specific harbingers of co-operation in the recovery program came. "Officials of the Standard Oil Company have been in Washington for some time aiding in the negotiations regarding the petroleum industry code," said F. H. Pillingham, Indianapolis manager today. "Preparations are being made by the company to comply wholeheartedly with the provisions of the code."

The central division of the Gulf Refining Company, which includes Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan joined the President's call for action Tuesday by signing the NRA code, according to G. D. Kessler, manager.

National Biscuit Company, the Uneda Bakers, have signed the President's re-employment agreement. The company employs 300 people in Indianapolis who will benefit by shorter working hours. More employment will result, the company stated, as a result of their agreement with the government.

Richberg to Speak

"The National Industrial Recovery Act" will be the subject of a radio broadcast over the Columbia network at 4:45 p. m., eastern daylight saving time, today by Donald A. Richberg, general counsel for the NRA. The program is sponsored by the American Legion.

Indianapolis Poultry Butcher and Egg Association officials said they are in hearty accord with the general federal recovery program, but are awaiting interpretation of the code of their industry at Washington before signing agreements. Local members of the industry said they have been instructed they will be given until Sept. 1 to sign agreements.

Miners to Get Increase

Wage scale in the limestone industry went into effect Monday, according to a report from Bloomington, the Auburn Automobile Company at Auburn put a 15 per cent increase for hourly labor into effect and the Mishawaka Rubber and Woolen Company announced a 15 per cent increase in the pay roll. At Princeton, 112 miners employed in the Somerset colliery mine will receive a 25 per cent increase. 400 employees at Anderson signed the blanket code of the NRA, and at Huntington 25 city employees were put on the forty-hour week.

War on 'Chiseling'

BY H. O. THOMPSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Aroused by evidence of "chiseling" on the voluntary re-employment agreements, NRA officials today determined to make a strict checkup of violations and evasions. Administrator Hugh S. Johnson prepared for a survey to disclose not only actual violations, but also round about methods by which some employers are seeking to display the blue eagle, and obtain benefits of the agreement without making any real contribution to re-employment and wage increases.

Reports from regional offices showed hundreds of thousands of signatures to the agreements. What the NRA officials are more anxious to know, however, is the number of men actually re-employed and the amount of money added to the nation's pay rolls. This information will be obtained through a questionnaire to all employers. The great organization being developed through all the states will make a check-up comparatively simple. In its final form the organization, designed to spread the gospel of the re-employment drive in every city and town, will be adaptable also to store-to-store canvasses and other methods of obtaining desired information.

The nation-wide organization is being perfected rapidly. Members of twenty-six districts and forty-eight state recovery boards were appointed late Tuesday.

Empty Vault Is Blown at Realty Firm.

Yeggmans were busy in Indianapolis Tuesday night, damaging safes in several offices, with little loot for their trouble.

About $30 was obtained by burglars who blew open a small safe at the Irwin Stout real estate office, 136 North Delaware street, Room 102. A wall safe in the A. J. Hueber Realty Company office, 144 North Delaware street, was blown open during the night, but employees said it contained no money.

A few doors away, the Patterson Shade Company, 136 North Delaware street, was entered, but no loot obtained. Combination was knocked from the safe in the Bader Coffee Company, 618 North Davidson street, but the yeggmans were unable to open the safe.

The Yavorovitz department store, 1255 Oliver avenue, was broken into and ransacked during the night. Stock of the store was being checked today to determine the loss. Babe Bishop, 515 East Wabash street, reported her home entered by a burglar Tuesday, who stole an Elk's tooth set with a $150 diamond, a $1 bill, some jewelry and a box of relics.

'Appreciation' to Be Shown for 'Last Ditch' Fight for Pensions.

War veterans of Indianapolis are being "recruited" this week to parade in honor of Senator Arthur R. Robinson Sunday in "appreciation" of his last-ditch fight in the senate against the administration economy measure, cutting veterans' pensions.

The parade will be held at 1:30, forming in front of the Antlers and marching south on Meridian street to the monument, east to Pennsylvania, and north to Michigan street.

Robinson will address the veterans from the imposing background of the World War Memorial plaza shrine, speaking from the north steps.

The parade and meeting are expected to have an influence on legislation favorable to veterans next January.

Among the organizations invited to take part are the G. A. R., United Spanish War Veterans, D. A. R., American Legion, V. F. W., War Mothers, Gold Star Mothers and auxiliaries.

James C. Mangus, U. S. W. V. senior vice-commander, is in charge of arrangements. Harry Franklin will be parade marshal.

'It's Love' Plea Fails to Save Brick Wielder

Ex-Negro Pugilist Is Given
30-Day Sentence for Attack on Rival.

Because of his artistry in wielding bricks, Charles (Shifty) Calloway, 29, of 614 West Michigan street, one-time prominent Indianapolis Negro welterweight pugilist, will get thirty days free practice in brick handling, Judge Dewey ruled Tuesday in municipal court.

And it all came because of "love," Shifty told the judge.

Accused of knocking William Stiles, 35, Negro, 1108 Maple street, cold with a brick, Calloway admitted his deed. In love with Anna Mason, Negro, of the Maple street address, said Shifty, he called to visit Anna.

He declared that Stiles, a sure-enough heavyweight, attempted to dissuade him from talking to Anna, and that when Stiles reached for his pocket that resembled a gun, he went into action.

"Judge, a man's got to defend himself with anything that he's got. Judge, I had a brick."

John Owens, another Negro heavyweight, from the Maple street house, declared he saw the encounter, but Calloway broke in with:

"He didn't see anything, judge. He was hiding behind Stiles."

When Owens offered no denial to this, Myers waved him aside, and sentenced Shifty to thirty days on the state farm and tacked on $1 and costs fine for good measure.

TALK LINCOLN SHRINE

Illinois Court Where He Practiced
Law to Be Preserved.

By United Press

MT. PULASKI, Ill., Aug. 2.—Plans for making a Lincoln shrine out of the old Logan county courthouse, located on the public square here, are being formulated by a group of local residents.

Lincoln practiced law as a circuit rider in this old brick structure in the days before he became famous.

The Postville courthouse also made famous as a place in which Lincoln pleaded his cases was purchased several years ago by Henry Ford and moved in its entirety to his Dearborn village near Detroit.

Marcellus Cole, who has been serving a ten to twenty-one year robbery sentence in the Indiana state prison since Oct. 8, 1925, had his sentence commuted to from seven to twenty-one years and was paroled today by the state pardon board.

He was one of six prisoners to be released by the board and the only one sentenced from Marion county to secure clemency.

Former Judge James A. Collins, who sentenced Cole, recommended his release.

Parole also went to Jess Edward Derringer, Connersville, for whom Raymond S. Springer entered a plea before the board. Springer also appeared today for Earl Ellison, convicted on a false check charge.

Hearings on reformatory cases continued today.

Twenty-two prison cases were denied clemency and one was continued.

SHOOTS AT CHICKEN THIEF FROM AMBUSH

Prowler Believed Wounded
on Farm Near City.

Running into an ambush, a persistent chicken thief was believed wounded by a shotgun charge on the farm of Stanton G. Dawson, Sixty-third street and Keystone avenue, early today.

Dawson said his henhouse had been robbed of six fowls Thursday night and twenty Friday night.

Since then, an employee, James Lockhart, 46, Negro, has been hiding near the coop each night, armed with a shotgun.

Shortly after midnight Lockhart told Deputy Sheriff Harry Cook, who investigated, a man attempted to break into the coop. Lockhart fired, and the intruder screamed, and ran, escaping.

He said he believed the shot struck the thief, as there was a blank the size of a man's body in the pattern of shot in the chicken house wall.

By United Press

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 2.—Two bandits held up a clerk in an exclusive jewelry shop here late Tuesday and escaped with $100,000 in diamond rings, bracelets and other jewelry.

Mrs. Henry B. R. Ripley, society leader of Newport and New York, had just departed when the men came into the Bellevue avenue shop of Thomas Kirkpatrick, New York jeweler.

After ordering Henry Coppi, a clerk, to stand back or "you will be shot," they scooped up the jewelry which Coppi had been showing to Mrs. Ripley, and escaped in an automobile in the direction of Providence.
