

GRAND JURY IS CHOSEN, STARTS WORK JULY 17

Judge Baker Asks Every Member About Bank Connections.

Completing organization today of a grand jury which for the first time in Marion county's history has a woman member, Criminal Judge Frank P. Baker asked each prospective juror if he or any member of his family was connected in any way with Indianapolis closed banks.

Another question put by Baker was whether any relatives of prospective jurors were employed by the state, city or county.

The latter questioning resulted in excusing William F. Sandstrom, 4465 Carrollton avenue, an automobile body trimmer, whose wife is employed as a superior court reporter.

The woman member is Mrs. G. W. Gordon, 1503 Park avenue, who gave her occupation as housewife.

Other members of the jury are George W. Allie, 1523 Lawrence avenue, abstractor; Samuel H. Gardner, 2249 Park avenue, retired; Harry J. Gonder, 1222 North Lasalle street, cabinet maker; Jacob C. Beaver, farmer, Oaklandon; and George H. Blankenship, farmer, R. R. 6, box 410.

The jury will report for duty Monday, July 17.

KING MADE 'MEMBER': LEGION ROARS PROTEST

Headquarters Calm Down After Burning Cables With Messages.

National American Legion headquarters here was calming down today as the result of apparent settlement of an international dispute over conferring "honorary" memberships on King Victor Emanuel and Uremier Benito Mussolini of Italy.

Press dispatches carried the news of the honor conferred on the two by Colonel W. E. Easterwood, Dallas, Tex., national vice-commander.

Then the cable wires hummed with protests from Legion chiefs, who, in no uncertain terms, informed Easterwood that the Legion constitution makes no provision for honorary memberships.

Apparently, the matter is settled, but officials here are wondering just how seriously Easterwood meant his threat to take the matter before the next national convention.
