

YOUNG BANDIT PLEADS GUILTY, GETS 10 YEARS

Alleged Companions to Be Arraigned in City
Court Today.

Three members of an alleged bandit gang charged with fourteen robberies in Indianapolis were to be arraigned in municipal court today.

Another alleged member of the gang, William Allen Shaw, 19-year-old Indianapolis youth, was sentenced to serve ten years in the Indiana state reformatory Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to auto banditry in Delaware circuit court, Muncie.

Richard Turner, 21, and his father, James Turner, 51, of 2039 Ludlow avenue, and Paul Parker, 21, of 1233 East Sixteenth street, were to be arraigned here today.

Confession Is Claimed

Shaw's arraignment followed a purported confession to police that he had taken part in the holdup Friday night of a barbecue stand near Muncie. He also is alleged to have confessed that he was one of the gang which attempted to rob the Monticello (Ind) Thread Mill, June 4, when Fred Fisher, superintendent was wounded.

In his alleged confession, Shaw said that the Monticello robbery attempt was one of a number planned by the gang and "laid out" in a draft made by a prisoner in the Indiana state prison.

The draft, in the form of a map, charted routes and approaches to concerns and institutions in Monticello "that would be easy to take." The map, he is alleged to have told police, was brought out of prison by a paroled convict.

Implicates City Man

He implicated Noble Claycomb, 30, of 1223 North State avenue, also charged with being a member of the gang. In the Monticello robbery he told police that he had his revolver "under Fisher's chair" when attempting to rob the mill. "But I didn't want to shoot any one, so I let loose of the gun and ran," he is alleged to have said.

He charged Claycomb with firing the shot which struck Fisher in the leg, police asserted.

Shaw said that he turned bandit to get money to marry an Indianapolis girl.

"I was in five jobs," police quoted him, "and out of the whole mess I got only $85. Add to that this prison sentence and—well, it doesn't pay."

Bride with Bandit Gang

Shaw, Claycomb and Parker all were arrested at Shaw's apartment in Muncie, Saturday, a few hours after the robbery of the Bide-a-Wee inn, where $70 was taken. Shaw's bride of a few weeks was with the alleged bandit gang when they were arrested.

She told the police that she didn't know where her husband was getting his funds, but thought money was being sent by his mother.

James Turner, one of the prisoners to be arraigned today, is charged with being implicated in plans for the robberies but, according to police, is not believed to have participated in any.
