

SPECULATE ON HULL RESIGNING POST IN CABINET

State Secretary, Returning From London Parley, Sticks to Guns.

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
Series-Howard Foreign Editor

WASHINGTON, July 28.—As State Secretary Cordell Hull set sail today from the scene of the ill-fated world economic conference at London to return to the state department, there was speculation here as to whether the proud, sensitive, high-minded Tennesseean would remain much longer in the Roosevelt cabinet.

Apparently, his views and those of the President and some of the men about the President—including General Hugh S. Johnson, industrial commission, and assistant State Secretary Raymond Moley, one of the brain trust—are not altogether in harmony.

In his closing speech before the London conference Thursday, just as he had done at the commencement, Secretary Hull warned the world that tariff barriers would have to come down and other economic and financial problems on the conference agenda be settled before world recovery would be complete.

Here in Washington, General Johnson was telling correspondents that the United States might have to increase its tariffs against imports in order to protect American producers whose costs are now mounting. "We will act promptly if necessary," he said.

Currency stabilization and tariff reduction were the two major items on the London agenda. The President refused to permit dollar stabilization or tariff issues to come up.

The world has $40,000,000,000 less commerce annually than normally, Secretary Hull reminded in his speech Thursday, and a revival of foreign trade to take care of surpluses and help put 30,000,000 unemployed back to work he regarded as one of the main keys to prosperity. He reiterated his firm belief in world co-operation as a way out of the depression.

Moley, on the contrary, contends that world trade relatively is unimportant and that "in large part the cures for our difficulties lie within ourselves." He believes in each nation pulling itself out of the hole, though he admits "wise international co-operation can help."

SCOUTS ON WAY TO JAMBOREE REPORT

Message From City Travelers Is Read to Executive Board.

A message from Indianapolis Scouts en route to the international Boy Scout Jamboree at Budapest, Hungary, was read at a meeting of the Boy Scout executive board at noon today at the Lincoln.

The troops, under direction of F. O. Belzer, Scout executive here, sent the message from London, after completing a tour throughout England. The Indianapolis boys said they are looking forward to attending the jamboree where they will put on an Indian stunt along with the Texas delegation.

Irving Williams, court of honor chairman, read some statistics, in which he pointed out that more Scouts are working on merit badge honors than ever before in the history of the local scout organization.

Aimee's Davy Dodges Ripe Eggs, but Show Goes On

BY GEORGE H. BEALE
United Press Staff Correspondent

OLLYWOOD, July 28.—If the lusty baritone voice of David L. Hutton ever turns sour he can fall back on a career as an "African dodger."

The 250-pound estranged husband of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton qualified for any carnival when he dodged five fast-thrown and very ripe eggs at his opening vaudeville appearance then—

From Row 1, Seat 1, came an egg, propelled by an attractive young woman.

Showing an agility remarkable in one of his bulk, the crooner dodged it.

The young woman sent four more eggs after the first. They smashed against the back drop and splashed across the stage floor.

The perspiring baritone, weaving and bobbing, managed to keep his white flannels unspotted.

A back-saver saved the torch crooner from further embarrassment and stage hands were called to clear away the debris.

The young woman was taken to the police station, and booked on a charge of disturbing the peace.
