"Streets of Paris" Hot-Spot of Fair

Max Baer, Ring Star, Likes It, Too

Pyle's Human Ash Can Goes on Strike

CHICAGO, July 8.—Together with Timothy Mara of New York, a brother scientist and philosopher, I was taking another whirl at the World Fair.

Precisely, Mara and myself were headed for the hall of science to give ourselves over to an orgy of exploration in mathematics, astronomy, physics, chemistry and biology. Also, a good cold glass of beer wouldn't go so bad.

We had been told that the hall of science was the one exhibit that should not be missed, particularly if you were interested in the emotional moods of light beams, the home life of molecules, the development of petroleum and the cell theory of plant and animal existence.

We were making pretty good progress when a large illuminated sign greeted our eyes—"The Streets of Paris."

"Ever been to Paris?" asked Mara.

"No."

Even scientists and philosophers need mental relaxation, so for 40 cents apiece we found ourselves in Paris. There was Harry's New York bar, Joe Zelli's royal box, cafe de la Paix, strolling artists, gendarmes, peep shows, Apaches.

On a street corner a Van Dyck Frenchman from the south side was selling bags of French fried potatoes.

"This is the real McCoy," murmured Mara, wholly convinced and I found it easy to agree with him.

A FAMILIAR looking figure, broad shouldered and bareheaded, loomed in the distance. By his side walked one of the entertainers, a lovely maiden in veils and drapes.

"Ain't that—?" began Mara.

"It's nobody else," I confided.

And sure enough it was Max Baer, the prize fighter, doing Paris for 40 cents and obviously doing all right.

"When did you yodels get over," laughed Baer. "Say, from now on I'm a Frenchman. You guys can have America. If there was anything like this in China, I'd be a Chinaman."

The place is the hottest spot on the midway. It's a lurid copy of Paris night life—or rather Paris night life as imagined by the boobery. Up to Friday night, almost 2,000,000 people had paid to walk through the village with its phonographic deceptions and bawdy excitements.

WE had promised Cash and Carry Pyle that we would drop in to see him on our way to the hall of science on account of the fact that Pyle had added another highly educational feature to his theater of terror, namely, the human ash can.

"Do you wish to see a human ash can?" I asked Mara, feeling that we had already sunk awfully low.

"I do not wish to see any kind of ash can," answered Mara with firmness, "and that includes Mr. Pyle."

But somehow or other we got there anyway and Pyle was in a latter of feverish indignation.

"Can you imagine that ash can of mine. All day long he swallows old nuts, bolts, tin cans and broken glass and when he gets a headache and can't go on I give him an aspirin tablet—and what do you think happens? The guy chokes on it and then claims I'm trying to poison him!"

By this time it is getting late and I suggest to Mara that if we do not hurry we will not get to see the hall of science.

"Will you put that in writing," pleaded Mara—who when last seen was paying a return visit to the Streets of Paris.

COONEY 'GOES TO TOWN' as Tribe Smacks K. C.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 8.—With Johnny Cooney serving in the role of chief slugger, the Indians made it two in a row over the K. C. Blues here Friday night by collecting nineteen hits, piling up a score of 13 to 8. The Hoosiers hit about everything they could lay their hands on, nearly equaled the league record for total bases in a single game. The versatile Down East Irishman poked five hits in five times up, gathering a home run, three triples and a single. Moreover, Johnny scored five times and batted in three runs.

The American Association record for total sacks for one player in a game was established in 1925 when Paul Johnson of Columbus smashed out a homer, three triples and a double. Pete Chapman was another demon slugger for the Tribe under the night lights with a triple and homer. The Richmond youth batted in four markers and tallied two himself.

The Indians launched their attack early and their biggest stanza was the third when they sent five runs clattering over the plate. Fact is, the Hoosiers scored in every inning except the fourth. Duster Mills and Lou Fette were the K. C. hurlers made victims of the Tribe slaughter. Pete Daglia was the Tribe's mainstay, although he hit hard at times, the big fellow always had a lead after the third round.

Two Games Sunday

The teams will meet under the lights again tonight and then mix in a double bill Sunday afternoon. One of the August Indian-Blue tilts has been advanced to supply the fans with a bargain attraction Sunday. The Killersites will depart Sunday night for Milwaukee after a series with the Brewers will start on Monday.

The Friday victory here boosted the Indians to third place, St. Paul dropping back to fifth as Toledo moved up to fourth. Both Hoosiers and Hens gained a full game on the second-place Millers, who lost their second consecutive game to Detroit. The Tribesmen are six games back of the league-leading Columbus Blues.

Sigafoos Poles Double

Frank Sigafoos and Dudley Lee solved K. C. pitching for three blows apiece and one of Frank's safeties went for two bases. He was held hitless on Thursday. Conatter, with two triples, and Schino, with a triple and single, were the leading swatters for the Blues. The home runs by Cooney and Chapman were inside-the-park wallpops and if there had been a Hoosier cheering section there would have been good cause for loud yells as the Tribesmen started made the circuit of the paths.

Mills was knocked off the rubber in the Tribes three-inning assault and Fette told the remainder of the way. The Indians played errorless ball supporting Daglia and the Blues committed two miscues.

RIVIERA STAGES MEET

The new Riviera club at Fifty-sixth and Illinois streets will stage its first swimming meet today at 2:30 p. m. at the club pool.

Nine events are on the card. A 25-yard free-style event in the boys and girls classes under 14 years of age, a 50-yard free-style in each division, 14 to 18; a 50-yard backstroke in each class, 14 to 18, and a 50-yard breast stroke race in each class, 14 to 18, are on the card. A 50-yard free style open to all completes the program.

STOPS EDDIE ANDERSON

PORTLAND, Ore., July 8.—Ah Wing Lee, 136, Portland, knocked out Eddie Anderson, 139, Cheyenne, Wyo., in the third round here Friday night.

Kremer joined the Pirates from Oakland of the Coast League in 1924. He won two games from Washington in the 1925 title play, including the seventh and deciding tilt. Kremer has been unable to get started this year.

THREE TITLE SCRAPS BOOKED; Ross to Battle Canzonero

NEW YORK, July 8.—Boxing, revived by the Baer-Schmeling and Sharkey-Carnera tussles here, has a bright future in the metropolitan area. Three title fights were set definitely Friday, and another feature booked.

Barney Ross, Chicago youngster who lifted the lightweight crown from Tony Canzonero recently, will give the ex-champion a chance to regain the crown at the Polo grounds on Sept. 13. He signed with Max Baer Friday.

Timmie Rosenbloom will defend his light heavyweight crown against Mickey Walker at Madison Square Garden on July 20, while Lou Brouillard, who trounced Walker this week, will battle Ben Jey for the middleweight crown at Yankee stadium on July 26.

Old Billy Petrolle will try a comeback July 12 at the Polo grounds, while Garriks's feuding and hitting was outstanding feature in a lost round witnessed the action. For games, write M. Miller, 405 J. Street, Bedford.

Greenfield Boosters and Greenfield Merchants tangled in a slugfest Tuesday. Becker and Gladden each getting a homer and double for winners. For games with Boosters, write Lawrence Wier at Greenfield.

Lynchburg Cubs will take on the fast Oak Hill Flashes Sunday at the Cubs' field, Raymond and Lombard drive at 1:30 p. m. All players please report at diamond at 12:30. Walker, "Jackie" the Cubs would like to take you to good pitchers. Write Jesse Lewis, 203 Wilcox street, for information and games.

Mustangs lost a close game to the Forty-ninth street Trojans, Thursday, 5 to 4, the game being decided in the ninth. The Mustangs played in the "C" class and desire week-day games at Belmont diamond or at Riverdale. Call Klumb at 4775, and ask for Phil.

Bedford Merchants defeated Flannery-Buchanan at Bedford Tuesday, 5 to 4. For a pitching league, write the Merchants at Bedford. For games, call Glen Swisher at Drexel 0118. Flashes hold diamond permit for Saturday afternoon.

Greenfield Boosters and Greenfield Merchants tangled in a slugfest Tuesday. Becker and Gladden each getting a homer and double for winners. For games with Boosters, write Lawrence Wier at Greenfield.

Lynchburg Cubs will take on the fast Oak Hill Flashes Sunday at the Cubs' field, Raymond and Lombard drive at 1:30 p. m. All players please report at diamond at 12:30. ## Jim Londo Risks Mat Title Here Against Husky German Strong Man

Officially sanctioned world's heavyweight championship bout, bringing together the famous Jim Londo, Greek star and N. W. A. title holder, and Milo Steinborn, powerful German challenger, will be offered local wrestling fans Monday night at Sports arena, 500 North Pennsylvania street. Two other all-star matches will complete the card which promises to be one of the most attractive mat shows staged in recent years.

Steinborn hopes to use his highly touted "bear hug" hold to advantage against the Greek. Five of his last triumphs have resulted from his "bear hug."

He will have a 20-pound weight advantage, scaling 225 against big Jim's 205. Londo is a big game attraction and Matchmaker Lloyd Carter of the Hercules A. C. is expecting a record turnout.

Jim McMillen, conqueror of Joe Savoldi and Dr. Ralph Wilson, opposes George (Cry Baby) Zalas, rough Colorado husky, in the semi-windup, and Paul Harper, Texas, meets Abe Kashey, New York, in the opener at 8:30. Announced prices are: Bleachers, 60 cents; reserved, $1, and ringside, $1.50, tax paid.

30 Rounds Signed for Stadium Fistic Card

Two six-round preliminaries, involving local maulers, have been added to the fistic program which will be presented by Matchmaker Dale Miller at Perry Stadium next Wednesday night.

One will pit Jimmy Goodman against Jimmy O'Brien, welterweight, while the other will feature Noble Wallace and Jack Cocayne, hard-hitting middleweights. The card follows:

Ten Rounds—Eddie Shea, Chicago, vs. Lee Massey, Philadelphia; Junior lightweights.

Eight Rounds—Pete Pantaleo, Philadelphia, vs. Jose Martinez, Chicago; lightweights.

Six Rounds—Jimmy Goodman vs. Jimmy O'Brien; Indianapolis lightweights.

Six Rounds—Noble Wallace vs. Jack Cocayne; Indianapolis middleweights.

Only the four-round eye-opener remains to be arranged to complete the offering.

Shea, one of the most effective body punchers among the lighter men in recent years, continued training at the Washington A. C. gym today. Improvement of his timing and sharpening of those sizzling body blows was Shea's principal objective as he laid plans to turn the tables on his eastern foe.

In two battles in 1930 Massey won one by a shade and held Shea to a draw in the return clash.

After much bickering it appeared today that either Frank Buchanan or Jimmy Cooley will serve as third man in the ring when the featured attraction goes on next Wednesday.

Tickets for the show have been placed on sale at Spaulding's and a heavy advance business is expected, Miller said.

SHOOTING SPAR by Dick Miller

THE Legionnaires are going to mobilize again, but this time for a golf march on Broadmoor Country Club, Tuesday, July 25. The occasion, if you must know so soon, will be the fifth annual tournament sponsored by the Grand Voltaire of Indiana, Forty-n Eight, and that organization as usual has everything to offer for a single day of golf effort.

The committee in charge of the event, George McEvey, Dale Miller and Phil Clements, has been hard at work getting the event properly arranged and when we say they will have twenty-five beautiful prizes to award after the tournament at the annual golf dinner, that's right.

As usual the Grand Voltaire cup will be at stake because it has yet to be won three times for permanent possession. Anderson, the local champion, has won it twice and Columbus won it the first year and besides winning it, dwells in keeping Anderson's numbers, that's right.

Each Legion post is permitted to enter as many players as it desires and then use the four best scores as a team total. The four winning players will be rewarded with individual prizes. There also will be prizes for the team with the lowest net total.

Individual prizes will go for first, second and third place. There will be prizes for the players who have low gross and net on the first nine holes, for the highest score turned in for the day, the best strokes on any hole and for the player who comes the longest distance.

Those who have a hand in the prizes, pars, aves, sixes, sevens and eights also will come in for rewards. Now the most important thing is to get ready in time for the tournament, July 25, and it should be ready to go by 8 a. m. at East Market street, Indianapolis.

Meridian Hills and Indianapolis Country Club six-man teams will battle today in the second act of a home-and-home arrangement drawn up before the season opened. Bill Diddel, Ben Cohee, E. E. Martin, Bob Rhodehamel, Frank Shields and Charlie Arensman will carry the colors for the Hills in this fray, forming a slightly broken lineup from the one that broke even with the I. C. C. sextet at their course earlier in the season.

Eddie Zimmer, John Williams, Ben Coburn, Bob Bowen, G. I. Redding and Sammy Simpson will carry the I. C. C. hopes.

And speaking of team engagements reminds that the first of the always scrappy and stimulating play among the teams and clubs will be the I. C. C. two team scraps just around the corner. They play at 15 and then again on Aug. 12, using six man teams.

Highland played a 36-hole test to determine its team for the I. C. C. season. Young and Jim Stevenson led the parade with 153 each, two strokes better than Max Buell, Bill Van Landingham and John Kennedy. Paul Whitmore took sixth place with 186 and Ray Burdick will be first alternate by virtue of his 159.

The professionals at the various country clubs have been organizing caddy teams and stimulating play among the clubs. That it is showing remarkable results is shown by the results of match Thursday between Highland and Highland's sextet averaged 74½ strokes per man in gaining a 16½-1½ victory and this was paced by a sub-par round of 66 turned in by Freddy Lloyd, who defeated Harvey Yell in a 36-hole match at Yell's individual 73.

Local club's 69, Woodrow Dickerson turned in a 73 for the Highland boys and Edwin Beeson, Charles Lloyd and Robert Larock each had 75's and Richard Kempsey an 80. Beeson lost one point to Jimmy Gates, who had a 36 but lost the hole in 40 for a 76. Ray Pitzer took the other half point from Dempsey.

Shute Cops Open Lead

Denny Leads Craig Wood by Six Strokes in British Play.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 8.—Denny Shute of Philadelphia led Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., by six strokes at the turn of the afternoon round in their 36-hole playoff for the British open golf championship.

Shute scored 75 for the morning round, while Wood had 78.

They tied for the title Friday with aggregates of 292 strokes. The cards:

CHICAGO, July 8.—A field of the nation's finest 2-year-old fillies go to the barrier this afternoon in the $10,000 added Lassie Stakes at Arlington park.

An overnight field of thirteen entries was named for the race, the richest event in the country for young fillies. If thirteen go to the post, the race will be worth $31,900 to the winner.

The spectacular race promised one of the year's outstanding east-west clashes. Mata Hari, unbeaten champion, meets Slapdash, pride of the east, who won the Great American Stakes in New York a week ago.

Mata Hari, owned by Charles Fisher of Detroit, ruled favorite at 6 to 5. The Wheatley stable, owned by Mrs. C. H. Phillips and Ogden Mills, owns Slapdash. Betting odds on the eastern champion were 3 to 1.

Cincinnati kept pace with Brooklyn by downing Boston 8 to 5, after a five-run spurt in the fifth and Ernie Lombardi's homer with one aboard in the second. Lombardi drove in four runs with his homer and a double.

JAMES ROOSEVELT TO HELP BRAVES' PREXY

BOSTON, July 8.—The name of President F. D. Roosevelt's eldest son, James, was mentioned today in published reports of a reputed reorganization plan under which Judge Emil E. Fuchs would regain full control of the Boston Braves.

It was reported unofficially that Fuchs, president of the club for the past ten years, might buy out the interests of his partners, Charles F. Adams and V. Bruce Wetmore, if he were able to meet certain terms by July 20. To acquire the stock held by Adams and Wetmore, it was reported, Fuchs would have to pay something like $350,000.

Young Roosevelt was said to be acting as treasurer for a group of Boston sportsmen seeking to assist Fuchs.

CHICAGO, July 8.—Harley Boss, Cleveland Indians' first baseman, rejoined his teammates in Washington today, cleared of charges of criminal attack preferred in circuit court here by winsome Lillian Eloise Mitchell of Winston-Salem, N. C.

A verdict acquitting Boss was returned by the jury Friday night, after it took two ballots. Jurors said they found discrepancies in Miss Mitchell's story of an attempted attack by Boss in a Cleveland hotel last April 19. As a result of the purported attack, Miss Mitchell had sought damages of $50,000.
