

—Let's Go Fishing— GAME AND FISH FIND HAVEN ON WALTON FARM

State Convention Will Be Held at Logansport Preserve.

BY LEFTY LEE
Times Fishing Editor

The Cass county chapter of the Izaak Walton League will be host to the Waltonians at its beautiful home one mile north of Logansport, during the annual convention of the league Sept. 4, 5 and 6. In the spring of 1931 this chapter bought a forty-acre farm, and have turned it into a haven for wild life.

A spring-fed four-acre pool produced 25,000 fingerling bass in 1932. The chapter now has four pools for spawning and is raising large and small mouth bass, red eye and blue gill. An extensive forestry program also was decided upon and 35,000 trees, Norway Spruce, walnut, Scotch pine, red oak, black locust and tulip poplar, were planted and are in a healthy condition.

The house that stood on the farm has been remodeled, and is being used as a clubhouse. An up-to-date bathing beach, archery and rifle range and a gun club with four traps also are part of the establishment. Birdhouses sufficient to care for 500 pairs of birds have been placed at different locations on the farm. Members attending the convention are invited to bring along their guns, fishing tackle and bathing suits, and leave the matter of entertaining to the Cass county boys.

More than 100,000 small-mouth bass were hatched in the two ponds at Memorial park, Huntington, this year by the Izaak Walton chapter of that city. This chapter also hopes to plant 25,000 large-sized bass this year.

An angler writes to request information concerning the proper method of carrying helminths. A better method may be known, but we always have been successful in placing leaves in the bucket with about one inch of water, which gives the bait its own choice.

The United Sportsmen of Indiana, Inc., is enjoying a steady growth. The lovers of the great outdoors gladly are enrolling with this organization in its efforts to make conditions in Indiana's fields and streams on a par with any other state in the Union.

This organization is pledged to stop stream pollution, promote public shooting grounds, foster reforestation of watersheds and waste lands, prevent unnecessary drainage of marsh lands, determine rights to waterways, encourage appreciation of the out-of-doors and improve hunting and fishing.

The membership fee is but 50 cents a year, the full amount being used for the above purpose. Lee Emmelmann is treasurer of the organization, and will enroll you if you mail or send the dues to him at the Em-Roe Sporting Goods Company, Indianapolis.

Harry Bason certainly can tickle the keys of a piano, but is an utter failure to date as a fisherman. His two trips this season, one to Lake Manitou and the other to the Oakdale dam, being blank as far as catching fish is concerned.

Harry is living in hopes, however. The art of being a real angler runs in the family, as witness the all-time record catch of his nephew, in the Niagara river.

The youngster, who is only 16 years old, landed a forty-two-pound northern pike. The catch created a sensation in that part of the country, and young Bason and his catch made the front page.

BANK RECEIVER SUES TO REGAIN DIVIDENDS

Hack Names 97 Stockholders as Defendants.

Renewing efforts to increase the liquid assets of the defunct Washington Bank and Trust Company, Oren S. Hack, receiver, today filed suit in circuit to recover $77,494 in dividends paid to ninety-seven stockholders.

Civil actions, authorized by Circuit Judge Earl R. Cox, to increase the receivership assets, include $2,500,000 against the Washington directors, and $625,000 against bonding companies.

The dividend suit filed today includes claims for the return of amounts ranging from $30 from several stockholders, to $11,887 from Mark V. Rinehart, director and former vice-president of the bank.

There were no net profits earned by the bank from 1918 to September, 1930, it has been revealed, but directors declared dividends out of capital stock.

On Jan. 4, 1928, the Washington bank directors declared a 100 per cent stock dividend on 1,000 shares of stock of $100 par value, thus increasing the capitalization to $200,000.

STOCK PROBERS TO DELVE INTO RAILROAD DEAL

Cleveland Magnate to Face
Grilling by Pecora on Thursday.

BY NED BROOKS
Times Special Writer

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Sale by Frank E. Taplin, Cleveland railway magnate, of a controlling interest in the Pittsburgh and West Virginia railroad at a price $6,000,000 above the market value of the stock, will be scrutinized by the senate committee when it resumes its inquiry Thursday of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

Testimony earlier in the hearings disclosed that the Pennroad Corporation, holding company in which the public had invested more than $130,000,000, paid Taplin and his associates $37,898,100 for 222,930 shares of the railroad's stock just a few weeks before the stock market crash of October, 1929. The price was $170 a share, or $30 above the market quotation.

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, made two unsuccessful attempts to get Taplin before the committee. He finally succeeded in having the subpoena served, and also summoned A. J. County, Pennroad's financial vice-president and director, who was active in the negotiations.

Pecora is anxious to learn who was associated with Taplin in the transaction; what their profits were; and why 73 per cent was purchased when 51 per cent would have given Pennroad the control it sought. Testimony also has disclosed that the Pennroad Corporation made a $1,950,000 loan to Taplin with which to purchase railroad stocks about five months before the P. & W. Va. deal was closed.

Pecora also expects the inquiry to throw further light on the conquest waged for control of important eastern tributary lines by the two rival holding companies—Allegheny Corporation, organized by J. P. Morgan and the Van Sweringen, and Pennroad Corporation, founded by the Pennsylvania railroad with Kuhn, Loeb & Co. as underwriters. The hearings will adjourn Thursday until October.

Attacks by Republicans on Roosevelt Regarded as Major Blunders.

BY LEO R. SACK
Times Special Writer

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Recent Republican attacks on President Roosevelt have caused such widespread criticism among some of the "elder statesmen" of the Republican party that a plan to reorganize the national committee is being considered.

National Chairman Everett Sanders, former secretary to the late Calvin Coolidge, who was chosen a year ago upon the recommendation of former President Herbert Hoover, is said to be aware of this sentiment. Despite Sanders' reported reluctance, the committee can be assembled at the request of sixteen members and these sixteen, it is said, are preparing to act.

volt by Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, Bertrand Snell, house Republican leader Sanders and others are described as "major tactical errors" by other G. O. P. leaders. They assert that the rise in commodity prices, the unquestioned decrease in unemployment, and the prospects of business rehabilitation through the national recovery law and the public works program greatly have enhanced Mr. Roosevelt's popularity.

My reason for liking Luckies is strictly personal

After all—since I smoke quite a number of cigarettes each day—don't you think it's just as well that I lean in the right direction? Perhaps you'd call my reason for liking "Toasting" the assurance of purity it gives me—for Luckies come in rather close personal contact with me, you know. Just knowing that each puff of Lucky smoke I draw in is pure—it makes the pleasure of fragrant toasted tobacco that much greater. Certainly, purity never hurt anyone! And besides—"Luckies Please!"
