SEEK IDENTITY OF LAD MANGLED UNDER TRAIN

Youth Killed in Kansas En Route to City, Police Are Informed.

Aid of Indianapolis police in identifying a youth killed July 23 in a railroad yard at Newton, Kan., is sought in a letter received today from Dr. M. C. Martin, Harvey county (Kan.) coroner.

Martin wrote that the youth told a railroad employee in Dodge City, Kan., a few days earlier, that he was from Indianapolis and was on his way home. His body, and that of a companion, believed to be from Massachusetts, was mangled so badly that an accurate description is impossible.

The coroner said the youth, probably still in his teens, was about six feet tall, had light yellowish or reddish hair, relatively small ears, short nose, blue eyes, and, at Dodge City, was seen wearing a light blue faded felt skull cap of overseas pattern, cheap gray whipcord riding breeches, black leather puttees, black oxfords and either a red or blue sweater.

Police said the description does not fit any missing youths from the city, on which they have reports, but that it might fit several boys from the county who have been reported as missing.

THE NEW DEAL IN PICTURES—NO. 6

Text by John M. Gleissner—Sketches by Don Lavin

Congress enacted the Wagner-Lewis bill providing for gifts to the states of $500,000,000 from the federal treasury to assist in providing direct relief to the unemployed.

The bill ended the practice of lending funds to the states, and makes grants which need not be repaid. It created a Federal Relief Administration, of which Harry L. Hopkins has been named head.

Half the sum appropriated will be given to the states in amounts equal to one-third of the money appropriated by a state and its subdivisions for unemployment relief.

The remaining $250,000,000 will be given to the states outright on the basis of proved need where state funds have become exhausted.

MILK CODE TO BE 'TEST' FOR RECOVERY PLAN

Federal Judge Is Ready to 'Throw Out' Regulation If Found Unfair.

BY JOHN B. MILLER

United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, Aug. 2—Declaring himself ready to "throw out" the administration's plan for agricultural betterment if it is unfair to independent milk dealers, Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson Tuesday delayed until Aug. 7 his decision on legality of the broad recovery law.

The jurist summarily refused to grant an injunction sought to prevent inauguration of the new milk price and production adjustment in the Chicago area.

"I am not going to rule on the constitutionality of this order and its unreasonableness and unfairness without an adequate hearing," Wilkerson declared.

MAP DRIVE AGAINST STREAM POLLUTION

Game Protective Group Head Lauds Times Series.

Stream pollution in Marion county will be one of the important subjects to be discussed by the Marion County Fish and Game Protective Association when it meets in September.

Efforts will be made to increase the association's membership and to rally that membership to the need for ending pollution of waters, according to O. Stewart Imhoff, president of the association.

Imhoff praised the series of stories of The Indianapolis Times on the ruining of fishing and swimming spots by pollution.

He said his association would do all in its power to aid in ending the indiscriminate polluting of the county streams.

BREWED to a SPLIT SECOND

WHY? Because SCHLITZ will not permit its beer to ferment in your stomach for even a fraction of a second.

It is incomplete fermentation of beer at the brewery that causes indigestion, flatulency and discomfort otherwise.

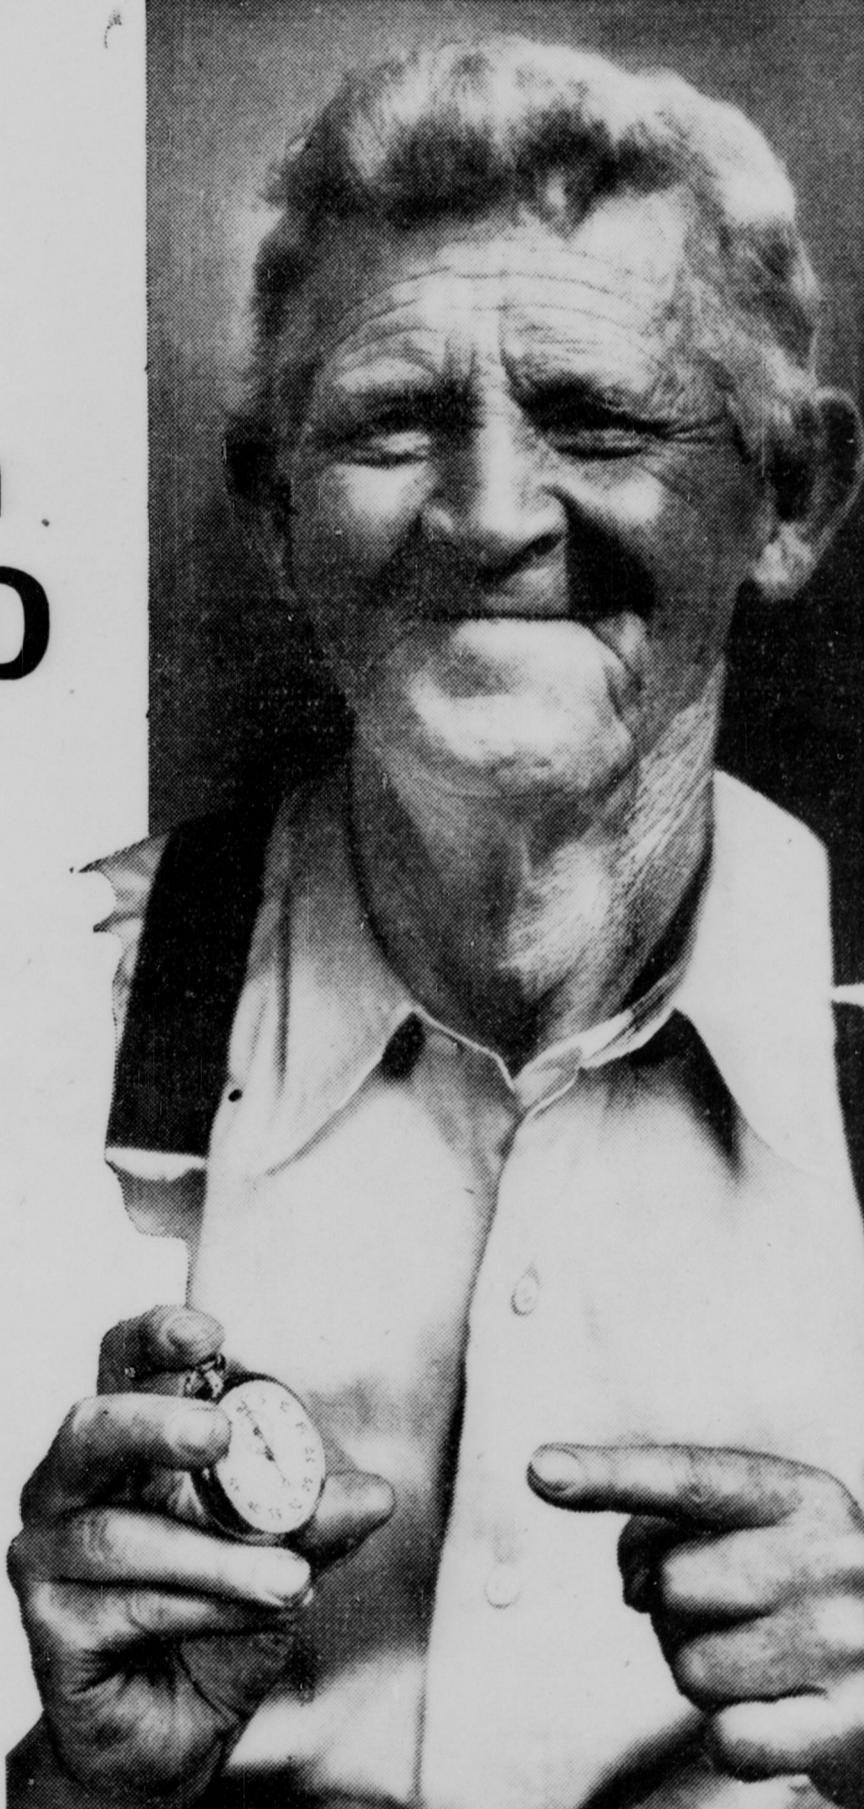

How do we accomplish complete fermentation at the brewery? By a secret control of the enzymatic action in the brewing processes. Enzymatic action in brewing is very similar to the digestive processes in the human stomach.

As a matter of fact, there can be no digestion in the stomach without the aid of enzymes. Without skillfully controlled enzymatic action there can be no good beer.

SCHLITZ has a tradition of 84 years to uphold. It has enjoyed the plaudits of a nation for purity, for quality, for flavor, for wholesomeness, for healthfulness.

But the brewers of SCHLITZ (the direct descendants of the founder) consider the secret control of the enzymes to be the most sensational development in the history of the industry—second only in importance to their introduction and use of SCHLITZ Brown Bottle 22 years ago.

SCHLITZ Beer by reason of perfect enzymatic control comes to you in Brown Bottles as a health giving, predigested food. Drink it freely. It flushes and tones the system. It is exhilarating by day and induces sound, restful sleep at bedtime. It is good and good for you.

Somnes Gives His Views on Hollywood Actors

First Feature to Be Directed by Former Head of Civic Theater Productions Here Will Open Friday at Lyric.

BY WALTER D. HICKMAN

THE first major feature to be directed by George Somnes, for ten years director of the Indianapolis Civic Theater before he resigned to go to Hollywood, will open Friday at the Lyric.

It is called "Midnight Club" and has such well known players as Clive Brook, George Raft, Helen Vinson and Alison Skipworth in the cast.

With such stars as Brook and Raft in the same cast you might expect a lot of temperament and explosive dynamite.

Somnes has sent back word to Indianapolis that this is the bunk.

"The only dynamite I know of in such a combination," says Somnes, is at the box office. Players of star caliber today are interested in contributing their combined talents to one ultimate end. There's very little of the temperamental fighting and squabbling that people seem to think there is.

"Both Brook and Raft command sectionally large followings throughout the world. Despite the fact that to them I am a comparatively new director, they showed the utmost respect for me and for my ideas. No petty bickering existed. They worked together perfectly, and the picture, I believe, shows it."

Besides George Raft, Clive Brook, Helen Vinson and Alison Skipworth, the series of stars in "Midnight Club" are such other distinguished stage and screen veterans as Sir Guy Standing, Alan Mowbray, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Billy Bevan, Charles McNaughton and Paul Soprano.

The story deals with an American detective who travels across the Atlantic to London to help Scotland Yard break up a jewel theft and smuggling ring. Raft portrays the detective, and Brook impersonates the suave arch-criminal who leads the jewel thief.

The Lyric's subsidiary program will include a Morton Downey two-reel musical comedy novelty, a Terrytoon cartoon, a Paramount Pictorial, and a late edition of Paramount News.

Indianapolis theaters today offer "Moonlight and Pretzels" at the Apollo, "Another Language" at the Palace, "I Love That Man" at the Lyric, "Whoopee" at the Circle, "When Ladies Meet" at the Ambassador, and burlesque at the Mutual and Colonial.
