautiful color.

CHERRY ICE

Two teaspoons granulated gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup cherry juice, 1 cup sugar.

Heat one quart of fresh cherries and strain off juice. Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes and dissolve in boiling water. Add lemon juice, cherry juice and sugar. Cool and turn into freezer and freeze until firm. Use four parts ice to one part ice cream salt for the freezing mixture.

CHERRY PARFAIT

This rich, delicious frozen dessert can be frozen in a mechanical refrigerator or packed in ice and salt and frozen without stirring.

One cup pitted cherries, 1½ cups sugar, 4 lemons, 2 oranges, 2 teaspoons granulated gelatin, 3 cups whipped cream, ½ cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons cold water.

Add boiling water to sugar and make syrup. Add cherries and remove at once from the fire. Let stand until cool. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over boiling water.

Add to cherry mixture with juice of oranges and lemons. When cold add cream whipped until firm. Turn into mold and freeze. Use eight parts ice to one part ice cream salt for the freezing mixture.

Distinctive Bathing Suits Lead Summer Parade of Costumes for Playtime

Beach Robes Made of Towels, Wasp Waist Suits Featured at Block's; Lotions Protect Skin From Burn.

BY HELEN LINDSAY

JULY 4, with its accompanying picnics, bathing parties and summer-time amusements has brought to the Surf Shop at the William H. Block Company some of the most attractive playtime costumes. Among these are the wasp waist bathing suits, made with a latex band at the waist, which gives the Mae West "hour glass silhouette." One smart yellow suit of this design is made with dark brown ties at each shoulder strap.

Inexpensive beach dresses, in red and white checks green and white, and blue and white, have matching pajamas. The dresses are in wrap-around style, tying tightly at the shoulders.

Cannon bath towels have been used to make attractive and practical beach robes. The robes are made of two large towels; the back of one entire towel, and the two fronts made of another one split and finished. Large pockets finish them. When the summer is over, they can be ripped apart, and used as bath towels.

Large Roman striped beach towels, seventy-two inches in length, are suggested for various bathing uses. They can be spread as rugs on the beach; used as towels or wrapped around the body, to take the place of a beach robe.

Hook's Drug stores are specializing in special lotions and creams for prevention of burned and chafed skin from the July sun. One of Lynn's skin aid, a nongreasy lotion used to soothe external irritation of the skin. It is a mild but positive acting preparation.

Another is Lehn and Fink's sunburn preventive, and Norwich has a special sun tan oil, to be used before surf bathing, to prevent wind or sunburn.

Noise-Makers Spectacular

TWO types of fireworks for July 4 are necessary to suit the patriotic ambition of the American public. Boys and men enjoy the "noise makers," while the feminine celebrants seek fireworks that are spectacular and beautiful. R. P. Friedman, of the Hoosier Hardware store, has a large display in his store, with an additional display at 29 East Market street. With the customary firecrackers of Chinese manufacture there also are displayed unusual effects of American manufacture.

The "Fiery Eagle" is a creation new to July 4. It is a bird attached to the branch of a tree, and when lighted the bird revolves, and a shower of colored stars illuminates it. Other novelties offered for the first time this year are a surprise box called "Pandora's box," which when lighted sends forth an assortment of fireworks; smokeless fairy fountains, and Vesuvius fountains.

One novelty is a cone-shaped firecracker, which shoots high into the air, and drops a parachute. This is for night celebrations. For the daytime, there is another which shoots high into the air, and drops a pilot.

Replicas Made in Paper

SAFETY gifts for children for the Fourth are offered at the Martha Washington candy shop, on the Circle. Large cardboard fire cracker boxes hold three-quarters of a pound of hard candies. They are tied in decorative fashion with red, white and blue ribbons. Special Fourth of July boxes of red, white and blue candies are assembled at the shop, for the children, and sticks of pure sugar candy in bright colors are in packages labeled "The Parade of the Candy Soldiers."

Paper replicas of Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington, also are on sale at the Martha Washington shop. They are exact representations of the famous home.

First Shoe Sale Under Way

FOR the first time in their history, the Nisley Shoe Stores are having a sale. Regular priced summer footwear has been placed on sale, to make way for the fall footwear, which has been made on new machinery, and with all of the latest design.

Compo soles will be shown in new fall footwear, according to the Nisley store. These are cemented to the shoe, in the accepted manner, for light weight shoes for women.

Eileen O'Connor Is Married to Chicago Man at Cathedral

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Chartrand read the marriage ceremony of Miss Eileen O'Connor and M. Robert Dinnin of Chicago, at 10 this morning in St. Peter and Paul cathedral. The most Rev. Joseph Elmer Ritter, bishop auxiliary, read the nuptial mass.

Miss Helen Shepherd, organist, played the Lutheran wedding march as the processional and Mendelssohn's march as the recessional. Edward LaSelle, soloist, sang "Ave Maria" and Thomas Poggiani, violinist, played "To a Wild Rose" during the ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. O'Connor, entered with her father to the altar, banked with arms and clobium fern. The entrance to the sanctuary was arranged with aqua marine vases holding delphiniums, lilies and yellow roses.

She wore an antique ivory satin gown, designed with a deep flounce of limerick lace, which trimmed her mother's wedding dress. The fitted sleeves were finished with deep cuffs of the lace and the skirt fell into a short train. The veil of ivory tulle was trimmed with lace from Mrs. O'Connor's wedding veil. The bridal bouquet was of lilies of the valley, white brides' roses, and gardenias.

The couple left for a short wedding trip before returning to Chicago to live. The bride traveled in a powder blue suit trimmed with gray fox collar.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Theresa O'Connor and Miss Martha Alice Steffen of Covington, Ky.; Miss Katherine Downey of Chicago; Miss Charlotte Kerlin and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kerlin of Sullivan, and Miss Martha Page of Pittsburgh.

The bride attended St. Mary's college of Notre Dame and the bridegroom attended Butler university.
